Re-Engineering the Workplace - The Japanese Approach in Practice George P Boulden, Management Principles P. J. Smit, 2007 Book CD To improve on an award winning book poses a major challenge to its authors The authors of this book took the challenge head on by conducting a major research study to determine what exactly the outcomes are that managers at different levels must deliver in contemporary organisations in South Africa and the rest of Africa The findings of this study which dealt with current and near future management issues as well as classical and contemporary thinking about management were used as the blueprint for the updating of this book After placing management in context the authors deal with the knowledge skills and dispositions required of managers to perform the management functions of planning organising leading and controlling in a volatile business world Examples of how the functions are applied in practice are cited throughout the book These examples refer mainly to South African organisations and situations that managers in South Africa and Africa have to deal with to create and sustain a competitive advantage for their organisations The book endeavours to break down the silo effect of seeing the management functions as separate activities This is done by continuously placing the management function at hand in a bigger context This enables learners of management to assess the implications of management decisions on different people processes systems and so on that make up the organisation

Facilities Management and Corporate Real Estate Management as Value Drivers Per Anker Jensen, Theo van der Voordt, 2016-10-04 Facilities Management FM and Corporate Real Estate Management CREM are two closely related and relatively new management disciplines with developing international professions and increasing academic attention Both disciplines have from the outset a strong focus on controlling and reducing cost for real estate facilities and related services In recent years there has been a change towards putting more focus on how FM CREM can add value to the organisation This book is driven by the need to develop a widely accepted and easily applicable conceptual framework of adding value by FM and CREM It presents the state of the art of theoretical knowledge and empirical evidence about the impact of buildings and facilities on 12 value parameters and how to manage and measure these values The findings are connected to a new Value Adding Management model The book is research based with a focus on guidance to practice It offers a transdisciplinary approach integrating academic knowledge from a variety of different fields with practical experience It also includes 12 interviews with practitioners shedding light as to how they manage adding value in practice This is a much needed resource for practitioners researchers and teachers from the field of FM and CREM as well as students at both undergraduate and postgraduate level
