Epoch And Artist:

Epoch and Artist David Jones, 2009-01 Written between the late 1930s and the late 1950s Epoch and Artist represents those essays that David Jones wished to see preserved in his lifetime Beginning with his most personal reflections upon Welsh culture the selection turns next to Jones's thoughts on the position of art and the artist in the twentieth century concluding with writings on the nature of epoch and European culture and history Epoch and Artist David Jones, 2013-11-07 Written between the late 1930s and the late 1950s Epoch and Artist represents those essays that David Jones wished to see preserved in his lifetime Beginning with his most personal reflections upon Welsh culture the selection turns next to Jones's thoughts on the position of art and the artist in the twentieth century concluding with writings on the nature of epoch and European culture and history Epoch and Artist David Jones, 1959 Epoch and Artist David Jones, 1973 Epoch and Artist: Selected Writings, by David Jones Tony Stoneburner, 1965 Epoch and Artist David Jones, 1959 David Jones and Rome Jasmine Hunter Evans, 2022-02-03 This interdisciplinary and archival study explores the reception of ancient Rome in the artistic literary and philosophical works of David Jones 1895 1974 the Anglo Welsh Roman Catholic First World War veteran For Jones the twentieth century was a period of crisis an age of conflict disillusionment and cultural decay all of which he saw as evidence of the decline of Western civilisation Across his lifetime Jones would create a dynamic vision of ancient Rome in an attempt both to understand and to challenge this situation His reimagining of Rome was not founded on a classical education Instead it was fashioned from his lived experience extensive reading and most importantly his engagement with four areas of contemporary discourse that were themselves built upon intricate and conflicting representations of Rome British political rhetoric cyclical history the Catholic cultural revival and the Welsh nationalist movement Tracing Jones's developing approach to Rome across these contexts can provide a way into his art and thought Whether in his poetic fragments watercolours essays letters marginalia or unique painted inscriptions Jones strove to question complicate and remake Rome's relationship with modernity In this way Rome appears in Jones's works both as a symbol of transhistorical imperialism totalitarianism and the mechanisation of life and simultaneously as the cultural and religious progenitor of the West and in particular of Wales with which artists must creatively reconnect if decline was to be avoided David Jones: A Christian Modernist? Jamie Callison, Erik Tønning, Anna Johnson, Paul Fiddes, 2017-11-01 David Jones A Christian Modernist is a major reassessment of the work of the poet artist and essayist David Jones 1895 1974 in light of the complex ambiguous idea of a Christian modernism His richly experimental and palimpsestic poetry art and thought drew extensively on Christian tradition and symbolism as a key to the future rejecting a technocratic and utilitarian modernity in favour of a revitalised culture of sign and sacrament This volume examines historical influences on Jones's development his impassioned engagement with the idea of modernity and with modernist literature and art the theological sources and resonances of his work and contemporary or late modern perspectives on his achievement Divine

Cartographies W. David Soud, 2016 A study of how three modernist poets Yeats Jones and Eliot at the height of their careers drew on their religious beliefs to transform some of their greatest poems into maps of the relationship between history and eternity

Rewriting the Word "God" Romana Huk, 2025 Innovative poetry philosophy theology and new sciences converge in the project of rewriting the word God In Rewriting the Word God Romana Huk examines the substantive connections between innovative poetry of the last century and contemporary theology and philosophy Along the way we encounter ten poets who have without abandoning their inherited or chosen faith traditions radically rethought conceptualizations of divinity human ontology and the real From the startlingly proto phenomenological encounters with nature by Gerard Manley Hopkins to the post deconstructive pursuit of oracular speech in Fanny Howe these poets have found inspiration in a wide range of sources from ancient religious texts to modern philosophical movements But what unites them is their willingness to continually change experiment and challenge the status quo both in their religious beliefs and their poetic practice Huk shows how these poets have used their work to explore ultimate questions of life and death meaning and purpose and the relationship between humans and materiality humans and other humans which for these poets sheds light on humanity's relationship with the divine She also highlights the ways in which they have engaged with social and political issues in their poetry to speak out against injustice and oppression Rewriting the Word God is a thought provoking and inspiring work that will challenge current perceptions of both religion and poetry from new positions at the intersection of faith art philosophy science literary theory and culture

David Jones on Religion, Politics, and Culture David Jones, 2018-06-28 David Jones author of In Parenthesis the great poem of World War I is increasingly recognized as a major voice in the first generation of British modernist writers Acclaimed by the likes of T S Eliot W B Yeats and W H Auden his writing was deeply informed by his Catholic faith and Welsh blood This book makes available for the first time a number of previously unpublished statements by Jones that open new perspectives on his own work and the religious political and cultural engagements of British modernism more broadly Annotated throughout with detailed commentaries exploring the historical context of each document the volume presents the restored text of Jones's essay on Hitler and includes a letter to Neville Chamberlain an unfinished essay on Gerard Manley Hopkins and the transcript of an interview with Jones a year before his death These reveal an unknown side of Jones and give fresh insight into the influences and assumptions of 20th century British literary culture

The Christian Literary Imagination Michael Scott, Michael J. Collins, 2024-09-24 What is the Christian literary imagination That question was put to the writers who have contributed to this collection of essays They were asked in answering it to choose and write about a work of literature that seemed to them to illustrate one of the varied ways in which the Christian imagination sees the world to define by example the meaning of the term A variety of beliefs or indeed unbeliefs are expressed by the contributors and authors they selected to discuss But what the essays have in common is an inquiry into the nature of belief and the means by which the reader's imagination can itself be stirred through the work of the author under discussion. The book is structured chronologically with essays on literature ranging from Anglo Saxon England to 21st Century America but the contributors show a freedom of movement and reference across the centuries in their essays sometimes deliberately juxtaposing the historical with the contemporary. What emerges from the collection is a shared inquiry into the enduring Christian vision of God's engagement with the world.

Advances in Databases and Information Systems Johann Eder, Hele-Mai Haav, Ahto Kalja, Jaan Penjam, 2005-09-21 The 9th East European Conference on Advances in Databases and Information Systems was held on September 12-15 2005 in Tallinn Estonia. It was organized in a cooperation between the Institute of Cybernetics at Tallinn University of Technology, the Department of Computer Engineering of Tallinn University of Technology and the Moscow chapter of ACM SIGMOD. The main objective of the ADBIS series of conferences is to provide a forum for the dissemination of excellent research accomplishments and to promote interaction and collaboration between the Database and Information Systems research communities from Central and East European countries and the rest of the world. The ADBIS conferences provide an international platform for the presentation of research on database theory, the development of advanced DBMS technologies and their advanced applications in particular in information systems. The 2005 conference continued the ADBIS conferences held in St. Petersburg 1997, Poznań 1998, Maribor 1999, Prague 2000, Vilnius 2001, Bratislava 2002, Dresden 2003 and Budapest 2004. The conference consisted of regular sessions with technical contributions reviewed and selected by an international Program Committee as well as of invited talks and tutorials given by leading scientists. For the first time the ADBIS conferences had a satellite event, a workshop on data mining and knowledge discovery. The ADMKD 2005 workshop with its own international Program Committee as well as proceedings served as a forum to encourage researchers and practitioners to discuss and investigate data mining research and implementation issues and to share experience in developing and deploying data mining systems.

Understanding Sublimation in Freudian Theory and Modernist Writing Luke Thurston, 2024-07-03 What is at stake in Freud's enduring preoccupation with a process supposedly diverting sexuality into cultural activity? In this study, a leading scholar of psychoanalysis and literature re-opens the old question of sublimation in a critical reading that explores one of the last remaining puzzles of Freudian thought. Using the rigorous framework provided by Jean Laplanche, Luke Thurston resituates sublimation as an unfinished Freudian concept bound up with a much wider history of philosophical and literary reflection. Exploring the misunderstanding and reinvention of sublimation both in accounts of cultural history and in Lacan's celebrated reading of Antigone, Thurston challenges some of the prevalent assumptions still seen in contemporary theory. Thurston links his critical investigation of psychoanalysis to modernist literature, discovering both parallels and alternatives to Freud's idea of sublimation in little-known works by May Sinclair and David Jones. The study concludes by arguing that these modernist artists, both of whom were significantly affected by trauma during the First World War, produced work radically at odds with the established canons of representation and that this anti hermeneutic art can be linked to a Copernican sublimation a process not controlled by the ego but vitalizing it and decentring its habitual structure The Architect ,1891
