Handbook on the Politics of Regulation David Levi-Faur, 2011-01-01. Political science has leapfrogged law, economics and sociology to become the dominant discipline contributing to regulatory studies. David Levi-Faur's volume taps the rich veins of regulatory scholarship that have made this the case. It brings together the talented new network of politics scholars intrigued by the importance of the changing nature of state and non-state regulation. Their fresh insights complement important new work by established stars of the field. Definitely a book to have on your shelf when in search of exciting theoretical approaches to politics.

John Braithwaite, Australian National University. Regulation in its manifold forms is the central process of contemporary governance as it seeks to blend the dynamism of market economies with responsiveness to political and normative demands for health, safety, environmental protection and fairness. Understanding regulation's varieties, vulnerabilities and virtues has become a significant focus of academic research and theory. This volume provides an extraordinary survey of research in that field, a survey remarkable in its comprehensiveness, outstanding in the quality of the contributions by leading regulatory scholars from different nations and academic disciplines.

Robert A. Kagan, University of California, Berkeley, US. An authoritative collection by a range of contributors with outstanding reputations in the field.

Michael Moran, WJ MacKenzie, Professor of Government. This is an extraordinarily useful one-stop shop for a wide range of traditions and approaches to the political aspects of regulation. David Levi-Faur has assembled a fine collection that, by reporting on the state of the art, also shows the way ahead for a discipline that has to capture and explain dramatic changes in real-world regulatory philosophies and policies.

Claudio Radaelli, University of Exeter, UK. This is an unusually impressive edited volume. Its contributors include the leading academic experts on government regulation from around the world. Its several clearly written and informative essays address the most important topics, issues and debates that have engaged students of regulatory politics. I strongly recommend this volume to anyone interested in understanding the breadth and depth of contemporary scholarship on the political dimensions of regulation.

David Vogel, University of California, Berkeley, US. This unique Handbook offers the most up-to-date and comprehensive state-of-the-art reviews of the politics of regulation. It presents and discusses the core theories and concepts of regulation in response to the rise of the regulatory state and regulatory capitalism and in the context of the golden age of regulation. Its ten sections include forty-nine chapters covering issues as diverse and varied as theories of regulation, historical perspectives on regulation, regulation of old and new media, risk, regulation, enforcement and compliance, better regulation, civil regulation, European regulatory governance and global regulation. As a whole, it provides an essential point of reference for all those working on the political, social and economic aspects of regulation. This comprehensive

Microfoundations of Policy Implementation Phedon Nicolaides, 2013-01-04 The European Union EU has a compliance problem there are persistent failures in the implementation of EU rules and policies by the member states This book examines how policy implementation may be improved It explains the nature of policy mistakes proceeds to consider how individual public authorities and organizations can avoid making policy mistakes and then in the light of its findings derives how the EU may induce its member states and their public authorities to improve their compliance with EU rules and policies Basically this is a book about how the right incentives at national level can improve institutional performance and contribute towards more effective application of EU rules across member states without having to confer new competences to the EU Its premise is that strengthening the capacity of organizations to learn should not only lead to better performance but should also stimulate useful policy experimentation across the EU Although this volume focuses on the obligations of EU membership and how to strengthen compliance the proposed solutions have broader applicability Improved organizational capacity for policy implementation will also be beneficial in those areas where the EU has no formal competence Just as member states can learn from each other so can policy officials in different policy fields Good practices can spread

Implementing Social Europe in Times of Crises Dorte Martinsen, Hans Vollaard, 2017-10-02 While the EU legitimacy crisis and the Great Recession prevail certain European Union principles and policies have to be implemented in the member states This volume explores the diverse processes stages and subjects of implementation in a variety of social policies to identify different institutional dynamics and actor behaviours at play The individual contributions examine the transposition of the patients rights directive to the Europeanisation of pension reforms the role of national parliaments in transposing social Europe judicial Europeanisation and the multi level enforcement of EU decisions Theoretically the contributions in this book highlight the fact that implementation is often conditioned by domestic politics or comes as a random walk due to organisational and cognitive constraints Empirically the volume has three main findings First the constitutive components of the EU tend to have a contradictory impact on the EU's social policies and the national welfare systems Second crises influence the implementation of social Europe at times leading to a modification of fundamental principles and content but not across the board Third as a result there is evidence of differentiated Europeanisation This book was originally published as a special issue of West European Politics provides a comprehensive assessment of the effectiveness of Mobility Partnerships and their consequences for third countries. Mobility partnerships between the EU and third countries are usually viewed as reflecting asymmetric power relations where development aid, trade relations and visa policies are made conditional upon the cooperation by third countries with an EU agenda of migration control. This book argues that three main factors condition the relevance of Mobility Partnerships: the state of relations between EU Member States and a third country and in particular the role of postcolonial ties; the power of negotiation of a third country which is linked to its geopolitical importance for the EU and its administrative capacity which is understood as the capacity of a state to define and implement policies and to legislate and enforce the law. The work combines a comparative legal analysis of the development of the legal and policy frameworks in the cases of Morocco and Cape Verde with an empirical study of the implementation of Mobility Partnerships projects. The analysis demonstrates that Mobility Partnerships, despite their non-binding nature, have legal and policy relevance for these third countries with regard to the regulation of migration, asylum, human trafficking and even labour law. As such, this book makes a contribution to the understanding of the interplay between the interests of EU Member States and third country actors in the implementation of the Mobility Partnerships. The book will be a key resource for academics and students focusing on Migration Law, EU Studies, Geopolitics and African Studies. The empirical approach will also appeal to policy makers, international organisation representatives and NGOs.

The implementation of environmental policy in Ireland Bernadette Connaughton, 2019-05-22. This book explores the response of Ireland's political-administrative system to the implementation of environmental directives in the cases of waste management, water reform and biodiversity. Ireland represents the implementation challenges of a small EU member state with a weak background in environmental governance and has struggled to adapt to the complexities of enforcing environmental rules. Using a theoretical framework inspired by traditional implementation analysis and insights from the Europeanisation literature, the book traces the implementation process in three directives. The main conclusion of this study is that Ireland's implementation performance in waste management, water and nature conservation is influenced by the low issue salience of environmental policy and the need to overcome structural problems in the public administration system to give effect to EU legislation.

Innovative Approaches to EU Multilevel Implementation Eva Thomann, Fritz Sager, 2019-10-23. Multi-level governance systems like the European Union calibrate integration with member state discretion in order to implement common yet context-sensitive solutions to shared policy problems. Research on implementation in the EU typically focuses on legal compliance with EU policy. However, this focus gives us an incomplete picture of EU implementation: its diversity and practice. The contributions of this collection represent a shift toward a more performance-oriented perspective on EU implementation as problem-solving. They approach implementation fundamentally as a process of interpretation of superordinate law by actors who are embedded within multiple contexts arising from the coexistence of dynamics of Europeanization on the one hand and what has been termed domestication on the other Moving beyond legal compliance the contributions provide new evidence on the diversity of domestic responses to EU policy the roles and motivations of actors implementing EU policy and the black box of EU law in action and its enforcement By reassessing the relative importance of EU policy and domestic factors and actors for the outcomes of EU implementation the results give insight into on the nuanced interplay between Europeanization and domestication forces useful for both EU researchers and practitioners The chapters originally published as a special issue in the Journal of European Public Policy

Implementing EU Environmental Policy Christoph Knill,Andrea Lenschow,2000 This book examines issues of censorship publicity and teenage fandom in 1950s Britain surrounding a series of controversial Hollywood films The Wild One Blackboard Jungle Rebel Without a Cause Rock Around the Clock and Jailhouse Rock It also explores British cinema s commentary on juvenile delinquency through a re examination of such British films as The Blue Lamp Spare the Rod and Serious Charge Taking a multi dimensional approach the book intersects with star studies and social history while reappraising the stardom of Marlon Brando James Dean and Elvis Presley By looking at the specific meanings pleasures and uses British fans derived from these films it provides a logical and sustained narrative for how Hollywood star images fed into and disrupted British cultural life during a period of unprecedented teenage consumerism

Greece in the European Union Dionyssi G. Dimitrakopoulos,Argyris G. Passas,2004-02-24 The contributors collected here discuss the patterns of continuity and change success and failure observed in seven policy areas environment social regulation regional policy the single market agriculture EMU and foreign policy in order to investigate how policy formulated and implemented in Greece has changed as a result of EU membership why Greek authorities have managed to implement EU policy more successfully in some policy areas than in others and whether Greek public opinion vis vis the EU changed over time This book argues that although the widely held belief that Greece is a laggard in a number of policy areas is not inaccurate the pattern of Greek membership of the EU is much more complex not least because it contains success stories It will be of interest to students and researchers
