The Complete Short Stories David H. Lawrence, 1966 A D.H. Lawrence Handbook Keith Sagar, 1982 Includes information on author and playwright D H Lawrence such as a chronology of his life a chronology of his writings a checklist of his reading calendar and maps of his travel bibliography filmography and discography Chicorel Index to Short Stories in Anthologies and Collections, 1975 D. H. Lawrence Simonetta de Filippis, 2016-08-17 In recent decades critical and theoretical debate in the field of culture and literature has called into question many literary categories has re discussed the literary canon and has totally renovated critical approaches in the wake of major changes in western society such as the irruption of new cultural identities the disruption of the well established Euro centric conception and the need to establish new world visions D H Lawrence has been a focus for critical debate since his early publications in the first decades of the 20th century The force of his thought his courageous challenge against the most important values of western industrial society his rejection of England and its bourgeois values his choice to live in exile his never ending quest for lost vital meanings his open mindedness in coming into contact with different worlds and cultures and the revolutionary impact of his writing have all provided critics with important issues for discussion Most of Lawrence s works are still being read and analysed through ever new critical lenses and approaches This volume brings together a selection of papers delivered at the 13th International D H Lawrence Conference D H Lawrence New Life New Utterance New Perspectives held in Gargnano in 2014 on Lake Garda the place of Lawrence s first Italian sojourn where he started a new life with Frieda and a new phase as a writer The essays selected for Part I of this volume offer new readings of Lawrence s work and ideology through various theoretical and philosophical approaches drawing comparisons with philosophers and thinkers such as Bataille Darwin Derrida Heidegger and Benjamin among others Part II focuses on translation a concept which can be extended to cultural mediation as it can be applied not only to the proper translation of texts from one language into another but also to travel writing and to transcodification as is the case of film versions of Lawrence s novels Here and Now Youngjoo Son, 2013-10-15 Working at the crossroads of contemporary geographical and cultural theory the book explores how social spaces function as sites which foreground D H Lawrence and Virginia Woolf s critiques of the social order and longings for change Looking at various social spaces from homes to nations to utopian space brought into the here and now the book shows the ways in which these writers criticize and deconstruct the contemporary symbolic physical and discursive spatial topoi of the dominant socio spatial order and envision a more liberating and inclusive human geography In addition the book calls for the need to redress the tendency of some spatial theories to underestimate the political potential of literary discourse about space instead of simply and mechanically appropriating some theoretical concepts to literary criticism One of the central findings in the book therefore is that literary texts can perform subversive interventions in the production of social space through their critical interaction with dominant spatial codes His Other Half Wendy Lesser, 1992 Wendy

Lesser counters the reigning belief that male artists inevitably misrepresent women She builds this case through inquiry into many unexpected and germane subjects Marilyn Monroe s walk for instance or the dwarf manicurist Miss Mowcher in David Copperfield or the shoulder blades of Degas bathers Placing such particulars within the framework of Plato s myth of the divided beings and psychoanalytic concepts of narcissism Lesser sets out before the reader an art that responds to and even attempts to overcome division

The Problem with Pleasure Laura Frost,2013-07-09 Aldous Huxley decried the horrors of modern pleasure or the proliferation of mass produced widely accessible entertainment that could degrade or dull the mind He and his contemporaries including James Joyce T S Eliot Gertrude Stein D H Lawrence and Jean Rhys sought to radically redefine pleasure constructing arduous and indirect paths to delight through their notoriously daunting work Laura Frost follows these experiments in the art of unpleasure connecting modernism s signature characteristics such as irony allusiveness and obscurity to an ambitious attempt to reconfigure bliss In The Problem with Pleasure Frost draws upon a wide variety of materials linking interwar amusements such as the talkies romance novels the Parisian fragrance Chanel no 5 and the exotic confection Turkish Delight to the artistic play of Joyce Lawrence Stein Rhys and others She considers pop cultural phenomena and the rise of celebrities such as Rudolph Valentino and Gypsy Rose Lee against contemporary sociological scientific and philosophical writings on leisure and desire Throughout her study Frost incorporates recent scholarship on material and visual culture and vernacular modernism recasting the period's high low elite popular divides and formal strategies as efforts to regulate sensual and cerebral experience Capturing the challenging tensions between these artists' commitment to innovation and the stimulating amusements they denounced yet deployed in their writing Frost calls attention to the central role of pleasure in shaping interwar culture

Victorian Women and the Economies of Travel, Translation and Culture, 1830-1870 Judith Johnston, 2016-02-24 Both travel and translation involve a type of journey one with literal and metaphorical dimensions Judith Johnston brings together these two richly resonant modes of getting from here to there as she explores their impact on culture with respect to the work of Victorian women Using the metaphor of the published journey whether it involves actual travel or translation Johnston focusses particularly on the relationships of various British women with continental Europe At the same time she sheds light on the possibility of appropriation and British imperial enhancement that such contact produces Johnston's book is in part devoted to case studies of women such as Sarah Austin Mary Busk Anna Jameson Charlotte Guest Jane Sinnett and Mary Howitt who are representative of women travellers translators and journalists during a period when women became increasingly robust participants in the publishing industry Whether they wrote about their own travels or translated the foreign language texts of other writers Johnston shows women were establishing themselves as actors in the broad business of culture In widening our understanding of the ways in which gender and modernity functioned in the early decades of the Victorian age Johnston's book makes a strong case for a greater appreciation of the contributions nineteenth century women made to what is termed the knowledge empire

Roald Dahl Matthew Dennison, 2023-01-03 A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice From one of our finest literary biographers comes a brilliant biography of Roald Dahl the much loved author and creator of countless iconic literary characters Roald Dahl was one of the world's greatest storytellers He conceived his vocation as that of any fearless explorer and in his writing for children he was able to tap into a child's viewpoint throughout his life He crafted tales that were exotic in scenario frequently invested with a moral and filled with vibrant characters that endure in public imagination to the present day In this brand new biography Matthew Dennison re-evaluates the traditional narrative surrounding Dahl that of school sporting hero daredevil pilot and wartime spy turned author and examines surviving primary resources as well as Dahl's extensive literary output to tell the story of a man who identified as a rule breaker an iconoclast and a romantic both insider and outsider war hero and child's friend

The Fictions of Language and the Languages of Fiction Monika Fludernik, 2003-12-16 Monika Fludernik presents a detailed analysis of free indirect discourse as it relates to narrative theory and the crucial problematic of how speech and thought are represented in fiction Building on the insights of Ann Banfield's Unspeakable Sentences Fludernik radically extends Banfield's model to accommodate evidence from conversational narrative non fictional prose and literary works from Chaucer to the present Fludernik's model subsumes earlier insights into the forms and functions of quotation and aligns them with discourse strategies observable in the oral language Drawing on a vast range of literature she provides an invaluable resource for researchers in the field and introduces English readers to extensive work on the subject in German as well as comparing the free indirect discourse features of German French and English This study effectively repositions the whole area between literature and linguistics opening up a new set of questions in narrative theory

CONTEXTUALISING THE 'FEMALE IMAGINATION': A STUDY OF SHASHI DESHPANDE'S SHORT FICTION GEETA JANET DKHAR, The Island in Imagination and Experience Barry Smith, 2017-06-15 From Treasure Island to Robben Island from the paradise of Thomas More's Utopia to Napoleon's purgatory on Elba islands have proved irresistible to mankind's imagination since time immemorial. Self-confessed island maniac Barry Smith explores how islands bewitch us so and examines the kind of human experiences that islands inspire. Journeying all around the globe to take in the most fascinating stories of Earth's half a million islands, this book considers the unique geography, politics and economics of islands and their cultures. It traces their singular place in literature, religion and philosophy and disentangles the myths and the facts to reveal just why islands exert such an insistent grip on the human psyche.

The Cult of the Ego Eugene Goodheart, 2018-10-08

Goethe once remarked that every emancipation of the spirit is pernicious unless there is a corresponding growth of control. This remark may be taken as a motto for Eugene Goodheart's study of an aspect of the cultural history of the past two hundred years. In separate chapters on Rousseau, Stendhal, Goethe and Carlyle, Dostoevsky, Whitman, Lawrence and Joyce, Goodheart discovers a community of concern which he calls the cult of the ego. All these writers examined here in one way or another deal with the emancipation of the spirit with all its promise and danger. The characteristic attempt is to extend the boundaries of the self by going beyond the area of safety and thereby risking even the destruction of the self. They advance the claims of the self at the same time seeking the controls that will secure these claims. The artist-hero becomes the central figure in Goodheart's volume since it is he who comes to exemplify the possibilities of the cult of the ego. Their efforts, Goodheart argues, have ambiguous results. The seeds of contemporary nihilism are in the failures of these writers to master the chaos of egoism which they helped engender. But their heroism was partly in the effort of resistance: moral, religious, aesthetic. In a large portion of modern literature, resistance has been abandoned either out of exhaustion or out of fascination with the destructive tendency of modern life. In Beckett's phrase, a world endlessly collapsing. In his introduction to this first paperback edition, Goodheart discusses the book's origin in relation to the counter-cultural unrest of 1968 when it was first published and weighs its theme of the emancipated self against current postmodern assertions of the death of the author. The Cult of the Ego is written with admirable clarity and economy. Its interests are literary, moral and political. Moving freely and knowledgeably among various national literatures, Goodheart has made an original and valuable contribution to the field of comparative literature. Eugene Goodheart is Edythe Macy Gross Professor of Humanities Emeritus at Brandeis University. Among his books are Novel Practices, Classic Modern Fiction, Modernism and the Critical Spirit, Culture and the Radical Conscience and Confessions of a Secular Jew. A Memoir, all available from Transaction.
