Establishing Predominance of English for Specific Purposes within Adult English Language Teaching Nijolė Burksaitienė, Nadežda Stojković, 2019-01-22 English for Specific Purposes ESP has accumulated substantial tradition in practice research and theory It is a common approach in English Language Teaching ELT among adults today starting with high schools then in academia pre and in service training and life long learning programs The role of ESP in each of these is to facilitate work in today's inevitably international business and scientific environment It provides language training based on the precise simulation of communicative situations found in the surroundings for which learners are preparing including for example domain specific vocabulary syntactic and morphological structures text and speech content structuring stylistics intercultural competence At present when English is present either as a foreign or second language learning General English GE is to a large degree accomplished before learners start needing English for their jobs In this way ESP does not complete GE but builds upon the foundations laid by it in learners prior education ESP is a channel of communication for the contemporary academia and economics However even so these are still early days for ESP as it does not yet have a recognised place within academia Only very recently have we begun to witness the occasional but encouraging emergence of ESP academic courses and departments This book thus explores practice and research conducted and under way in this field of ELT in order to assist its recognition as an autonomous academic discipline

Language of the Skies Sanford F. Borins, 1983-04-01 Through extensive interviews with the key participants Professor Borins reveals the interplay of organizational ideologies and interests and leaders personalities that characterized the conflict He traces its evolution from the early formation of a francophone pressure group through the airline pilots strike in June 1976 in support of the controllers to the agreement between the pilots and controllers unions and the Minister of Transport which the French Canadians saw as a humiliating defeat and to the eventual acknowledgement by the Clark government in August 1979 that bilingual air traffic control was safe Borins discusses the implications of these events for public policy and French English relations and concludes that the federal government's ability in this case to meet francophone demands quite rapidly is cause for optimism about the ability of the federal state to accommodate francophone aspirations
