Lifelines And Risks:

Lifelines and Risks Robert B. Cairns, Beverley D. Cairns, 1994 Robert and Beverley Cairns follow the pathways of 695 young people growing up in the 1980s and 1990s the events and feelings they experience Managing Critical Infrastructure Risks Igor Linkov, Richard J. Wenning, Gregory A. Kiker, 2007-09-17 This book offers a state of the science approach to current environmental security threats and infrastructure vulnerabilities It emphasizes beliefs that the convergence of seemingly disparate viewpoints and often uncertain and limited information is possible only by using one or more available risk assessment methodologies and decision making tools such as risk assessment and multi criteria decision analysis MCDA Risk Assessment and Risk-Driven Quality Assurance Jürgen Großmann, Michael Felderer, Fredrik Seehusen, 2017-04-21 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed conference proceedings of the Fourth International Workshop on Risk Assessment and Risk Driven Quality Assurance RISK 2016 held in conjunction with ICTSS 2016 in Graz Austria in October 2016 The revised 9 full papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 11 submissions They focus on research studying developing and evaluating innovative techniques tools languages and methods risk assessment and risk driven quality engineering The papers are organized topical sections security risk management security risk analysis risk based testing GIS for Emergency Preparedness and Health Risk Reduction David J. Briggs, Pip Forer, Lars Järup, Richard Stern, 2012-12-06 Geographical Information Systems GIS have developed rapidly in recent years and now provide powerful tools for the capture manipulation integration interrogation modelling analysis and visualisation of data tools that are already used for policy support in a wide range of areas at almost all geographic and administrative levels This holds especially for emergency preparedness and health risk reduction which are all essentially spatial problems To date however many initiatives have remained disconnected and uncoordinated leading to less powerful less compatible and less widely implemented systems than might otherwise have been the case The important matters discussed here include the probabilistic nature of most environmental hazards and the semi random factors that influence interactions between these and human exposures the effects of temporal and spatial scales on hazard assessment and imputed risk the effects of measurement error in risk estimation and the stratification of risks and their impacts according to socioeconomic characteristics and the quantification of socioeconomic differences in vulnerability and susceptibility to environmental hazards Assessing and Managing Earthquake Risk Carlos Sousa Oliveira, Antoni Roca, Xavier Goula, 2007-12-04 Table 1 1 reports the world s largest earthquakes since 1900 with respect to number of deaths larger than or equal to 10 000 also showing the region of occurrence and the corresponding magnitudes Both from Figure 1 2 and Table 1 1 it is interesting to note that this period of time is characterized by an annual average of 15 000 deaths with two main fluctuations modal values the largest in the period 1900 to 1940 and another with a larger value in the decade of 1970 80 Figure 1 2 shows the number of total deaths from the greatest earthquakes that occurred in the XX century Although the number of victims has a tendency to decrease with time the economic losses are increasing significantly see Chapter 18 of this book Table 1 1 World earthquakes since 1900 with number of deaths greater than 10 000

Risk Assessment, Modeling and Decision Support Ann Bostrom, Steven P. French, Sara J. Gottlieb, 2008-02-10 The papers in this volume integrate results from current research efforts in earthquake engineering with research from the larger risk assessment community The authors include risk and hazard researchers from the major U S hazard and earthquake centers The volume lays out a road map for future developments in risk modeling and decision support and positions earthquake engineering research within the family of risk analysis tools and techniques

Geographic Information and Cartography for Risk and Crisis Management Milan Konecny, Sisi Zlatanova, Temenoujka L. Bandrova, 2010-03-15 Cartography and geographic information GI are remarkably appropriate for the requirements of early warning EW and crisis management CM The use of geospatial technology has increased tremendously in the last years ICT has changed from just using maps created in advance to new approaches allowing individuals decision makers to use cartography interactively on the basis of individual user s requirements The new generation of cartographic visualizations based on standardisation formal modelling use of sensors semantics and ontology allows for the better adaptation of information to the needs of the users In order to design a new framework in pre disaster and disaster management safety security privacy aspects of institutions and citizens need to be considered All this can only be achieved by demonstrating new research achievements sharing best practices e g in the health area and working towards the wider acceptance of geospatial technology in society with the help of education and media This book will outline research frontiers and applications of cartography and GI in EW and CM and document their roles and potentials in wider processes going on in information knowledge based societies
