Bangor Public Library (Bangor, Me.),1907 Anglo-Irish Literature A. Norman Jeffares,1982-09-02 The works of many Anglo Irish writers are familiar to us English literature has often been dominated by Irish writers who wrote in English In this highly entertaining and informative book Professor Jeffares surveys the whole range of one of the richest literary traditions from its beginnings in the Middle Ages to the modern period The earlier writing is discussed chronologically but the great wealth of writing in the last century is discussed in genres poetry fiction and drama The writers are set in their social and political context Not only are the works of major writers from Swift to Beckett surveyed but the work of minor and neglected writers such as Charled Maturin Lady Morgan and Emily Lawless is brought to the fore This is a book to help students to a great understanding of the subject To this end a chronological table bibliographies and photographs have been included It is also a book for all those who have enjoyed reading the poems of Yeats the plays of Shaw or the novels of Joyce War and Politics in Ireland, 1649-173 J. G. Simms,1986-01-01 Nowhere is the mid 20th century historiographical revolution in Irish history better represented than in the writings of J G Simms one of the most prolific historians of this generation In a stream of books and papers from the early 1950s to his death in 1979 Simms tackled some of the most vexed and vexing questions in all Irish history the wars confiscations persecutions and politics of the later 17th century Topics such as Cromwell s sieges the Glorious Revolution and its aftermath the later passage of the infamous penal laws against Catholics are all episodes close to the heart of modern myth makers and yet all are described by Simms with fairness and exemplary clarity This is a collection of his key essays all of which remain a valuable resource for scholars of war and politics in early modern Ireland
