Iss Development Dilemma:

Development Dilemmas Melvin D. Ayogu, Don Ross, 2005 The new economy is characterized in the developing world by open capital markets and coordinated international regulation neither of which existed in the colonial period Dislocation and Resettlement in Development Anjan Chakrabarti, Anup Kumar Dhar, 2009-09-10 Challenging the more conventional approaches to dislocation and resettlement that are the usual focus of discussion on the topic this book offers a unique theory of dislocation in the form of primitive accumulation Interrogating the reformist managerial and radical movementist approaches it historicizes and politicizes the event of dislocation as a moment to usher in capitalism through the medium of development Such a framework offers alternative avenues to rethinking dislocation and resettlement and indeed the very idea of development Arguing that dislocation should not be seen as a necessary step towards achieving progress as it is claimed in the development discourse the authors show that dislocation emerges as a socio political constituent of constructing capitalism This book will be of interest to academics working on Development Studies especially on issues relating to the political economy of development and globalization Land Acquisition and Resource Development in Contemporary India Shashi Ratnakar Singh, 2021-04-01 This book derives from research and fieldwork in the rural and tribal hinterland of India particularly in the mineral rich states It looks at the nuances of land and resource politics and summarizes the long standing land acquisition and mining debate It discusses the relevant theoretical arguments from interdisciplinary perspectives and develops an argument through the case study of Singrauli a region in Madhya Pradesh in India that has seen various regimes of dispossession in the last six decades in India It looks at the legal and policy arguments around right to property fair compensation public purpose and the resource curse debate and at contested spaces left wing extremism and resource capital relationships Displaced by Development Lyla Mehta, 2009-01-06 This compilation is a rare attempt to apply gender analysis to development induced displacement and resettlement in the Indian context It brings together leading scholar activists researchers and contributors from people's movements to critique and draw attention to the injustices perpetrated during such processes Facing up to the need to focus specifically on how displacement and resettlement affect social groups differently with regard to axes such as gender class caste and tribe the articles show that disenfranchised groups are deemed dispensable and tend to be affected the most and that women and children among them suffer disproportionately Displaced by Development Confronting Marginalisation and Gender Injustice argues that without differentiated analyses and programmes displacement and resettlement will continue to intensify and perpetuate gender and social injustice This work will hold the interest of a wide readership and will be a crucial source of information for those working in the areas of Gender and Social Policy Economics and Development Studies Sociology of Gender Environment and Development Migration Studies Anthropology and South Asian studies It will also interest policy makers in development agencies activists and non governmental organisations concerned with forced displacement and migration issues
