Issues In African Rural Development 1991:

Efficiency of Agricultural Production in Small- and Medium-scale Irrigation in Nigeria Dittoh, J. S. (J. Saa), 1991

Contending Issues in African Development Obioma M. Iheduru, 2001-02-28 Taking a forward looking approach this book critically examines the issues and dynamics central to Africa's problematic development and situates these issues within the continent's unique cultural political economic and social milieu. Moving away from a simple litany of problems bedeviling Africa's economy the book is the culmination of several scholars' efforts to identify specific causative factors. Each chapter delineates a specific issue demonstrates the role it plays in overall development and speculates on probable ways to meet the challenges it poses. The major conceptual and epistemological constructs considered include the tamed African State social capacity management of change reconceptualized gender roles and economic integration. Although the contributors' various approaches diverge and disagree the epistemological variations contribute cumulatively to an understanding of the issues at the root of Africa's slow pace of development. While traversing the spectrum of issues that affect development the book uniquely points out that the management of change is pivotal to fostering development. The authors' efforts provide a useful base for future research and help to chart a course of action leading to success in the 21st century. Abstracts on Rural Development in the Tropics, 1993 Marginality and Crisis Akanmu G. Adebayo, Olutayo Charles Adesina, Rasheed Olaniyi Olaniyi, 2010-05-25 Marginality and Crisis Globalization and Identity in Contemporary Africa extends the scope and understanding of the effects of globalization and its forces on Africa. With each chapter written by specialists who recognize that the future of Africa is entwined with that of the rest of the world this volume explains with fresh vigor the new thinking on the historical specificity value opportunity and shortcomings of globalization for a continent many regard as marginalized and in crisis. In the face of much pessimism several questions have engaged the attention of this young generation of African scholars: Where is Africa in relation to globalization? Where are the things that make Africa Africa such as economy politics culture identity and human relations headed? Are Africa's communities helpless against global forces or empowered by new avenues of access? How do scholars and policymakers engage the problems of globalization vis-à-vis Africa's ethnic linguistic and other identities? What are the economic and political trajectories in various countries and localities? An invaluable source for scholars students and the general reader the essays in this book have confidently and clearly explored and explained the crises that have engulfed the continent in the age of globalization. Unlike other works that have dwelt only on the continent's victimhood this volume identifies key areas in which Africa can become more proactive and outward looking in response to the forces and values that take the globe as their reference points. Indigenous and Scientific Knowledge for Sustainable Food Systems in Africa Saa Dittoh, Anna Bon, Hans

Akkermans, 2025-04-25 This open access book presents a novel approach to food security research SDG 2 Zero Hunger by integrating indigenous and scientific knowledge. Through extensive field based research in Burkina Faso Ghana Kenya Mali and South Africa it explores the impact of merging traditional practices and local knowledge with scientific methods Through field studies the book shows the value of local knowledge and community led innovations in combating hunger achieving food security and enhancing nutrition sustainably and food sovereignty Drawing on decades of research in rural Africa the authors introduce the Plug In Principle a theory for integrating indigenous and modern knowledge systems to foster sustainable agricultural practices and enriched food ecosystems in Africa The Plug In Principle advocates that advancements in science and technology should enhance rather than replace existing indigenous knowledge This principle emerged from the failures of many development interventions where attempts at replacement often led to challenges and failures In agriculture for instance interventions in mechanization soil amendments seed and breed improvements and extension services have seldom succeeded due to a lack of integration with existing practices The Plug In Principle emphasizes that effective knowledge integration hinges on a deep understanding and appreciation of prevailing systems By designing interventions that seamlessly plug in to existing technologies we can ensure the co creation of effective solutions to the challenges we face This book is a testament to the potential of collaborative innovation in fostering sustainable development Development workers policymakers researchers students and donor agencies in agriculture and other development areas will find this volume invaluable Additionally scholars focused on decolonization and indigenous knowledge in the Global South will uncover insightful case studies and analyses Abstracts on Tropical Agriculture ,1993 The Feminization of Development

Indigenous Land Management in West Africa Kathleen M. Baker, 2000 The success of rural development schemes in Africa particularly those involving land is heavily dependent on understanding the local ecology Any farmer knows this yet rarely has development project design catered adequately for the vicissitudes of the African environment Although environmental unpredictability was recognized in the temperate zone by the mid nineteenth century the ecological theory which was subsequently developed and most widely accepted was based on concepts of norms and equilibria History has shown that the application of such ecological assumptions to African environments is wholly inappropriate This book argues that many methods used by West African smallholder farmers and pastoralists are properly adapted to the region's unpredictable physical environment Field examples from the semi arid and humid zones demonstrate the nature of environmental variability and the skill of indigenous farmers and pastoralists in exploiting this It is thus argued that development planners should where possible model development schemes on the more successful ecologically sound methods of indigenous land management

The Politics of Cultural Knowledge Njoki Wane, Arlo Kempf, Marlon Simmons, 2011-10-25 The advent and implementation of European colonialism have disrupted innumerable epistemological geographies around the globe Countless cultural ways of knowing and local educational practices have in some way been displaced and dislocated within the universalizing project of the Euro Colonial Empire This book revisits the colonial relations of culture and education questions various embedded imperial procedures and extricates the strategic offerings of local ways of knowing which resisted colonial imposition The contributors of this collection are concerned with the ways in which colonial education forms the governing edict for local peoples In The Politics of Cultural Knowledge the authors offer an alternative reading of conventional discussions of culture and what counts as knowledge concerning race class gender sexuality identity and difference in the context of the Diaspora history Staff Paper ,1996 Farewell to Farms Deborah Fahy Bryceson,Vali Jamal,2019-05-23 First published in 1997 this volume asks whether Africa s future is necessarily rooted in peasant agriculture The title of this book Farewell to Farms is deliberately intended to challenge the widely held view that Africa is the world s reserve for peasant farming African rural populations are themselves moving away from a reliance on agriculture De agrarianisation takes the form of urban migration as well as the expansion of non agricultural activities in rural areas providing new income sources occupations and social identities for rural dwellers Using recent continent wide case study evidence the authors assess the impact of de agrarianisation on household welfare business performance and national development Their findings which reveal new economic trajectories and social patterns emerging from a period of accelerated change call into question assumptions about Africa s future place in the world division of labour Coups, Rivals, and the Modern State Beth Rabinowitz,2018-03 Using extensive research this book argues that successful African leaders consolidate their rule by developing strategic rural coalitions List of Departmental Publications in Agricultural and Applied Economics University of Minnesota. Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics,1980 State ,1992 Democratization and the Protection of Human Rights in Africa Brendalyn P. Ambrose,1995-08-24 Development was achieved in the West by capitalism and industrialization before liberal democracy was introduced as a viable form of government Africa is grappling with the problems of underdevelopment Yet the West insists on liberal democracy for Africa a form of government which has no economic and social foundations in Africa The West now faults the African people for not being able to establish and sustain democratic institutions Ambrose an African development practitioner who recently returning from the continent after three intense years of fact finding research and consultation argues that the solution to Africa s problems does not lie in externally imposed liberal institutions shored up by top down bureaucracy that most often is ignorant unresponsive or outright hostile to the needs of the impoverished majority Her investigations lead her to believe that the solution for Africa lies in a collective approach based on empowerment of the masses and economic reforms State And Market In Postapartheid South Africa Merle Lipton,Charles Simkins,2019-07-11 This book argues that South Africa experienced extensive periods of trade liberalisation in the 1970s and 1980s It discusses the libertarian analysis of state failure particularly the libertarian argument that market failures are less serious and less extensive than was once thought
