The Antebellum Period James M. Volo, Dorothy Volo, 2004-06-30 The Antebellum Era was a complex time in American culture. Young ladies had suitors call upon them while men often settled quarrels by dueling and mill girls worked 16 hour days to help their families make ends meet. Yet at the same time a new America was emerging. The rapid growth of cities inspired Frederick Law Olmstead to lead the movement for public parks. Stephen Foster helped forge a catalog of American popular music writers such as Washington Irving and Ralph Waldo Emerson raised the level of American literature. Artists such as Thomas Cole and Thomas Doughty defined a new style of painting called the Hudson River School. All the while schisms between northern and southern culture threatened to divide the nation. This volume in Greenwood's American Popular Culture Through History recounts the ways in which things old and new intersected in the decades before the Civil War. James and Dorothy Volo are one of the more prolific author teams in reference publishing today and with this volume they make important contributions to Greenwood's successful series on America's other history.

The New Suburbia Becky M. Nicolaides, 2024 The New Suburbia explores how the suburbs transformed from bastions of the white middle class in the postwar years into diverse communities after 1970. It focuses on Los Angeles at the vanguard of these trends.

Food Television and Otherness in the Age of Globalization Casey Ryan Kelly, 2017-02-09 Food Television and Otherness in the Age of Globalization examines the growing popularity of food and travel television and its implications for how we understand the relationship between food, place, and identity. Attending to programs such as Bizarre Foods, Bizarre Foods America, The Pioneer Woman, Diners Drive-Ins and Dives, Man vs. Food, and No Reservations, Casey Ryan Kelly critically examines the emerging rhetoric of culinary television, attending to how American audiences are invited to understand the cultural and economic significance of global foodways. This book shows how food television exoticizes foreign cultures, erases global poverty, and contributes to myths of American exceptionalism. It takes television seriously as a site for the reproduction of cultural and economic mythology where representations of food and consumption become the commonsense of cultural difference and economic success Us against Them Randy Bobbitt, 2010-05-25 Us against Them The Political Culture of Talk Radio examines the phenomenon of talk radio and the role that it plays in the American political process as well as popular culture Among the central questions addressed is a basic one regarding why people choose to listen to political talk instead of music Do they listen to get objective information on both sides of political issues to help them make their own voting decisions or do they seek out the hosts and content that simply validates their own beliefs After a consideration of the history of talk radio as well as where the industry stands today in terms of audience demographics and advertiser support Randy Bobbitt takes a theoretical look at how talk radio may or may have not impacted political issues and campaigns from the 1950s through the 2006 mid term election as well as the real impact of talk radio on the 2008 presidential campaign Finally Bobbitt considers the future of political talk radio in light of the newest threat to the First Amendment the possible return of the Fairness Doctrine a twentieth century law that once required broadcasters to provide politically balanced programming Weak Nationalisms

Douglas Dowland, 2019-07-01 The question What is America has taken on new urgency Weak Nationalisms explores the emotional dynamics behind that question by examining how a range of authors have attempted to answer it through nonfiction since the Second World War revealing the complex and dynamic ways in which affects shape the literary construction of everyday experience in the United States Douglas Dowland studies these attempts to define the nation in an eclectic selection of texts from writers such as Simone de Beauvoir John Steinbeck Charles Kuralt Jane Smiley and Sarah Vowell Each of these texts makes use of synecdoche and Weak Nationalisms shows how this rhetorical technique is variously driven by affects including curiosity discontent hopefulness and incredulity In exploring the function of synecdoche in the creative construction of the United States Dowland draws attention to the evocative politics and literary richness of nationalism and connects critical literary practices to broader discussions involving affect theory and cultural representation
