Cédric Burton, Véronique Laurent, Claire Lobet-Maris, 2007 Les CPAS et l informatique un mariage de raison un couple d chir une grande passion ou encore un jeune m nage aux prises avec des belles m res un peu trop envahissantes Il s agit sans doute d un peu tout cela tant les r alit s informatiques que nous avons observ es dans le paysage wallon y sont plurielles et contrast es C est l analyse des relations parfois tumultueuses entre les CPAS et l informatique qu est consacr cet ouvrage Dans une premi re partie Philippe Versailles nous introduit la r alit des CPAS travers une pr sentation de leurs missions et de la manière dont celles-ci ont évolué au cours du temps. Si les CPAS sont aujourd'hui très informatisés, il importe de se demander comment cette informatique s'y est construite, qui l'a développée et qui l'a orientée. C'est cette analyse que Claire Lobet Maris consacre la deuxième partie de cet ouvrage. La rencontre entre l'informatique et les travailleurs sociaux n'est pas sans poser question : certains n'hésitant pas à la qualifier de choc des cultures. À travers un regard organisationnel, Véronique Laurent nous propose une analyse très nuancée de ce choc culturel. La quatrième partie de l'ouvrage porte sur le public des CPAS. Françoise Navarre s'interroge plus particulièrement sur la fracture numérique. Cette fracture touche en partie le public des CPAS et contribue à le fragiliser. Faut-il dès lors que les CPAS s'en préoccupent et si oui, avec quelles actions et quels moyens ? Est-ce bien le rôle des CPAS que de favoriser l'usage de l'informatique par ses bénéficiaires ? Le droit n'est pas absent de ce voyage. L'informatisation des CPAS pose en effet de très nombreuses questions juridiques relatives à la protection de la vie privée, au secret de la correspondance, mais aussi à la valeur probante de certains documents aujourd'hui digitalisés. C'est ces questions que Cécile Burton et Yves Pouillet abordent dans la dernière partie de l'ouvrage. Nous terminons cet ouvrage par quelques conclusions et recommandations. Mais d'abord, place à l'analyse.

Le Détour Georges Balandier, 2014-04-01

Ce temps pourrait être celui des effacements et des crises, des illusions brisées et des incertitudes. Il est aussi celui des contrastes, de la poussée aux extrêmes. Aux conquêtes des sciences s'opposent des défaillances de l'économie et la dépréciation des pouvoirs. L'affaiblissement des institutions, les essais de créativité qui révèlent le besoin de nouveaux repères, de nouveaux remèdes. Crise profonde, il y a assurément. Mais cette crise n'est pas que ruines et désespérance. Elle est d'abord mouvement de destruction et de restructuring, comme d'urgence de nouveauté et d'indignité. Phase de transition, elle bouscule les valeurs et les hiérarchies, le droit, la justice, la sauvegarde des personnes et des biens. De ce désordre sortiront peut-être une société et une culture encore mal identifiées. Aussi Georges Balandier entreprend-il une exploration de la modernité afin de la rendre intelligible. Il voit en celle-ci une fascinante manifestation et expression du neuf de l'inconnu, des ruptures sous-jacentes aux continuités. Pour en avoir une meilleure compréhension, il a mis en jeu son expérience d'anthropologue, il a choisi de prendre quelque distance, de comparer notre temps aux périodes d'interruption dans les sociétés autres. C'est un changement de point de vue qui permet de discerner comment le politique et le pouvoir s'accommodent de la nouveauté ou s'agrippent au passé, espérant faire rejouer des anciennes structures de pensée. Le regard porté sur les autres donne la possibilité de mieux nous voir, tels que nous devenons dans les grandes catégories qui nous organisent : le corps politique, la division des sexes, la ruse politicienne, le techno-imaginaire, l'art nouveau ou les logiques de l'information et de la communication. Avec Georges Balandier, démonstration est faite que pour l'intelligence de l'actuel et de ce que nous sommes, le détour est la ligne la plus droite.

The Technological Bluff
Jacques Ellul, 1990
M. Ellul's view of technology is that once it is let out of the laboratory technology cannot be turned off. Technology begets more technology. The modern world therefore is one in which more technology is inevitable. Fixing or remediating the impact of a technology like water pollution requires you guess it more technology.
