Islam And Its Discontents:

Islam and Its Discontents Meddeb, Abdelwahab Meddeb's book is a crucial contribution to the debate around the West's relationship with Islam. An essay in the classic sense in its brief compass, Meddeb analyses Islam's relationship with the modern world and its fatal weakness: fundamentalism. Ranging from Medina at the time of the Prophet Mohammed through the Baghdad of the Abbasids, the impact of the Crusades and the beginnings of Wahhabism in the eighteenth century and Nietzsche to the present, Meddeb shows how Islam's tendency towards fundamentalism has been exacerbated by the developments of modernity. Powerfully even-handed, the book identifies both the weaknesses of Islam in relating to modernity as well as the failings of the West in its dealings with the Islamic world.

Revolution and its Discontents Eskandar Sadeghi-Boroujerdi, 2019-02-21. The death of the Islamic Republic's revolutionary patriarch Ayatollah Khomeini, the bitter denouement of the Iran-Iraq War and the marginalisation of leading factions within the political elite in tandem with the end of the Cold War harboured immense intellectual and political repercussions for the Iranian state and society. It was these events which created the conditions for the emergence of Iran's post-revolutionary reform movement as its intellectuals and political leaders sought to re-evaluate the foundations of the Islamic state's political legitimacy and religious authority. In this monograph, Sadeghi-Boroujerdi examines the rise and evolution of reformist political thought in Iran and analyses the complex network of publications, study circles and think tanks that encompassed a range of prominent politicians and intellectuals in the 1990s. In his meticulous account of the relationships between the post-revolutionary political class and intelligentsia, he explores a panoply of political and ideological issues still vital to understanding Iran's revolutionary state, such as the ruling political theology of the Guardianship of the Jurist, the political elite's engagement with questions of Islamic statehood, democracy and constitutionalism, and their critiques of revolutionary agency and social transformation.

War and Its Discontents J. Patout Burns, 1996-04-01. This volume examines the limits Islam, Judaism and Christianity have set for the use of coercive violence. It probes the agreements and disagreements of these major religious traditions on pacifism, the abjuration of all force and quietism, the avoidance of force unless certain stringent conditions are met. The distinguished contributors examine the foundations for nonviolence in each religion, criticize the positions each religion has taken, address the inherent challenges nonviolence poses and evaluate the difficulty of practicing nonviolence in a secular society. The concluding essay defines the common ground, isolates the points of conflict and suggests avenues of further inquiry. The most important contribution this volume makes is to demonstrate that no Western religious tradition provides a basis for the glorification of violence. Rather, each accepts warfare as a regretted necessity and sets strict limits on the use of force. This work offers new insights for those interested in the ethics of warfare, peace studies, religious traditions and international affairs.

Islam and Its Discontents Abdelwahab Meddeb, 2003. A remarkable and important contribution to the discussion of the West's relationship with the Islamic world, particularly in the light of the events of last September and crucially by an Arab rather than a Western expert Abdelwahab Meddeb's book has been a phenomenal success in France greeted as a crucial contribution to the debate around the West's relationship with Islam An essay in the classic sense of the word in its brief compass Meddeb analyses Islam's relationship with the modern world and its fatal weakness of fundamentalism Ranging from Medina at the time of the Prophet Mohammed through the Baghdad of the Abbasids the impact of the Crusades and the beginnings of wahhabism in the 18th century and from Nietzsche to Goethe and the impact of September 11 Meddeb shows how Islam's tendency towards fundamentalism has been exacerbated by the developments of modernity Powerfully even handed the book identifies both the weaknesses of Islam in relating to modernity as well as the failings of the West in its dealings with the Islamic world In all the outpouring of analysis since September 11 2001 this book stands alongside a handful of others as a crucial text in un Islam and Human Rights in Practice Shahram

Akbarzadeh, Benjamin MacQueen, 2008-06-03 Questions over the compatibility of Islam and Human Rights have become a key area of debate in the perceived tensions between Islam and the West In many ways discussion over the stance of Islam in relation to such factors as gender rights religious freedom social and political freedoms and other related issues represents a microcosm of the broader experience of how Muslim and Western communities interact and relate This volume seeks to engage with the various debates surrounding Islam and Human Rights in particular challenging assumptions of a standard or essential Muslim perspective on Human Rights Through a survey of the experiences of Muslim communities across the globe the ummah this volume highlights the dynamic way Muslims understand and incorporate Human Rights into their personal social and political experiences From conceptual discussions on the issues of gender rights and religious freedom to examining Muslim communities from South East Asia Central Asia the Middle East and North Africa leading global experts bring forth key insights into the way in which Muslim communities live and experience Human Rights The potential for deeper engagement with this issue is critical as it opens possibilities for more profound understanding and tolerance

Routledge Handbook of Political Islam Shahram Akbarzadeh, 2012-03-12 The Routledge Handbook of Political Islam provides a multidisciplinary overview of the phenomenon of political Islam one of the key political movements of our time Drawing on the expertise from some of the top scholars in the world it examines the main issues surrounding political Islam across the world from aspects of Muslim integration in the West to questions of political legitimacy in the Muslim world Bringing together an international team of renowned and respected experts on the topic the chapters in the book present a critical account of Theoretical foundations of political Islam Historical background Geographical spread of Islamist movements Political strategies adopted by Islamist groups Terrorism Attitudes towards democracy Relations between Muslims and the West in the international sphere Challenges of integration Gender relations Presenting readers with the diversity of views on political Islam in a nuanced and dispassionate manner this handbook is an essential addition to the existing literature on Islam and politics It will be of interest across a wide range of disciplines including political science

Islamic studies sociology and history      Contemporary Islam Abdul Aziz Said, Mohammed Abu-Nimer, Meena Sharify-Funk, 2006-09-27 Contemporary Islam provides a counterweight to the prevailing opinions of Islamic thought as conservative and static with a preference for violence over dialogue It gathers together a collection of eminent scholars from around the world who tackle issues such as intellectual pluralism gender the ethics of political participation human rights non violence and religious harmony This is a highly topical and important study which gives a progressive outlook for Islam's role in modern politics and society      Civility and Its Discontents Christine T. Sissare, 2004 Contributors from philosophy and political science discuss the observation that civility civic virtue tolerance and socio cultural unity have declined while exploring the nature of civil society the conflict between individual liberty and the common good and the role of law and government policy in weaving the threads of the social fabric From publisher description      Islamic Feminisms Roja Fazaeli, 2016-11-10 This book explores the contentious topic of women's rights in Muslim majority countries with a specific focus on Iran and the Iranian women's movement from 1906 to the present The work contextualizes the authorial self through the use of personal narrative and interviews A new critique of Islamic law is produced through an in depth study of the Iranian Constitution civil and criminal codes The work presents a novel reconceptualization of the term Islamic feminism by revisiting the arguments of various scholars and through analysis of interviews with Iranian women's rights activists It is contended that the feminist movements can play a critical role in Islamic law reform and consequently the eventual implementation of international human rights law in Muslim majority countries What emerges from this study is not only a feminist critique of two major regimes of law but also the identification of possibilities for reform in the future The study transitions from the Iranian national context to the international by way of a comparative legal study of international human rights laws and Islamic laws The book will appeal both to academics and human rights practitioners      Islamic Feminism Mulki Al-Sharmani, 2024-10-17 Mulki Al Sharmani undertakes a close textual analysis of the hermeneutics of selected Islamic feminism scholars as they engage with the Qur'an Hadith and different textual genres in Islamic interpretive tradition She focuses on the relevant works of nine prominent scholars located in North America Egypt Morocco and South Africa Bringing their works into conversation with one another Islamic Feminism critically examines the epistemological and methodological contributions and challenges of these scholars Al Sharmani shows how these scholars' engagements with the question of gender also yields new insights into the interplay between Islamic theology ethics and law Drawing on extensive multi-sited ethnographic research Al Sharmani examines the societal significance and limits of the studied scholarship and how it informs and is informed by multidimensional Muslim gender activism in both global and local contexts Towards the latter aim Al Sharmani focuses on two case studies the global movement Musawah and Egyptian Islamic feminism in the aftermath of the 2011 Revolution      Feminism and Islamic Fundamentalism Haideh Moghissi, 1999-07 A highly controversial intervention into the debate on postmodernism and feminism this book looks at what happens when these modes of analysis are jointly employed to illuminate the sexual politics of Islam As a religion Islam has been demonized for its gender practices like no other This book analyzes that Orientalism with particular reference to representations of Muslim women and describes the real sexual politics of Islam The author goes on to describe the rise of Islamic fundamentalism and the West's response to it She argues that regardless of the sophisticated argument of postmodernists and their suspicion of power as an intellectual and political movement postmodernism has put itself in the service of power and the status quo Moghissi brilliantly demonstrates how this trend has given rise to a neo conservative feminism A major feminist critique of Islamic fundamentalism this book asks some hard questions of those who in denouncing the racism of Western feminism have taken up an uncritical embrace of the Islamic identity of Muslim women It is urgent reading for all those concerned about human rights as well as for students and academics of women's studies political science social theory and religious studies The Making of the Modern Muslim State Malika Zeghal, 2024-03-26 This monograph explores the ways in which modern states in the Muslim majority world manage their responsibility for the protection and promotion of Islam Provided by publisher

Islam after Liberalism Faisal Devji, Zaheer Kazmi, 2017-12-01 Forged in the age of empire the relationship between Islam and liberalism has taken on a sense of urgency today when global conflicts are seen as pitting one against the other More than describing a civilizational fault line between the Muslim world and the West however this relationship also offers the potential for consensus and the possibility of moral and political engagement or compatibility The existence or extent of this correspondence tends to preoccupy academic as much as popular accounts of such a relationship This volume looks however to the way in which Muslim politics and society are defined beyond and indeed after it Reappraising the first wave of Islamic liberalism during the nineteenth century the book describes the long and intertwined histories of these categories across a large geographical expanse By drawing upon the contributions of scholars from a variety of disciplines including philosophy theology sociology politics and history it explores how liberalism has been criticised and refashioned by Muslim thinkers and movements to assume a reality beyond the abstractions that define its compatibility with Islam International Law and

Islamic Law Mashood A. Baderin, 2017-07-05 The relationship between modern international law and Islamic law has raised many theoretical and practical questions that cannot be ignored in the contemporary study and understanding of both international law and Islamic law The significance and relevance of this relationship in both academic and practical terms especially after the terrorist attacks of 11 September 2001 is now well understood Recent international events in particular corroborate the need for a better understanding of the relationship between contemporary international law and Islamic law and how their interaction can be explored and improved to enhance modern international relations and international law The articles reproduced in this volume examine the issues of General Principles of International Law International Use of Force International Humanitarian Law International Terrorism International Protection of Diplomats International Environmental and Water Law Universality of Human Rights Women's Rights Rights of the Child Rights of Religious Minorities and State

Practice The essays have been carefully selected to reflect as much as possible the different Islamic perspectives on each of these aspects of international law Islam, Secularism, and Liberal Democracy Nader Hashemi, 2009-04-02 Islam's relationship to liberal democratic politics has emerged as one of the most pressing and contentious issues in international affairs Nader Hashemi challenges the widely held belief among social scientists that religious politics and liberal democratic development are structurally incompatible While there are certainly tensions between religion and democracy the two are not irreconcilable Liberal democracy requires a form of secularism to sustain itself yet the main political cultural and intellectual resources that Muslim democrats can draw upon are religious How can this paradox be reconciled Hashemi makes three principal arguments First in societies where religion is a key marker of identity the road to liberal democracy must pass through the gates of religious politics The process of democratization therefore cannot be artificially de-linked from debates about the normative role of religion in government Secondly while liberal democracy requires secularism religious traditions are not born with an inherent secular and democratic conception of politics These ideas must be developed and in an emerging democracy how they are developed is critical Finally Hashemi argues that there is an intimate relationship between religious reformation and political development While the first often precedes the second these processes are deeply interlinked Democratization does not require a privatization of religion but it does require a reinterpretation of religious ideas that are conducive to liberal democracy By engaging in this reinterpretation religious groups can play a central role in the development and consolidation of democracy Islam Secularism and Liberal Democracy argues for a rethinking of democratic theory so that it incorporates the variable of religion in the development of liberal democracy In the process it proves that an indigenous theory of Muslim secularism is not only possible but is a necessary requirement for the advancement of liberal democracy in Muslim societies The Concept of Tolerance in Judaism, Christianity and Islam Catharina Rachik, Georges Tamer, 2025-10-06 Tolerance as a universal value of modernity is not usually associated in popular consciousness with religion which is often regarded as inherently intolerant This volume addresses the hermeneutics of tolerance as it pertains to Judaism Christianity and Islam Each author offers a distinctive theological interpretation of traditional sources elucidating the potential and limitations of tolerance in the monotheistic thought Additionally the book presents examinations of the promotion of tolerance in diverse historical and cultural contexts illustrating both similarities and differences between the three religions The evidence presented in this volume demonstrates that tolerance occupies an important place in Judaism Christianity and Islam Interfaith Just Peacemaking S. Thistlethwaite, 2012-01-02 Interfaith Just Peacemaking is a collected work by 27 Jewish Muslim and Christian scholars and religious leaders on the ten practice norms of the peacemaking paradigm called Just Peace Just Peace theory like the paradigm it most resembles Just War theory is a list of specific practices that are applied to concrete contexts Islam and Postcolonial Discourse Esra Mirze Santesso, James McClung, 2017-01-27 Largely though not exclusively as a legacy of the

2001 attack on the World Trade Center Islamic faith has become synonymous in many corners of the media and academia with violence which many believe to be its primary mode of expression The absence of a sophisticated recognition of the wide range of Islamic subjectivities within contemporary culture has created a void in which misinterpretations and hostilities thrive Responding to the growing importance of religion specifically Islam as a cultural signifier in the formation of a postcolonial self this multidisciplinary collection is organized around contested terms such as secularism Islamopolitics female identity and Islamophobia The overarching goal of the contributors is to facilitate a deeper understanding of the full range of experiences within Islam as well as the figure of the Muslim thus enabling a new set of questions about religion s role in shaping postcolonial identity

Between Islam and the State Berna Turam, 2007 Examines how shifting power dynamics between the state and Islamic forces during the 1990s have transformed both Islam and the Turkish state Islam and Democracy in Iran Ziba Mir-Hosseini, Richard Tapper, 2006-05-26 In today s world all eyes are on Iran which has grappled with an experiment that has had a massive global impact For some the Iranian Revolution of 1978 79 was the triumph of a modern political Islam heralding Muslim justice and economic prosperity Others including many of the original revolutionaries saw religious fanatics attempting to roll back time by creating a despotic theocracy Either way the Iranian Revolution changed the Muslim world It not only inspired the Muslim masses but also reinvigorated intellectual debates on the nature and possibilities of an Islamic state The new Islamic Republic of Iran combined not just religion and the state but theocracy and democracy Yet the revolution s heirs were soon engaged in a protracted struggle over its legacy Dissident thinkers from within an Islamic framework sought a rights based political order that could accept dissent tolerance pluralism women s rights and civil liberties Their ideas led directly to the presidency of Mohammad Khatami and despite their political failure they did leave a permanent legacy by demystifying Iranian religious politics and condemning the use of the Shariah to justify autocratic rule This book tells the story of the reformist movement through the world of Hasan Yousefi Eshkevari An active supporter of the revolution who became one of the most outspoken critics of theocracy Eshkevari developed ideas of Islamic democratic government which have attracted considerable attention in Iran and elsewhere In presenting a selection of Eshkevari s writings this book reveals the intellectual and political trajectory of a Muslim thinker and his attempts to reconcile Islam with reform and democracy As such it makes a highly original contribution to our understanding of the difficult social and political issues confronting the Islamic world today
