Identity Difference:

Identity\difference William E. Connolly, 2002 In this foundational work in contemporary political theory William Connolly makes a distinctive contribution to our understanding of the relationship between personal identity and democratic politics particularly in the domains of religion ethics sexuality and ethnicity Every identity Connolly argues whether individual or social presents us with a fundamental and troubling paradox an identity establishes itself in relation to a set of differences and it operates under powerful pressures to fix regulate or exclude some of these differences as otherness The dignity of a people or political regime and the quality of democratic culture depends on the acknowledgment and ethos cultivated in response to these pressures In a substantial new essay Connolly responds to the heated controversy surrounding his ideas when Identity Difference was first published in 1991 while augmenting his discussion of the virtues of critical responsiveness The issues of identity and difference cannot be ignored he contends and are ubiquitous in modern life

Connolly, 2002 Constitutionalism, Identity, Difference, and Legitimacy Michel Rosenfeld, 1994 Interest in constitutionalism and in the relationship among constitutions national identity and ethnic religious and cultural diversity has soared since the collapse of socialist regimes in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union Since World War II there has also been a proliferation of new constitutions that differ in several essential respects from the American constitution These two developments raise many important questions concerning the nature and scope of constitutionalism The essays in this volume written by an international group of prominent legal scholars philosophers political scientists and social theorists investigate the theoretical implications of recent constitutional developments and bring useful new perspectives to bear on some of the longest enduring questions confronting constitutionalism and constitutional theory Sharing a common focus on the interplay between constitutional identity and individual or group diversity these essays offer challenging new insights on subjects ranging from universal constitutional norms and whether constitutional norms can be successfully transplanted between cultures to a consideration of whether constitutionalism affords the means to reconcile a diverse society's quest for identity with its need to properly account for its differences from the relation between constitution making and revolution to that between collective interests and constitutional liberty and equality This collection's broad scope and nontechnical style will engage scholars from the fields of political theory social theory international studies and law Contributors Andrew Arato Aharon Barak Jon Elster George P Fletcher Louis Henkin Arthur J Jacobson Carlos Santiago Nino Ulrich K Preuss David A J Richards Michel Rosenfeld Dominique Rousseau Andr s Saj Frederick Schauer Bernhard Schlink M M Slaughter Cass R Sunstein Ruti G Teitel Robin West Essay on Human Reason: On the Principle of Identity and Difference Nikola Stojkoski, 2018-03-15 The nature of human reason is one of the thorniest of mysteries in philosophy The reason appears in many specific forms within general areas such as cognition thinking experiencing beauty and moral judgment These forms are perfectly known in philosophy yet an unknown pattern has been noticed which shows us that they are all a variation of the same theme truth is an identity relation between the thought and reality justice is an identity relation between the given and the deserved beauty is an identity relation as rhyme is an identity relation between the final sounds of words rhythm is an identity relation between time intervals symmetry is an identity relation between two halves proportion is an identity relation between two ratios anaphora is an identity relation between the initial words Particular things are identities in themselves and universals are identities between particulars One idea associates another idea identical to it an analogy is an identity between relations induction is an identification between the known and unknown instances and all the logic rests on the law of identity What is common for all of them is the nature of reason itself Identity and Difference Kathryn

Our Politics, Our Selves? Peter Digeser, 1995-04-17 Is statecraft soulcraft Should we look to our souls and selves in assessing the quality of our politics Is it the business of politics to cultivate shape or structure our internal lives Summarizing and answering the major theoretical positions on these issues Peter Digeser formulates a qualified permission to protect or encourage particular forms of human identity Public discourse on politics should not preclude talk about the role of reason in our souls or the importance of wholeness and community to our selves or the significance of autonomy for individuals However those who seek to place only their own conception of the self or soul within the reach of politics are as mistaken as those who would completely preclude such matters from the political realm In proposing this view Digeser responds to communitarians classical political rationalists and genealogists who argue that liberal culture fragments debases or normalizes our selves He also critically analyzes perfectionist liberals who justify liberalism by virtue of its ability to cultivate autonomy and authenticity as well as liberal neutralists who wish to avoid altogether the problem of selfcraft All these he argues fall short in some way in defining the extent to which politics should be concerned with the self Social States Alastair Iain Johnston, 2014-06-12 Constructive engagement became a catchphrase under the Clinton administration for America's reinvigorated efforts to pull China firmly into the international community as a responsible player one that abides by widely accepted norms Skeptics questioned the effectiveness of this policy and those that followed But how is such socialization supposed to work in the first place This has never been all that clear whether practiced by the Association of South East Asian Nations ASEAN Japan or the United States Social States is the first book to systematically test the effects of socialization in international relations to help explain why players on the world stage may be moved to cooperate when doing so is not in their material power interests Alastair Iain Johnston carries out his groundbreaking theoretical task through a richly detailed look at China's participation in international security institutions during two crucial decades of the rise of China from 1980 to 2000 Drawing on sociology and social psychology this book examines three microprocesses of socialization mimicking social influence and persuasion as they have played out in the attitudes of Chinese diplomats active in the Conference on Disarmament the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban the Convention on Conventional Weapons and the ASEAN Regional Forum Among the key conclusions Chinese officials in the post Mao era adopted more cooperative and more self constraining commitments to arms control and disarmament treaties thanks to their increasing social interactions in international security institutions

Identity/Difference Politics Rita Dhamoon, 2010-01-01 Theories of liberal multiculturalism have come to dominate debates about identity and difference politics in recent contemporary western political theory This book offers a nuanced critique of these debates by questioning liberal multiculturalism's preoccupation with culture and just as important its unintended consequences Identity Difference Politics switches the focus from culture to power Issues of power are examined through accounts of meaning making those processes through which meanings of difference are produced organized and regulated Other forms of identity difference such as whiteness ableism gender and heteronormativity establish the analytic and normative value of Dhamoon's alternative theoretical framework and reveal that an exclusive preoccupation with culture can dissolve into essentialism which too often provides a rationale for state regulation of groups deemed to be too different Students of contemporary political theory multiculturalism identity politics Canadian politics and culture disability studies critical race theory and feminist and gender theory will find it an invaluable resource

Agamben and Indifference William Watkin, 2013-12-06 The first truly comprehensive and fully up to date critical introduction to the philosophy of Giorgio Agamben for an interdisciplinary audience

A Democratic Enlightenment Morton Schoolman, 2020-04-03 In A Democratic Enlightenment Morton Schoolman proposes aesthetic education through film as a way to redress the political violence inflicted on difference that society constructs as its racialized gendered Semitic and sexualized other Drawing on Voltaire Diderot and Schiller Schoolman reconstructs the genealogical history of what he calls the reconciliation image a visual model of a democratic ideal of reconciliation he then theorizes through Whitman's prose and poetry and Adorno's aesthetic theory Analyzing The Help 2011 and Gentleman's Agreement 1947 Schoolman shows how film produces a more advanced image of reconciliation than those originally created by modernist artworks Each film depicts violence toward racial and ethnic difference while also displaying a reconciliation image that aesthetically educates the public about how the violence of constructing difference as otherness can be overcome Mounting a democratic enlightenment the reconciliation image in film illuminates a possible politics for challenging the rise of nationalism's violence toward differences in all their diversity
