Evenings At Five:

Evenings at Five Gail Godwin, 2003-04-01 Every evening at five o'clock Christina and Rudy stopped work and began the ritual commonly known as Happy Hour Rudy mixed Christina's drink with loving precision the cavalier slosh of Bombay Sapphire over ice shards before settling across from her in his Stickley chair with his glass of Scotch They shared a love of language and music she is an author he a composer after all a delight in intense conversation a fascination with popes and nearly thirty years of life together What did I think that we had forever muses Christina seven months after Rudy's unexpected death While coming to terms with her loss with the space that Rudy once inhabited Christina reflects on their vibrant bond with all its quirks habits and unguarded moments as well as her passionate sorrow and her attempts to reposition herself and her new place in the very real world they shared In this literary jewel a bittersweet novella of absence and presence and the mysterious gap between them Gail Godwin has performed a small miracle In essence Evenings at Five is a grief sonata for solo instrument transposed into words Interwoven with meditations and movements full of aching truths and a wicked sense of humor it exquisitely captures the cyclical nature of commitment and the eternal quality of a romance completed

Fishery Bulletin, 1971 Plays Marian D. Campbell, 1899 High Ground Elisabeth Nelson, 2010-09 In 1860 Captain Garrett Fitzwilliam is living in the center of American politics viewing the divisive issues of the day through his nonpartisan lawyer eyes His life is defined by love of country and faith in the rule of law until Rachael Hayes Kendrick enters his world This sassy young widow captures more than the cocky captain's imagination She proves to him that love is indeed an act of faith and Rachael's faith in Garrett is indomitable Her faith will sustain him when war divides the North and the South his misguided sense of duty may cost him her love But for what exactly did he pay so high a price In the wake of war everything Garrett believes in the core of his existence is collapsing The Union army suffers repeated defeats not owing entirely to the brilliance of Robert E Lee's command of the Confederate army and in Washington a very different enemy has emerged This insidious enemy poses a threat to the United States that Garrett never thought possible But this enemy no officer may dare to challenge So how will Garrett Fitzwilliam defend his country when his country's survival depends upon an army sabotaged by its own incompetence Or was his country lost when the man who swore an oath to preserve protect and defend the Constitution imprisoned his political foes Would the answers matter so much to Garrett if Rachael loved him again workers and their identities as mothers by valuing their relation to work while simultaneously preserving cultural norms about what it means to be a good mother Some of these women work non day shifts in order to have the right blocks of time at home including for example a registered nurse who explains how working the night shift enables her to see her children off to school greet them when they return and attend school events in the way she feels good mothers should even if she finds little time for sleep Moving beyond studies of women work and family in terms of structural incompatibilities Garey challenges images of the exclusively work oriented or exclusively family oriented mother As women talk about their lives Garey focuses on the meanings of motherhood and of work that underlie their strategies for integrating employment and motherhood She replaces notions of how women balance work and family with a better understanding of how women integrate negotiate and weave together their identities as both workers and mothers Breaking new ground in the study of work and family Weaving Work and Motherhood offers new insights for those interested in sociology gender and women s studies social policy child care social welfare and health care Fountain House Alan Doyle,Julius Lanoil,Kenneth Dudek,2013-11-12 Often people with mental illness feel alone in society with no place to go and little hope Their isolation can be further perpetuated through typical approaches to treatment such as case management and psychotherapy Since 1948 the Fountain House working community has worked to address the isolation and social stigmatization faced by people with mental illness This volume describes in detail its evidence based cost effective and replicable model which produces substantive outcomes in employment schooling housing and general wellness Through an emphasis on personal choice professional and patient collaboration and most important the need to be needed Fountain House demonstrates that people with serious mental illness can not only live but also contribute and thrive in society The authors also explore the evolution of Fountain House practice which is grounded in social work and psychiatry and informs current strength based and recovery methodologies Its inherent humanity social inclusivity message of personal empowerment and innovation a unique approach on behalf of people suffering from mental illness have led to the paradigm s worldwide adoption Diary, 1796-1854:
