A detailed photograph of a copper pan filled with a variety of fresh vegetables. The pan contains several whole and sliced onions, including a prominent red onion. There are also whole and sliced carrots, a large fennel bulb, and several small yellow potatoes. The vegetables are garnished with fresh green herbs, possibly rosemary and thyme. The lighting is warm, highlighting the textures and colors of the ingredients.

Irish Cooking Over 100 Classic Irish Recipes:

Irish Cooking Clare Connery, Christopher Hill, 2001 This work combines traditions from the past with modern influences from all over the world which are shaping the style of the cooking evolving in Ireland today Irish Cooking Clare Connery, 2004-01-01

30 Years at Ballymaloe: A celebration of the world-renowned cookery school with over 100 new recipes Darina Allen, 2018-07-16 When Ballymaloe's doors opened to students in 1983 there were 15 courses available. Now there are over 100 reflected in the recipes collected here including curing meat, making gluten-free meals and sushi, as well as learning forgotten skills like producing butter and cheese and beekeeping. The book chronicles how the school has been at the forefront of cooking and food trends since its inception from Darina's championing of the Slow Food movement and her highlighting the importance of using local seasonal and fresh produce to installing a wood-burning oven and expanding its gardens so students can learn the importance of eating less meat and more veg and preserving heirloom varieties of produce. A fascinating insight into Ballymaloe, this is also a history of food over the past thirty years from a time when Darina couldn't get anything other than pre-packaged grated Parmesan cheese to one where a local producer makes his own mozzarella.

The Cambridge Social History of Modern Ireland Eugenio F. Biagini, Mary E. Daly, 2017-04-27 Covering three centuries of unprecedented demographic and economic changes, this textbook is an authoritative and comprehensive view of the shaping of Irish society at home and abroad from the famine of 1740 to the present day. The first major work on the history of modern Ireland to adopt a social history perspective, it focuses on the experiences and agency of Irish men, women and children, Catholics and Protestants, and in the North, South and the diaspora. An international team of leading scholars survey key changes in population, the economy, occupations, property ownership, class and migration, and also consider the interaction of the individual and the state through welfare, education, crime and policing. Drawing on a wide range of disciplinary approaches and consistently setting Irish developments in a wider European and global context, this is an invaluable resource for courses on modern Irish history and Irish studies.
