Lilah Grace Canevaro

Iron Age Summer:

Hesiod's Works and Days Lilah Grace Canevaro, 2015-04-16 Greek poet Hesiod's canonical archaic text the Works and Days was performed in its entirety but was also relentlessly excerpted quoted and reapplied In this volume Lilah Grace Canevaro situates the poem within these two modes of reading and argues that the text itself through Hesiod's complex mechanism of rendering elements detachable while tethering them to their context for the purposes of the poem sustains both treatments One of the poem's difficulties is that Hesiod gives remarkably little advice on how to negotiate these different modes of reading Canevaro considers the didactic methods employed by Hesiod from two perspectives in terms of the gaps he leaves and of how he challenges his audience to fill them She argues that Hesiod's reticence is linked to the high value he places on self-sufficiency which creates a productive tension with the didactic thrust of the poem as teaching always involves a relationship of exchange and at least up to a point reliance and trust Hesiod negotiates this potential contradiction by advocating not blind adherence to his teachings but thinking for oneself and working for one's lesson Exploring key issues such as gender and genre and persona and performance this volume places this important poem within a wider context revealing how it draws on and contributes to a tradition of usefulness

Imagine a history of the United States written from the perspective of the African American community Imagine that the story of this community is told not only from the viewpoint of its leaders the middle class elites but also from the viewpoint of sharecroppers industrial workers and others living on the margins of American culture And finally imagine that this is not only about political and economic relations but also about race class gender and religious relations about the lived experiences of one community that both reflect and represent fundamental issues of power and resistance in an entire society This is what Les Switzer has tried to do with his book Power and Resistance in an African Society Scholars who have read it suggest that this is the first attempt to write a history of South Africa from the perspective of one subordinate community in South Africa The reult is a transformed history from below The names dates events and issues of conventional textbook history lose their meaning in the process of reconstructing a history that seeks to free the African from the domain of South Africa s ruling culture The book also offers a unique contribution to African studies in sub Saharan Africa because it explores the material and symbolic manifestations of power and resistance in a pre colonial colonial and post colonial setting The Ciskei region in the eastern Cape was selected as the case study This was the historic zone of conflict between European and Bantu speaking African in southern Africa the Cape Xhosa wars in this region lasting a century The contemporary African nationalist movement in South Africa first emerged in a variety of organizational forms in the Ciskei during the 1870s and 1880s The strategy of petitionary protest probably persisted longer here than anywhere else in South Africa in the post colonial period but popular resistance found a variety of windows outside organized African politics The Ciskei for example was a focal point of rural resistance in the 1920s and early 1930s and again between the early 1940s and early 1960s The gap between rural and urban dissidents in South Africa moreover was first bridged in the Ciskei and its environs during the 1952 Defiance Campaign Finally the Ciskei s segregated African reserve where economic conditions were judged to be most serious emerged as a primary site of struggle on South Africa s periphery during the 1970s and 1980s The focus of this study is on the Xhosa speaking peoples who lived in the Ciskei region in the first century after conquest To highlight the linkages between regional and national issues the Xhosa in the Ciskei are examined in the context of unfolding events in the Cape Colony and in the unified settler state of South Africa after 1910 A distinct plurality of voices would be formed in the complex interplay between color consciousness and class as this community sought space for itself within the domain of South Africa s ruling culture

Verulamium I M Stead,V Rigby,2014-06-15 The King Harry Lane site immediately outside the walls of Verulamium was extensively excavated between 1965 and 1968 prior to large scale housing development The Roman road to Silchester was located with adjacent settlement that started about AD 70 as occupation from the Roman town spread along a major route but ceased abruptly in the middle of the third century AD apparently when the town walls were built The extensive Iron Age cemetery which was discovered by chance during excavation of the settlement contained 472 burials all cremations apart from 17 inhumations and can be assigned to the period AD 1 60 Seven rectilinear ditched enclosures were identified each with a prominent and rich central burial surrounded by less imposing graves None of the burials was particularly exotic in terms of quality and type of grave goods locally produced pottery predominated but fine tableware from Roman Gaul occurred in about a quarter of the burials Metalwork was dominated by the 237 brooches but knives mirrors and toilet instruments also occurred No weapons were found The burial record contained with three third and fourth century Roman cemeteries which were not investigated in detail But a new chapter in the history of Verulamium St Albans was represented by an Anglo Saxon cemetery which was probably used from the middle decades of the seventh century into the eighth century This cemetery with its 29 burials 22 of them with grave goods was fully excavated The Iron Age ,1903
