Life Review The Process Of Knowing Yourself:

Life Review In Health and Social Care Jeff Garland, Christina Garland, 2005-11-08 How can understanding our past help us face the future The key to gaining awareness of the present and preparing for the future lies in our understanding of the past yet there is little coverage of this topic in the existing psychology and counselling literature How can people improve themselves by greater self knowledge Jeff and Christina Garland break new ground in making a straightforward presentation of the theory and practice of the everyday process of life review which is a therapeutic approach for helping clients make sense of their past and can be used to help change undesirable behaviour and plan for the future The theory and structure of the life review process are examined and clinical examples of how it works in practice are given this includes interviews both with narrators people engaged in life review and listeners health and social care professionals These examples demonstrate how professionals can use life review to help their clients overcome difficulties in their lives and face the future with confidence Life Review will appeal to trainees and practitioners in occupational developmental clinical and health psychology social work counselling psychotherapy and nursing
