Scholarship of education and human rights in diversity Erika M. Serfontein, Charl C. Wolhuter, Shantha Naidoo, 2023-03-01 The objective of this book is to highlight the need and value of imbuing the dynamic intersections between education human rights and diversity with perspectives from the Global South The chapters approach key intellectual conundrums of the day from a Global South perspective to reflect a credible scholarly footprint in Africa and in the SADC region This is deemed timely considering that the field is deeply embedded in western Eurocentric and overall Global North dominance This book will provide a Southern perspective on education and human rights in diversity by unpacking each of the following key areas in the intersection between education human rights and diversity from a Southern perspective comparative international perspectives citizenship education human rights literacies human rights education pedagogy learner discipline in schools aggression and bullying in schools addressing human trafficking by means of human rights education social justice and the decolonisation of human rights and human rights education Globalisation,

Human Rights and Education Joseph Zajda, Yvonne Vissing, 2025-02-28 This book analyses major discourses of human rights and education It examines critically major issues confronting human rights and education both locally and globally The various chapters analyze the challenges that different societies are faced with as they attempt to implement protect and defend democracy cultural diversity and human rights in schools The book helps readers to explore their own views and consider more broadly what may be in the best interests of a fair and just society as envisioned in human rights treaties human rights education in schools and cultural diversity The Universal Right to Education Joel Spring, 2000-04 In this book Joel Spring offers a powerful and closely reasoned justification and definition for the universal right to education applicable to all cultures as provided for in Article 26 of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights One sixth of the world's population nearly 855 million people are functionally illiterate and 130 million children in developing countries are without access to basic education Spring argues that in our crowded global economy educational deprivation has dire consequences for human welfare Such deprivation diminishes political power Education is essential for providing citizens with the tools for resisting totalitarian and repressive governments and economic exploitation What is to be done The historically grounded highly original analysis and proposals Spring sets forth in this book go a long way toward answering this urgent question Spring first looks at the debates leading up to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948 to see how the various writers dealt with the issue of cultural differences These discussions provide a framework for examining the problem of reconciling cultural differences with universal concepts He next expands on the issue of education and cultural differences by proposing a justification for education that is applicable to indigenous peoples and minority cultures and languages This justification is then applied to all people within the current global economy Acknowledging that the right to an education is inseparable from children's rights he uses the concept of a universal right to education to justify children's rights and in turn applies his definition of children's liberty rights to the concept of education His synthesis of cultural language and children's rights provides the basis for a universal justification and definition for the right to education which in the concluding chapters Spring uses to propose universal guidelines for human rights education and instruction in literacy numeracy cultural centeredness and moral economy

Human Rights and Social Equality: Challenges for Social Work

Professor Sven Hesse, 2014-03-28 The mission of the social work profession and the development of social policy are rooted in a set of core values and are the foundation of social work's unique purpose and perspective Human rights offer a normative base for social work and for the formation of inclusive social policies This informative and incisively written edited collection brings together experts from around the world to explore the tension between a normative and a political base of social work and social development and therefore to address the question How can social work and social policies contribute in the endeavor to respect protect and fulfill human rights This volume will show that there is no straightforward answer to this question owing to the clash between different sociocultural and local conditions and demands for universal human rights in the Centre for Cultural and Disability Studies at Liverpool Hope University ABC of Clinical Leadership Tim Swanwick, Judy McKimm, 2017-03-20 The ABC of Clinical Leadership explores and develops the key principles of leadership and management. It outlines the scope of clinical leadership, emphasising its importance in the clinical context, especially for improving patient care and health outcomes in rapidly changing health systems and organisations. Using short illustrative case studies, the book takes a systematic approach to leadership of clinical services, systems and organisations working with others and developing individual leadership skills. This second edition has been fully updated to reflect recent developments in the field, including current thinking in leadership theory as well as a focus throughout on workforce development and working in multidisciplinary healthcare teams. International examples are used to reflect global practice, and two new chapters on leading projects and followership have been added. Combining theory and practical clinical examples and written by clinical educators with a wealth of experience of leadership in the clinical and educational environment, the ABC of Clinical Leadership is an ideal resource for all healthcare professionals both during training and for continuing professional development.
