The Sounds of Early Cinema Richard Abel, Rick Altman, 2001-10-03 The Sounds of Early Cinema is devoted exclusively to a little known yet absolutely crucial phenomenon the ubiquitous presence of sound in early cinema Silent cinema may rarely have been silent but the sheer diversity of sounds and sound image relations characterizing the first 20 years of moving picture exhibition can still astonish us Whether instrumental vocal or mechanical sound ranged from the improvised to the pre arranged as in scripts scores and cue sheets The practice of mixing sounds with images differed widely depending on the venue the nickelodeon in Chicago versus the summer Chautauqua in rural Iowa the music hall in London or Paris versus the newest palace cinema in New York City as well as on the historical moment a single venue might change radically and many times from 1906 to 1910 Contributors include Richard Abel Rick Altman Edouard Arnoldy Mats Björkin Stephen Bottomore Marta Braun Jean Châteauneuf Ian Christie Richard Crangle Helen Day Mayer John Fullerton Jane Gaines Andr Gaudreault Tom Gunning François Jost Charlie Keil Jeff Klenotic Germain Lacasse Neil Lerner Patrick Loughney David Mayer Domènec Nasta Bernard Perron Jacques Polet Lauren Rabinovitz Isabelle Raynauld Herbert Reynolds Gregory A Waller and Rashit M Yangirov

Films and Dreams Thorsten Botz-Bornstein, 2007-11-29 Films and Dreams considers the essential link between films and the world of dreams To discuss dream theory in the context of film studies means moving from the original clinical context within which dream theory was originally developed to an environment established by primarily aesthetic concerns Botz Bornstein deals with dreams as self sufficient phenomena that are interesting not because of their contents but because of the dreamtense through which they deploy their being A diverse selection of films are examined in this light Tarkovsky's anti realism exploring the domain of the improbable between symbolization representation and alienation Sokurov's subversive attacks on the modern image ideology Arthur Schnitzler's shifting of the familiar to the uncanny and Kubrick's avoidance of this structural model in Eyes Wide Shut and Wong Kar Wai's dreamlike panorama of parodied capitalism Review of Neurology and Psychiatry, 1905 The Life of the Senses François Laplantine, 2020-05-31 Both a vital theoretical work and a fine illustration of the principles and practice of sensory ethnography this much anticipated translation is destined to figure as a major catalyst in the expanding field of sensory studies Drawing on his own fieldwork in Brazil and Japan and a wide range of philosophical literary and cinematic sources the author outlines his vision for a modal anthropology Fran ois Laplantine challenges the primacy accorded to sign and structure in conventional social science research and redirects attention to the tonalities and rhythmic intensities of different ways of living Arguing that meaning sensation and sociality cannot be considered separately he calls for a politics of the sensible and a complete reorientation of our habitual ways of understanding reality The book also features an introduction to the sensory and social thought of Fran ois Laplantine by the editor of the Sensory Studies series David Howes Flashbacks in Film Maureen Turim, 2013-12-17 The flashback is a crucial moment in a film narrative one that captures the cinematic expression of memory and history This author's wide ranging account of this single device reveals it to be an important way of creating cinematic meaning Taking as her subject all of film history the author traces out the history of the flashback illuminating that history through structuralist narrative theory psychoanalytic theories of subjectivity and theories of ideology From the American silent film era and the European and Japanese avant garde of the twenties from film noir and the psychological melodrama of the forties and fifties to 1980s art and Third World cinema the flashback has interrogated time and memory making it a nexus for ideology representations of the psyche and shifting cultural attitudes Eye of the Century Francesco Casetti, 2008-05-14 Is it true that film in the twentieth century experimented with vision more than any other art form And what visions did it privilege In this brilliant book acclaimed film scholar Francesco Casetti situates the cinematic experience within discourses of twentieth century modernity He suggests that film defined a unique gaze not only because it recorded many of the century's most important events but also because it determined the manner in which they were received Casetti begins by examining film's nature as a medium in an age obsessed with immediacy nearness and accessibility He considers the myths and rituals cinema constructed on the screen and in the theater and how they provided new images and behaviors that responded to emerging concerns ideas and social orders Film also succeeded in negotiating the different needs of modernity comparing and uniting conflicting stimuli providing answers in a world torn apart by conflict and satisfying a desire for everydayness as well as lightness in people's lives The ability to communicate the power to inform and the capacity to negotiate these are the three factors that defined film's function and outlook and made the medium a relevant and vital art form of its time So what kind of gaze did film create Film cultivated a personal gaze intimately tied to the emergence of point of view but also able to restore the immediacy of the real a complex gaze in which reality and imagination were combined a piercing gaze achieved by machine and yet deeply anthropomorphic an excited gaze rich in perceptive stimuli but also attentive to the spectator's orientation and an immersive gaze which gave the impression of being inside the seen world while also maintaining a sense of distance Each of these gazes combined two different qualities and balanced them The result was an ever inventive synthesis that strived to bring about true compromises without ever sacrificing the complexity of contradiction As Casetti demonstrates film proposed a vision that in making opposites permeable modeled itself on an oxymoronic principle In this sense film is the key to reading and understanding the modern experience
