Ideological Octopus:

The Ideological Octopus Justin Lewis, 2013-06-19 Originally published in 1991 this introduction to studying the television audience discusses developments in semiology and cultural studies and their contribution to our understanding of the power of television How in the most precise and intricate sense does television influence the way we think about the world What ideological role does it play in contemporary culture Does TV control us or do we control it This insightful book assesses the progress in responding to these questions and offers some answers of its own In the 1980s with the emergence of semiology and cultural studies in particular there were a number of significant theoretical developments in our understanding of television s power of which this book provides an overview while also incorporating traditional approaches It suggests that television influences us ambiguously and unpredictably depending upon who we are and how we think Ambiguity does not blunt television s power it simply diversifies it into a very modern kind of omnipotence Employing two major qualitative audience studies this impressive study illustrates its argument with findings that are both unexpected and disturbing

The Ideological Octopus Justin Lewis, 2013 Discursive Intersexions Michaela Koch, 2017-06-15 Life narratives and fiction that represent experiences of hermaphroditism and intersex are at the core of Michaela Koch s study The analyzed texts from the 19th to the early 21st century are embedded within and contrasted with contemporary debates in medicine psychology or activism to reveal the processes of negotiation about the meaning of hermaphroditism and intersex This cultural studies informed work challenges both strictly essentialist and constructivist notions It argues for a differentiated perspective on intersex and hermaphrodite experiences as historically contingent fully embodied and nevertheless discursive subject positions

Authoritarian Populism and the Rural World Ian Scoones, Marc Edelman, Saturnino M. Borrás Jr., Lyda Fernanda Forero, Ruth Hall, Wendy Wolford, Ben White, 2021-06-29 The rise of authoritarian nationalist forms of populism and the implications for rural actors and settings is one of the most crucial foci for critical agrarian studies today with many consequences for political action Authoritarian Populism and the Rural World reflects on the rural origins and consequences of the emergence of authoritarian and populist leaders across the world as well as on the rise of multi class mobilisation and resistance alongside wider counter movements and alternative practices which together confront authoritarianism and nationalist populism The book includes 20 chapters written by contributors to the Emancipatory Rural Politics Initiative ERPI a global network of academics and activists committed to both reflective analysis and political engagement Debates about populism nationalism authoritarianism and more have exploded recently but relatively little of this has focused on the rural dimensions Yet wherever one looks the rural aspects are key not just in electoral calculus but in understanding underlying drivers of authoritarianism and populism and potential counter movements to these Whether because of land grabs voracious extractivism infrastructural neglect or lack of services rural peoples disillusionment with the status quo has had deeply troubling consequences and occasionally hopeful ones as the chapters in this book show The chapters in this book were originally published in The Journal of Peasant Studies

Our Own Worst Enemy as Protector of Ourselves Byron B. Renz, 2010 Much communication today argues a point An argument by definition involves an attack and a counterattack not only using logic but also incorporating non logical feelings attitudes beliefs and values Much of the non logical element in our argument taps the reservoir of unconscious understandings feelings expectations and values that we have coded and stored in our unconscious minds in the form of stereotypes schemas and typifications Our internal packets of stored values and beliefs may constitute our own worst enemy as they militate against creative thought and forward looking change At the same time they may provide solace for our inner being and provide a framework for developing persuasive campaigns to further our interests The book takes us through the persuasive process particularly as it is used in terrorist persuasive settings and as it has been used in some of the major propaganda battles of the twentieth and twenty first centuries

Mediacology Antonio Lopez, 2008 Traditional media literacy models are mostly left brained inherited from the legacy of alphabetic literacy the Gutenberg press revolution and industrial mass media production New digital media radically alter the environment their nonlinear multisensory field like properties are more right brain oriented Consequently rather than focus exclusively on deconstructing the products of design objects such as an advertisement text digital learning should respond to the design of the system itself including cultural and cognitive bias Mediacology proposes a design for pattern approach called media permaculture which restructures media literacy to be in sync with new media practices connected with sustainability and the perceptual functions of the right brain hemisphere In the same way that permaculture approaches gardening by establishing the natural parameters of its ecological niche media permaculture explores the individual s mediacological niche in the context of knowledge communities By applying bioregional thinking to the symbolic order media permaculture redresses the standard one size fits all literacy model by taking into account diverse cognitive strategies and emerging convergence media practices Antonio Lopez applies a practical knowledge of alternative media cross cultural communication and ecology to build a meaningful theory of media education

Global

Currents Tasha G Oren, Patrice Petro, 2004-09-02 Rhetoric about media technology tends to fall into two extreme categories unequivocal celebration or blanket condemnation This is particularly true in debate over the clash of values when first world media infiltrate third world audiences Bringing together the best new work on contemporary media practices technologies and policies the essayists in Global Currents argue that neither of these extreme views accurately represents the role of media technology today New ways of thinking about film television music and the internet demonstrate that it is not only media technologies that affect the cultures into which they are introduced it is just as likely that the receiving culture will change the media Topics covered in the volume include copyright law and surveillance technology cyber activism in the African Diaspora transnational monopolies and local television industries the marketing and consumption of global music click politics and the war on Afghanistan the techno politics of distance education artificial intelligence and global legal institutions and traveling and squatting in digital space Balanced between major theoretical positions and original field research the selections address the political and cultural meanings that surround and configure new technologies sociological theological and ecclesiastical Hall explores the rich meaning and implications of stewardship Scripture portrays the steward as a caretaker and servant Hall compares scriptural teaching on stewardship concentrated in Jesus parables with the role of stewardship in the church's history maintaining that ever since the fourth century the church's understanding and practice of stewardship have been distorted by its alliance with institutional power Hall also puts forth apocalyptic warnings about the fate of the earth unless we heed the call to be stewards of the creation work for world peace and justice and nurture life in its many forms The church around the world says Hall urgently needs to live as steward it is a matter of death and life

Advertising and Popular Culture Jib Fowles, 1996-01-23 Is it possible that consumers exploit advertising even more so than advertising exploits and influences our culture Author Jib Fowles argues that consumers look to advertising to provide them with images that can assist them in negotiating the personal dilemmas of advanced industrial life Advertising and Popular Culture is the first comprehensive text to provide a balanced analysis of advertising and its companion the popular culture conveyed through the mass media Reflecting current theories this thoughtful critique uses excerpts from advertising campaigns to illustrate how modern advertising both draws from and contributes to popular culture Fowles traces the role of advertising in our culture from its evolution as part of the culture of mass consumption in the late 19th century the development of advertising agencies and the creation of a consumer culture to an exploration of the major themes of American advertising Advertising and Popular Culture represents a fresh and fully elaborated conceptualization of the services that advertising and popular culture provide This text will be a vital tool in departments and schools of advertising journalism and communication where increasing emphasis is being placed on studying the cultural significance of advertising

Dislike-Minded Jonathan Gray, 2021-06-22 Explains why audiences dislike certain media and what happens when they do The study and discussion of media is replete with talk of fans loves stans likes and favorites but what of dislikes distastes and alienation Dislike Minded draws from over two hundred qualitative interviews to probe what the media's failures wounds and sore spots tell us about media culture taste identity representation meaning textuality audiences and citizenship The book refuses the simplicity of Pierre Bourdieu's famous dictum that dislike is only snobbery Instead Jonathan Gray pushes onward to uncover other explanations for what it ultimately means to dislike specific artifacts of television film and other media and why this dislike matters As we watch and listen through gritted teeth Dislike Minded listens to what is being said and presents a bold case for a new line of audience research within communication media and cultural studies
