Ireland's Vernacular Architecture:

Ireland's Vernacular Architecture Kevin Danaher, 1975 Ireland's vernacular architecture Caoimhín Ó Danachair, 1978 Vernacular Architecture Henry Glassie, 2000 Based on thirty five years of fieldwork Glassie's Vernacular Architecture synthesizes a career of concern with traditional building He articulates the key principles of architectural analysis and then centering his argument in the United States but drawing comparative examples from many locations in Europe and Asia he shows how architecture can be a prime resource for the one who would write a democratic and comprehensive history Rural Houses of the North of Ireland Alan Gailey, 1984 Full Irish Sarah A. Lappin, 2009-09-23 From Georgian cities to modernist masterpieces architecture in Ireland has a long history of excellence The last fifteen years however witnessed more social economic and cultural change than any previous period on the island leaving a dramatic mark on the country's architecture A new commitment to design quality by developers and a series of government sponsored competitions to design new civic buildings enabled Ireland to become for the first time a net importer of architectural talent These architects from disparate cultures and design backgrounds filled Ireland's landscape with modern architectural masterworks from small private homes to large community centers In Full Irish author Sarah A Lappin examines the nature of twenty first century Irish architectural identity as it develops its own progressive contemporary idiom Illustrated with color photographs and drawings Full Irish includes more than seventy projects from Ireland's leading firms as well as its up and coming designers Boyd Cody Alan Jones de Blacam and Meagher Bucholz McEvoy de Paor Architects FKL Architects Dominic Stevens Grafton Architects Henschion Reuter Hackett Hall McKnight Heneghan Peng McCullough Mulvin Hassett Ducatez MacGabhann Architects O'Donnell Tuomey and O'DOS Architects Irish Housing Design 1950 - 1980 Brian Ward, Michael Pike, Gary Boyd, 2019-12-11 This book examines the architectural design of housing projects in Ireland from the mid twentieth century This period represented a high point in the construction of the Welfare State project where the idea that architecture could and should shape and define community and social life was not yet considered problematic Exploring a period when Ireland embraced the free market and the end of economic protectionism the book is a series of case studies supported by critical narratives Little known but of high quality the schemes presented in this volume are by architects whose designs helped determine future architectural thinking in Ireland and elsewhere Aimed at academics students and researchers the book is accompanied by new drawings and over 100 full colour images with the example studies demonstrating rich architectural responses to a shifting landscape Irish Ecclesiastical Architecture Arthur Charles Champneys, 1910 Exploring Ireland's Viking-Age Towns Rebecca Boyd, 2023-10-20 Exploring Ireland's Viking Age Towns discusses the emergence of towns urban lifestyles and urban identities in Ireland This coincides with the arrival of the Vikings and the appearance of the post and wattle Type 1 house These houses reflect this crucial transition to urban living with its attendant changes for individuals households and society Exploring Ireland's Viking Age Towns uses household archaeology as a lens to explore the materiality variability and day to day experiences of living in these houses It moves from the intimate scale of individual households to the larger scale of Ireland's earliest urban communities For the first time this book considers how these houses were more than just buildings they were homes important places where people lived worked and died These new towns were busy places with a multitude of people ideas and things This book uses the mass of archaeological data to undertake comparative analyses of houses and properties artefact distribution patterns and access analysis studies to interrogate some 500 Viking Age urban houses This analysis is structured in three parts an investigation of the houses the households and the town Exploring Ireland's Viking Age Towns discusses how these new urban households managed their homes to create a sense of place and belonging in these new environments and allow themselves to develop a new urban identity This book is suited to advanced students and specialists of the Viking Age in Ireland but archaeologists and historians of the early medieval and Viking worlds will find much of interest here It will also appeal to readers with interests in the archaeology of house and home households identities and urban studies

Geology and Environment In Britain and Ireland Nigel Woodcock, 2017-07-03 A complete introductory text on an increasingly popular subject Geology and Environment in Britain and Ireland aims to provide suitably broad coverage for students requiring a treatment clearly focussed on familiar examples but retaining a global perspective The book summarizes for Earth and environmental scientists the ways in which geology re

Conservation of Clay and Chalk Buildings Gordon T. Pearson, 2015-11-17 This publication provides practical guidance on appropriate methods of conservation and repair of earth buildings using traditional building materials It is the first major work on the subject since Clough Williams Ellis and the Eastwick Fields published Building in Cob Pise and Stabilized Earth in 1947 The book deals with the nature of clay and chalk their qualities and characteristics and the way in which they have been used to construct buildings Advice is given on soils analysis the philosophy of repair techniques and the factors to be considered before altering converting or extending an earth building The author primarily advocates repair techniques using traditional materials but he also considers the role played by certain modern materials and assesses their suitability

Consumption and Culture in Sixteenth-century Ireland Susan Flavin,2014 A detailed study of changing patterns of consumption showing how these related to wider political social and economic developments This book based on extensive original research argues that everyday Irish consumption underwent major changes in the 16th century The book considers the changing nature of imported goods in relation especially to two major activities of daily living dress and diet It integrates quantitative data on imports with qualitative sources including wills archaeological and pictorial evidence and contemporary literature and legislation It shows that changes in Irish consumption mirrored changes occurring in England and across Europe and that they were a function of broader developments in the Irish economy including the increasing participation of Irish merchants in European markets The book also discusses how consumption was related to wider political economic and cultural developments in Ireland showing how the acquisition and interpretation of material goods were key factors in the mediation of political and social boundaries in a semi colonised and contested society Susan Flavin completed her doctorate in early modern history at the University of Bristol

Modern Religious Architecture in Germany, Ireland and Beyond Lisa Godson,Kathleen James-Chakraborty,2019-03-07 Modernity and religion are not mutually exclusive Setting German and Irish church synagogue and mosque architecture side by side over the last century highlights the place for the celebration of the new within faiths whose appeal lies in part in the stability of belief they offer across time Inspired by radically modern German churches of the 1920s and 1930s this volume offers new insights into designers of all three types of sacred buildings working at home and abroad It offers new scholarship on the unknown phenomenon of mid century ecclesiastical architecture in sub Saharan Africa by Irish designers a critical appraisal of the overlooked Frank Lloyd Wright trained Andrew Devane and an analysis of accommodating difficult pasts and challenging futures with contemporary synagogue and mosque architecture in Germany With a focus on influence and processes alongside conservationists and historians it features critical insights by the designers of some of the most celebrated contemporary sacred buildings including Niall McLaughlin who writes on his multiple award winning Bishop Edward King Chapel and Amandus Sattler architect of the innovative Herz Jesu Kirche Munich

A New History of Ireland Theodore William Moody, Francis X. Martin, Francis John Byrne, 1976 A New History of Ireland in nine volumes provides a comprehensive new synthesis of modern scholarship on every aspect of Irish history and prehistory from the earliest geological and archaeological evidence through the middleages down to the present day Back cover

Ireland's Heritages Mark McCarthy, 2017-09-29 This book is the first sustained attempt to incorporate critical scholarship and thought at the cutting edge of contemporary geography history and archaeology into the burgeoning field of Irish heritage studies It seeks to illustrate the validity of multiple depictions of the Irish past showing how scrutiny of heritage practices and meanings is so essential for illuminating our understanding of the present Examining Ireland's heritages from a critical perspective that celebrates notions of heterogeneity and uniqueness the distinguished contributors to this book scrutinise the multiplicity of complex relations between heritage history memory commemoration economy and cultural identity within various historical geographical and archaeological contexts Using several examples and case studies this book raises issues not only from a uniquely Irish perspective but also investigates the memorialisation and marketing of the Irish past in overseas locations such as the USA and Australia
