Drucker,2017-04-18 Peter F Drucker argues that what underlies the current malaise of so many large and successful organizations worldwide is that their theory of the business no longer works The story is a familiar one a company that was a superstar only yesterday finds itself stagnating and frustrated in trouble and often in a seemingly unmanageable crisis The root cause of nearly every one of these crises is not that things are being done poorly It is not even that the wrong things are being done Indeed in most cases the right things are being done but fruitlessly What accounts for this apparent paradox The assumptions on which the organization has been built and is being run no longer fit reality These are the assumptions that shape any organization s behavior dictate its decisions about what to do and what not to do and define what an organization

considers meaningful results These assumptions are what Drucker calls a company's theory of the business The Harvard Business Review Classics series offers you the opportunity to make seminal Harvard Business Review articles a part of your permanent management library Each highly readable volume contains a groundbreaking idea that continues to shape best practices and inspire countless managers around the world and will have a direct impact on you today and for years to come

Beyond Survival Elizabeth J. Wood, Rush Miller, Amy Knapp, 2006-12-30 One part theory borrowed from business world one part practice including detailed case studies of the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Arizona one part inspiration Beyond Survival offers ideas about how academic libraries can not only survive in the short term but take advantage of emergent opportunities by judiciously adopting the same organizational development tools and concepts espoused by the business world While there is a great deal of anecdotal evidence that significant organizational changes are taking place in academic libraries the literature suggests that most of these changes take the form of evolutionary or incremental improvement But what happens when libraries find themselves in a society characterized by increased information availability compression of time and space and growing turbulence and unpredictability These are conditions with which the business world has been grappling for years conditions that require not an evolutionary approach but nimbleness and rapid response One part theory borrowed from business world one part practice including detailed case studies of the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Arizona one part inspiration Beyond Survival shows you how the transition tactics and strategies developed by businesses can be adapted to academic libraries By judiciously adopting the same organizational development tools and concepts espoused by the business world academic libraries can not only survive in the short term but can take advantage of emergent opportunities to ensure long term excellence

Human Resource Management Practices in Selected Ethiopian

Private Companies: A Study to Increase Employee Productivity in Ethiopia Dirk J. van Wasbeek, 2004-09-24 This dissertation examines how human resources are managed at selected Ethiopian private companies how Ethiopian human resource management practice is evolving and how it can be improved The examination is qualitative and exploratory since no comparative research on human resource management has yet been conducted at Ethiopian profit or non profit organizations An understanding of Ethiopian human resource management practice makes it possible to improve Ethiopian human resource management practice and thus to increase employee productivity The study took place at four manufacturing and four service companies in Addis Ababa all representative of their sector The research claim is that Ethiopian human resource management practices differ from human resource management practices in the West due to differences in cultural factors economic systems political systems and legal and industrial relations For this reason Ethiopia s culture politics economy and legal and industrial relations have been analyzed The main finding of this study is that the importance of human resource management is not uniformly understood at all the case study companies Although the multinational companies based in Ethiopia see their human resources as the companies most important asset as human capital the local companies generally do not The fact that respondents claim that Ethiopia has limited experience in industrialization might explain why human resource management in Ethiopia is rudimentary and still has a long way to go With this dissertation the researcher wants to contribute to improving Ethiopian human resource management practice Moreover this dissertation may be used as a framework for similar research in other sectors or for more specific in depth research This dissertation may also serve as a knowledge base for company managers business consultants academics and government officials of countries with a national culture similar to Ethiopia s for example Kenya Tanzania and Zambia countries undergoing or which have undergone a recent transition to a free market economy and countries facing similar macro economic developments
