Cataloging and Classification Athena Salaba, Lois Mai Chan, 2023-07-24 The new edition of this essential work has raised the bar on an already excellent text about cataloguing Library Journal Starred Review The fifth edition of the classic Cataloging and Classification covers the analysis and representation of methods used in describing organizing and providing access to resources made available in or through libraries Since the last edition there have been new developments in cataloging with the introduction of the IFLA Library Reference Model LRM and the new official RDA following the 3R Project This text presents the essence of library cataloging and classification in terms of four basic functions descriptive cataloging authority work subject access and classification Within this framework content has been reorganized all chapters have been rewritten and new chapters have been introduced to incorporate the changes that have occurred during the interval between the fourth and fifth editions In each part the historical development and underlying principles of the retrieval mechanism at issue are treated first because these are considered essential to an understanding of cataloging and classification Discussion and examples of provisions in the standards and tools are then presented to illustrate the operations covered in each chapter. Divided into seven parts: a general overview; record production and structure encoding formats and metadata records; RDA original and official subject access and controlled vocabularies; the organization of library resources encoding and cataloging ethics; this book includes lists of the standards and tools used in the preparation and processing of cataloging records; covered lists of RDA elements and sample records. Its companion website with interactive learning activities and supplementary materials located at catclassintro.org make it a true multimedia tool.

Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR) Patrick Le Boeuf, 2013-10-31. Get the straight facts on FRBR and whether it is right for you. In 1998, Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR) was a conceptual model promoted by the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA) as being the recommended new advancement in cataloging. As libraries strive to serve their users better in the coming years, questions remain as to whether FRBR may provide an answer on how to improve cataloging systems. Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR) Hype or Cure All explores not only the theoretical issues such as the concept of works and the bibliographic relationships of musical works but also provides a unique survey of most of the systems that actually implement FRBR such as the AustLit Gateway. This book describes the challenges that accompany implementation of FRBR and how this abstract approach to cataloging can be a useful practical tool to help improve library systems. Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR) Hype or Cure All clearly explains the concepts, ideas, and practical applications of FRBR. The book is comprised of four major sections: A chronological section explains how FRBR was developed and how it will evolve in the future; a theoretical section reviews how FRBR analyzes different types of library materials; a practical aspects section examines how some systems actually use FRBR; and lastly, a section that explains an alternative to FRBR, the XOBIS project, which shows that other solutions are possible to meet future cataloging challenges. Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records (FRBR) explores innovative features including the Semantic Web, activities, future evolutions in cataloging, alternatives to FRBR, the history of IFLA Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records Study, an updated description of the entity relationship model being developed by the Working Group to extend the FRBR model to cover authority data, key aspects of the FRBR and FRANAR models that will need to be re-examined, the concept of expression, the cataloging of hand press materials, the AustLit Gateway, musical works in the FRBR model, the Paradigma Project at the National Library of Norway, the FRBR and the performing arts, oral traditions and FRBR, the design of future systems, the European FRBR research initiative, FRBRizing OCLC's WorldCat, the IFPA software and application interfaces, the Library of
