Hired Daughters Mary Montgomery, 2019-02-19 Hired Daughters examines a fading tradition of domestic service in which rural girls familiar to ordinary Moroccan families were placed in their homes until marriage In this tradition of bringing up the girls are considered daughters of the house and part of their role in the family is to help with the housework Gradually this tradition is transforming into one in which workers unfamiliar to their host families are paid a wage and may not stay long but where the Islamic ethics of charity religious reward and gratitude still inform expectations on both sides Mary Montgomery examines why Moroccans so often talk about their domestic workers as daughters what this means for workers and employers and how this is changing in contemporary Morocco Prioritizing the experiences and perspectives of these women Montgomery charts the tension that has developed between socially embedded loyal domestic workers who operate within narratives of kinship and obligation and women who seek greater individualization privacy and self empowerment Hired Daughters offers a nuanced understanding of a world that bridges public and private morality and money family and outsiders In doing so it provides an intimate consideration of contemporary Moroccan households as economic enterprises and sites of navigation between the traditional and the global

Morocco James N. Sater, 2009-12-04 For many contemporary observers and analysts Morocco remains a mystery So close to Europe Morocco simultaneously represents a similarly open political culture and its complete antithesis Human rights associations openly challenge authoritarian rule while an emphasis on Moroccan singularity and authenticity prevents the establishment of a real democracy Widespread poverty and illiteracy co exist with a flourishing entrepreneurial class and the display of conspicuous wealth in its cities electoral institutions and political parties pay allegiance to a traditional monarch disgruntled youth and inhabitants of shantytowns are receptive to the rhetoric of Islamic inspired violence and terror This book provides an introductory overview of contemporary politics and international relations in Morocco and gives an up to date assessment of the economy and recent history Drawing on key academic texts the author provides a detailed analysis of Morocco focusing on issues such as Morocco s role within the region trade policies with Europe Morocco s Western Sahara policy ways of dealing with Political Islam the extent to which European influence has affected Moroccan society Easily accessible to non specialists practitioners and upper level undergraduate students the book will be essential reading for those working in the fields of Comparative Politics International Relations and Middle East Studies

Revisiting Moroccan Migrations Mohammed Berriane, Hein De Haas, Katharina Natter, 2018-02-02 Over the 20th century Morocco has become one of the world's major emigration countries. But since 2000 growing immigration and settlement of migrants from sub-Saharan Africa, the Middle East and Europe confronts Morocco with an entirely new set of social, cultural, political and legal issues. This book explores how continued emigration and increasing immigration is transforming contemporary Moroccan society with a particular emphasis on the way the Moroccan state is dealing with shifting migratory realities. The authors of this collective volume embark on a dialogue between theory and empirical research showcasing how contemporary migration theories help understanding recent trends in Moroccan migration and vice versa how the specific Moroccan case enriches migration theory. This perspective helps to overcome the still predominant Western-centric research view that artificially divide the world into receiving and sending countries and largely disregards the dynamics of and experiences with migration in countries in the Global South. This book was previously published as a special issue of The Journal of North African Studies. The New Humanitarians in International Practice Zeynep

Sezgin, Dennis Dijkzeul, 2015-12-14 As humanitarian needs continue to grow rapidly humanitarian action has become more contested with new actors entering the field to address unmet needs but also challenging long-held principles and precepts. This volume provides detailed empirical comparisons between emerging and traditional humanitarian actors. It sheds light on why and how the emerging actors engage in humanitarian crises and how their activities are carried out and perceived in their transnational organizational environment. It develops and applies a conceptual framework that fosters research on humanitarian actors and the humanitarian principles. In particular it simultaneously refers to theories of organizational sociology and international relations to identify both the structural and the situational factors that influence the motivations, aims and activities of these actors and their different levels of commitment to the traditional humanitarian principles. It thus elucidates the role of the humanitarian principles in promoting coherence and coordination in the crowded and diverse world of humanitarian action and discusses whether alternative principles and parallel humanitarian systems are in the making. This volume will be of great interest to postgraduate students and scholars in humanitarian studies, globalization and transnationalism, research, organizational sociology, international relations, development studies and migration and diaspora studies as well as policy makers and practitioners engaged in humanitarian action, development, cooperation and migration issues. OECD Public Governance Reviews: Open Government in Morocco OECD, 2015-08-27 The Open Government Review of Morocco analyses Morocco's open government policies and practices and their institutional and legal frameworks for implementation against OECD instruments and makes a series of recommendations. The Statesman's Year Book, 1902

Morocco James Sater, 2016-06-09 The first edition of Morocco was published one year before the mass protests of the Arab Spring rocked the Moroccan state. Post Arab Spring the country has a new constitution and government but the state remains uncompromising on any true reform of the monarchy's claims to power. This new edition provides an introductory overview of the history, contemporary politics, economy and international relations in Morocco and offers an examination of the challenges to tradition and modernity in the post colonial state It has been revised and updated to include analysis of the country s evolving politics in the years following the Arab Spring and the consequences this has had for the country s traditional monarchy It pays particular attention to the new constitution the policies of the new Islamist led government and it includes an analysis of Morocco s foreign policy in the post Arab Spring regional context Drawing on key academic texts the author provides a detailed analysis of Morocco focusing on issues such as Morocco s role within the region Trade policies with Europe Migration Morocco s Western Sahara policy Ways of dealing with Political Islam The extent to which European influence has affected Moroccan society Easily accessible to non specialists practitioners and upper level undergraduate students the book will be essential reading for those working in the fields of North African studies International Relations and Middle East studies

African Literacies Ashraf Abdelhay, Yonas Mesfun Asfaha, Kasper Juffermans, 2014-10-02 Africa is often depicted as the continent with the lowest literacy rates in the world Moving beyond this essentialising representation this volume explores African literacies within their complex and diverse multilingual and multiscriptal histories and contexts of use The chapters examine contexts from the Maghreb to Mozambique and from Senegambia to the Horn of Africa and critically analyse multiple literacy genres and practices from ancient manuscripts to instant messaging in relation to questions of language in education and policy livelihoods Islamic scholarship colonialism translocal migration and writing systems As a whole the book serves as an advanced introduction to language and society in Africa seen through the lens of literacy and marks a unique contribution to scholarship in literacy studies offering a convenient collection of perspectives on and from Africa

Local Politics in Jordan and Morocco Janine A. Clark, 2018-04-03 In recent years authoritarian states in the Middle East and North Africa have faced increasing international pressure to decentralize political power Decentralization is presented as a panacea that will foster good governance and civil society helping citizens procure basic services and fight corruption Two of these states Jordan and Morocco are monarchies with elected parliaments and recent experiences of liberalization Morocco began devolving certain responsibilities to municipal councils decades ago while Jordan has consistently followed a path of greater centralization Their experiences test such assumptions about the benefits of localism Janine A Clark examines why Morocco decentralized while Jordan did not and evaluates the impact of their divergent paths ultimately explaining how authoritarian regimes can use decentralization reforms to consolidate power Local Politics in Jordan and Morocco argues that decentralization is a tactic authoritarian regimes employ based on their coalition strategies to expand their base of support and strengthen patron client ties Clark analyzes the opportunities that decentralization presents to local actors to pursue their interests and lays out how municipal level figures find ways to use reforms to their advantage In Morocco decentralization has resulted not in greater political inclusivity or improved services but rather in the entrenchment of pro regime elites in power The main Islamist political party has also taken advantage of these reforms In Jordan decentralization would undermine the networks that benefit elites and their supporters Based on extensive fieldwork Local Politics in Jordan and Morocco is an important contribution to Middle East studies and political science that challenges our understanding of authoritarian regimes survival strategies and resilience      A Companion to Modern African Art Gitti Salami, Monica Blackmun Visona, 2013-12-24 Offering a wealth of perspectives on African modern and Modernist art from the mid nineteenth century to the present this new Companion features essays by African European and North American authors who assess the work of individual artists as well as exploring broader themes such as discoveries of new technologies and globalization A pioneering continent based assessment of modern art and modernity across Africa Includes original and previously unpublished fieldwork based material Features new and complex theoretical arguments about the nature of modernity and Modernism Addresses a widely acknowledged gap in the literature on African Art      Bulletin ...
