Qualitative Research Skills for Social Work Malcolm Carey, 2017-03-02 Malcolm Carey provides social work students academics and practitioners with a practical guide to completion of a small scale qualitative research project or dissertation This clear text takes the reader through the process of beginning and developing a research problem or question defining their objectives and undertaking empirical or literature based research that involves data collection analysis writing up and dissemination The book also highlights and details potential obstacles essential techniques and methods types of theory and methodology used and presents case studies and ongoing debates involved in qualitative social work research It suggests ways by which sometimes difficult processes such as the literature review interviews with practitioners etc can be made easier to complete and explores traditional methods such as the focus group or interview alongside less conventional methodologies such as participative narrative discourse or ICT related approaches Recent investigation has highlighted the lack of research skills held by many social workers in practice This book overcomes these problems by providing an essential and easily accessible guidebook to qualitative research methods for social work students and practitioners as well as being of interest to tutors who teach research methods to social work students or supervise dissertations

A Transdisciplinary, Engaged, Phenomenological Investigation of Dwelling and Landscape Language Andrew Turk, 2024-09-06 This book includes revised dissertation chapters from the author's second PhD which was awarded in 2020 by Murdoch University Australia It also includes three chapters summarising recent developments This was an innovative transdisciplinary research project using phenomenology as the overarching meta paradigm The investigation involved collaborations and literature reviews across numerous disciplines including philosophy geography ethnoecology sociology and cultural studies The book discusses three landscape language ethnophysiology case studies with Indigenous peoples in Australia and the USA It features a detailed discussion of transdisciplinarity and provides a comprehensive example of how this approach can be applied to complex dwelling relationships which people from different cultures have with specific topographic environments turning terrain into landscape. It involves using phenomenology as a transdisciplinary meta paradigm and describes phenomenological methods for integrating physical and social sciences including an analysis of the worldviews of Indigenous peoples for example Manyjilyjarra Jukurra as Heideggerian topology

How To Research Blaxter, Loraine, Hughes, Christina, Tight, Malcolm, 2010-09-01 How to Research is a clear and accessible guide to the business of doing a research project. It systematically takes the reader through from the planning to the writing up and finishing off. The new edition of this book will include Generalism in Clinical Practice and Education Sophie Park, Kay Leedham-Green, 2024-07-29

Generalism is a key approach to healthcare organisation and delivery that enables person centred dynamic and cost effective patient care. With its emphasis on adaptability, generalism requires expansive nurturing and personalised approaches to clinical education in which a generalist attends to and explores patient priorities when problem setting and co creating management plans. Generalism in Clinical Practice and Education outlines a generalist philosophy of practice which is brought to life through interleaved examples. Written by a range of international clinicians, patients and academics, this book does not prescribe one right way to do generalism. Rather, it seeks to inspire readers' future engagement with generalism in practice and learning through sharing underpinning concepts, values and principles. This big picture attention to generalism across public health, social determinants of health and clinical care is at the heart of sustainable and efficient use of resources to prioritise those in need. The book explores four key principles which in practice aim to achieve creative, inclusive and agile approaches to clinical care. The goal is to support generalism in clinical practice and education and to produce clinical practitioners and learners that enjoy, embrace and enhance future clinical care.

Transparency and Critical Theory Jorge I. Valdovinos, 2022-02-26 This book takes an interdisciplinary approach to the critique of contemporary ideology, offering an innovative genealogy of one of its most fundamental discursive manoeuvres: the ideological effacement of mediation. Providing a comprehensive historical revision of media from the Greeks to the Internet, this book identifies several critical junctures at which the tension between visibility and invisibility has overlapped with conceptions of neutrality, a tension best incarnated in today's use of the word transparency. Then it traces this term's evolving semantic constellation through a variety of intellectual discourses, exposing it as a key operator in the revaluation of ideals, sensibilities and modalities of perception that lie at the core of our contemporary attention-based economy.

Annual Review of the Sociology of Religion. Volume 3 (2012), 2012-08-24 This volume points to methodological innovations in social research and their potential for social scientific studies of religion. Computerization has opened for both quantitative and qualitative systematic analyses of complex materials and the epistemological discourse after Positivism has opened for reconsidering the foundation of empirical social research. Furthermore, religion is changing and sociology of religion therefore widens its scope by including non institutional forms of religion This refocusing calls for new methodological considerations As the range of available methods expands it becomes more pressing to consider whether and how methods can be combined such as quantitative and qualitative methods Studying religion as a complex social phenomenon calls for a variety of methods but an integration of the empirical findings points back to the epistemological issue

Researching and Analysing Business Pantea Foroudi, Charles Dennis, 2023-12-14

A Common Humanity Dr. Chigor Chike, 2016-11-21 This book looks at what motivates Muslims to reach out to people of other faiths The book found that for Muslims their sense of sharing a common humanity with non Muslims is a key factor The book is based on the experience of a group of Muslims in East London who have worked successfully for several years with the non Muslims in their community The books finding suggests that whilst leaders and scholars of different religions might focus on such areas as the nature of God or the similarities of holy scriptures across different religions as the basis for unity for the people at the grassroots relating with those of other faiths is more about being human together Teaching Qualitative Research Rosalind E. Hurworth, 2008-01-01 Over the past two decades there has been a plethora of book for students about how to tackle Qualitative Research QR but absolutely nothing on how to teach it This book attempts to redress the imbalance by presenting a history of what is known about QR teaching as well as to bring alive current QR teaching and learning through a set of Australian and British case studies Courses visited were located within a variety of disciplines including Education Sociology Anthropology Nursing Psychology Communications and Evaluation were taught by both experienced and inexperienced lecturers were either presented alone or in pairs took place in a range of institutions lasted from seven weeks to a year and involved from 15 to over 100 students It emerged however that no matter what the context several common issues were raised such as Should you teach theory practice or both How do you determine a curriculum for a QR course What is the best way to manage student projects How should students of QR be assessed In what ways can the constraints of University structures be confronted and How can lecturer deficiencies in training and experience be overcome To answer such questions Professor Hurworth draws deftly from personal observations and rich conversations with both lecturers and students from all the courses described As a result many practical ideas for moving the teaching and learning of QR forward are suggested
