Le Maghreb Jean Bisson,1985 Le Maghreb Jean Bisson,Jean-François Troin,1985 Modern Geography Gary S.

Dunbar,2016-02-05 This book charts the developments in the discipline of geography from the 1950s to the 1980s examining how geography now connects with urban regional and national planning and impacts on areas such as medicine transport agricultural development and electoral reform The book also discusses how technical and theoretical advancements have generated a renewed sense of philosophic reflection a concern closely linked with the critical examination and development of social theory The North African Environment At Risk Will D Swearingen,Abdellatif Bencherifa,2019-07-11

Deforestation soil erosion desertification air and water pollution loss of wildlife habitat and declining biodiversity are interrelated manifestations of a growing environmental crisis in North Africa that has received relatively little attention from government policymakers and is poorly understood by North African peoples the international development community and scholars In this book a multidisciplinary group of scholars explores the broad range of human activities causing the deterioration of North Africa s fragile environment including population pressure and poverty rapid urbanization intense competition for land and water and mismanagement of natural resources The contributors examine in particular the conflict between economic development and environmental sustainability They analyze the historical roots of current environmental problems the underlying socioeconomic causes potential solutions and differences in environmental policies among various countries This is an insightful portrait of a developing region attempting to reconcile traditional methods of land use with growing demands for resources the exigencies of economic development and the limitations of its natural resource base

Africa I. William Zartman,William Mark Habeeb,I William Zartman,2019-06-04 In the twenty five years since the last comprehensive book on state and society in North Africa was published the nations of the Maghrib have undergone profound social political and economic changes The region has for example experienced one of the highest population growth rates in the world accompanied by a dramatic increase in migration t Classes ouvrières d'Afrique noire Michel Agier,Jean

Copans,Alain Morice,1987-01-01 Desert Edens Philipp Lehmann,2022-10-25 How technological advances and colonial fears inspired utopian geoengineering projects during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries From the 1870s to the mid twentieth century European explorers climatologists colonial officials and planners were avidly interested in large scale projects that might actively alter the climate Uncovering this history Desert Edens looks at how arid environments and an increasing anxiety about climate in the colonial world shaped this upsurge in ideas about climate engineering From notions about the transformation of deserts into forests to Nazi plans to influence the climates of war torn areas Philipp Lehmann puts the early climate change debate in its environmental intellectual and political context and considers the ways this legacy reverberates in the present climate crisis Lehmann examines some of the most ambitious climate engineering projects to emerge in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Confronted with the Sahara in the 1870s the French developed concepts for a flooding project that would lead to the creation of a man made Sahara Sea In the 1920s German architect Herman S rgel proposed damming the Mediterranean in order to geoengineer an Afro European continent called Atlantropa which would fit the needs of European settlers Nazi designs were formulated to counteract the desertification of Eastern Europe and Central Asia Despite ideological and technical differences these projects all incorporated and developed climate change theories and vocabulary They also combined expressions of an extreme environmental pessimism with a powerful technological optimism that continue to shape the contemporary moment Focusing on the intellectual roots intended effects and impact of early measures to modify the climate Desert Edens investigates how the technological imagination can be inspired by pressing fears about the environment and civilization
