Language, Culture, and Teaching Sonia Nieto, 2017-09-01 Distinguished multiculturalist Sonia Nieto speaks directly to current and future teachers in this thoughtful integration of a selection of her key writings with creative pedagogical features. Offering information, insights, and motivation to teach students of diverse cultural, racial, and linguistic backgrounds, examples are included throughout to illustrate real-life dilemmas about diversity that teachers face in their own classrooms, ideas about how language, culture, and teaching are linked, and ways to engage with these ideas through reflection and collaborative inquiry. Designed for upper undergraduate and graduate level students and professional development courses, each chapter includes critical questions, classroom activities, and community activities suggesting projects beyond the classroom context. Language, Culture, and Teaching explores how language and culture are connected to teaching and learning in educational settings, examines the sociocultural and sociopolitical contexts of language and culture to understand how these contexts may affect student learning and achievement, analyzes the implications of linguistic and cultural diversity for classroom practices, school reform, and educational equity, encourages practicing and preservice teachers to reflect critically on their classroom practices as well as on larger institutional policies related to linguistic and cultural diversity based on the above understandings, and motivates teachers to understand their ethical and political responsibilities to work together with their students, colleagues, and families for more socially just classrooms, schools, and society. Changes in the Third Edition: This edition includes new and updated chapters, section introductions, critical questions, classroom and community activities, and resources, bringing it up to date in terms of recent educational policy issues and demographic changes in the U.S. and beyond. The new chapters reflect Nieto's current thinking about the profession and society, especially about changes in the teaching profession, both positive and negative, since the publication of the second edition of this text. Language, Culture, and Community in Teacher Education Maria Estela Brisk, 2013-09-13 Published by Routledge for the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. This volume addresses the pressing reality in teacher education that all teachers need to be prepared to work effectively with linguistically and culturally diverse student populations. Every classroom in the country is already or will soon be deeply affected by the changing demographics of America's students. Marilyn Cochran-Smith's Foreword and Donald Macedo's Introductory Essay set the context with respect to teacher education and student demographics, followed by a series of chapters presented in three sections: knowledge, practice, and policy. The literature on language education has typically been discussed in relation to preparing ESL or bilingual teachers. Typically, needs of culturally and linguistically diverse students, including immigrants, refugees, language minority populations, African Americans, and deaf students, have been addressed separately. This volume emphasizes that these children have both common educational needs and needs that are culturally and linguistically specific. It is directed to the preparation of ALL teachers who work with culturally and linguistically diverse students. It not only focuses on how teachers need to change but how faculty and curriculum need to be transformed and how to better train teacher education candidates to understand and work efficaciously with the communities in which culturally and linguistically diverse students tend to be predominant The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education AACTE is a national voluntary association of higher education institutions and related organizations Our mission is to promote the learning of all PK 12 students through high quality evidence based preparation and continuing education for all school personnel For more information on our publications visit our website at www.aacte.org
