Ethics and Politics of Translating Henri Meschonnic, 2011-07-12 What if meaning were the last thing that mattered in language In this essay Henri Meschonnic explains what it means to translate the sense of language and how to do it In a radical stand against a hermeneutical approach based on the dualistic view of the linguistic sign and against its separation into a meaningful signified and a meaningless signifier Henri Meschonnic argues for a poetics of translating Because texts generate meaning through their power of expression to translate ethically involves listening to the various rhythms that characterize them prosodic consonantal or vocalic patterns syntactical structures sentence length and punctuation among other discursive means However as the book illustrates such an endeavour goes against the grain and more precisely against a 2500 year old tradition in the case of biblical translation The inability of translators to give ear to rhythm in language results from a culturally transmitted deafness Henri Meschonnic decries the generalized unwillingness to remedy this cultural condition and discusses the political implications for the subject of discourse

I Think Therefore I Orgasm Sylvain Bosselet, 2023-08-22 In their search for truth and happiness the classical philosophers overlooked one of the most important facets of our lives sexuality The author rectifies this error by questioning this field of knowledge and practice What is good coitus What is a nice ass What is a legal sexual act What is universally true in sexuality Who is perverse Does sex represent a momentary pleasure or could it embody a foundation for happiness Using concrete examples Sylvain Bosselet deconstructs the preconceptions that hinder our freedom and hinder sexual happiness He seeks to lay the foundations for a philosophy of sex Sylvain Bosselet has a degree in philosophy and a doctorate in psychology He has directed a seminar on the Freudian critique of philosophy at the Coll ge internationale de philosophie

Islamic Mysticism Contested I.J.F. de Jong, Bernd Radtke, 2021-09-20 Islamic mysticism was contested from the formative period of Islam till the present Criticism of and opposition to mystical conceptions of Islam and their adherents constitute an integral part of an ongoing debate inside the Islamic tradition. Controversies and polemics concerning Islamic mysticism often shaped and coincided with socio-political configurations. This volume results from a collective effort by a group of Islamicists and area specialists with a variety of disciplinary orientations to arrive at a comprehensive view of these controversies and polemics wherever and whenever found. The thirty-five contributions and the introduction are united in their historicising approach while taking into account the wider socio-political context. Detailed indexes facilitate consultation of the work and give it an added value as work of reference and research tool.

Religiosity on University Campuses in Africa Abdoulaye Sounaye, Frédéric Madore, 2023-08-29. This volume examines religiosity on university campuses in Sub-Saharan Africa. Focusing on both individuals and organized groups, the contributions open a window onto how religion becomes a factor that affects social interactions, is experienced and mobilized by various actors. It brings together case studies from various disciplinary backgrounds: anthropology, sociology, history, religious studies, literature, and theoretical orientations to illustrate the significance of religiosity in recent developments on university campuses. It pays a particular attention to religion-informed activism and contributes a fresh analysis of processes that are shaping both the experience of being student and the university campus as a moral space. Last but not least, it sheds light onto the ways in which the campus becomes a site of a reformulation of both religiosity and sociality.

Traditions in Contact and Change Peter Slater, Donald Wiebe, 2006-01-01. Traditions in Contact and Change was the theme of the fourteenth quinquennial congress of the International Association for the History of Religions. This selection from 450 papers by scholars from all over the world address the theme. Section One: Indian Traditions and Western Interactions treats subjects ranging from the flood story in Vedic ritual to a study of the women of the Nehru family. Section Two: Buddhist, Chinese, and Japanese Studies includes discussions of the origin of the Mahayana, William James and Japanese Buddhism, and lyrical imagery and religious content in Japanese art. Section Three: Mediterranean Cultures covers a broad range of topics from foster children in early Christianity to the transformation of Christianity into Roman religion, to the change in the status of women in Iceland from pagan to Christian times. Section Four: Islamic, African, and Amerindian Developments examines such subjects as religions in conflict and change in the works of African novelists, tradition and change in Indian Islam, and religious acculturation among Oglala Lakota. Section Five offers Methodological and Theoretical Discussions of women's studies, Western perceptions of Asia, structure in Jung and Lévi-Strauss, among others. The essays provide ready access to the leading edge of scholarship across a wide range of religions and cultures and should be of interest to students of religion, anthropology, sociology, psychology, and philosophy.
