Flag On Devils Island:

Flag on Devil's Island Francis Lagrange, William Murray, 1962 Space in the Tropics Peter Redfield, 2000-12-19
Rockets roar into space bearing roughly half the world's commercial satellites from the same South American coastal rainforest where convicts once did time on infamous Devil's Island What makes Space in the Tropics enthralling is anthropologist Peter Redfield's ability to draw from these two disparate European projects in French Guiana a gleaming web of ideas about the intersections of nature and culture In comparing the Franco-European Ariane rocket program with the earlier penal experiment Redfield connects the myth of Robinson Crusoe nineteenth century prison reform the Dreyfus Affair tropical medicine postwar exploration of outer space satellite technology development and ecotourism with a focus on place and the incorporation of this particular place into greater extended systems Examining the wider context of the Ariane program he argues that technology and nature must be understood within a greater ecology of displacement and makes a case for the importance of margins in understanding the trajectories of modern life Condemned to Devil's Island Blair Niles, 1928 Raising the Living Dead Alberto Ortiz Díaz, 2023-03-08 Raising the Living Dead is a new history of Puerto Rico's carceral rehabilitation system in the middle decades of the twentieth century that brings to life the interactions of incarcerated people their wider social networks and health care professionals The book addresses key issues in the history of prisons and the histories of medicine and belief including how prisoners different racial class and cultural identities shaped their incarceration and how professionals living in a colonial society dealt with the challenge of rehabilitating prisoners for citizenship The main idea of the book is that in the region multiple communities of care came together both inside and outside of prisons to imagine and imperfectly enact solution oriented cultures of rehabilitation Specifically Alberto Ortiz Díaz argues that scientific and humanistic approaches to well being were deliberately fused to raise the living dead an expression that reemerged in the modern Caribbean to refer to prisoners These reform groups sought to raise incarcerated people physically mentally socially spiritually and civically The book is based on deep original archival research into the Oso Blanco White Bear penitentiary in Puerto Rico yet it situates its study within Puerto Rico's broader carceral archipelago and other Caribbean prisons The agents of this history include not only physical health professionals but also their mental health counterparts psychologists and psychiatrists social workers spiritual and religious practitioners and of course the prisoners and their families By following all these groups and emphasizing the interpersonal exercise of power Ortiz Díaz is able to tell a story that goes beyond structural and social control debates Raising the Living Dead is not just about convicts their immediate interlocutors and their contexts however but about how together these open a window into the history of social uplift projects within the neo colonial societies of the Caribbean There is no book like this in Caribbean historiography and few examine these themes in the larger literature on the history of prisons House documents, 1886 Testimonium Animae, Or, Greek and Roman Before Jesus Christ Ernest Gottlieb Sihler, 1885 Report of the Chief of Engineers
