Susan Goodwin, Kate Huppatz

Issues Facing Australian Families:

Issues Facing Australian Families Wendy Weeks, Marjorie Quinn, 2000 This edition of this successful title retains the broad structure of the previous editions examining policy program and practice responses to the multitude of issues that face Australian families today Quality contributors bring theoretical and practical expertise to discussions on housing wealth and income distribution work and unemployment gender relations and health Co editor Marjorie Quinn brings to the book a wealth of practical experience in direct human service delivery The third edition maintains the balance between policy program and practice

Issues Facing Australian Families Robyn Batten, Wendy Weeks, John Wilson, 1991 Social work text moving beyond the traditional nuclear family structure to consider contemporary Australia's diverse family experience Includes articles on gender inequality and violence children's rights and community care from specialist contributors Issues are examined at the three levels of policy programmes and practice in social work

Family, Gender and Kinship in Australia Allon J. Uhlmann, 2016-04-15 This ethnographically based exploration draws on sociological historical and demographic data to provide a comprehensive analysis of family gender and kinship in Australia which informs modern kinship and gender at large Allon Uhlmann charts the cultural basis that underlies kinship practices and argues that the Australian family is characterized by deep cultural and social continuities rather than the common view that the family is undergoing substantial change He further shows how the modern family both shapes and is shaped by broad social and economic processes This analysis provides greater insight into this critical field of practice as well as showcasing a novel analytical approach to practice that is rooted in the sociology of practice and in the anthropology of cognition The book also suggests changes to the way in which social scientists currently treat family and kinship

Australia's Welfare Wars Revisited Philip Mendes, 2007 This book explores the role played by ideologies and lobby groups in determining welfare state outcomes with specific reference to up to date theories about globalisation

The Sociology of Social Problems Adam Jamrozik, Luisa Nocella, 1998-07-13 Social problems such as unemployment poverty and drug addiction are a fact of life in industrialised societies This book examines the sociology of social problems from interesting and challenging perspectives It analyses how social problems emerge and are defined as such who takes responsibility for them who is threatened by them and how they are managed solved or ignored The authors examine and critique existing theories of social problems before developing their own theoretical framework Their theory of residualist conversion of social problems explains how certain social problems threaten legitimate power structures so that problems of a social or political nature are transformed into personal problems and the helping professions are left to intervene This book will become a key reference on class inequality and social intervention and an important text for students in sociology and social work courses

Contemporary Issues Facing Families Ileana Rogobete, Alexandru Neagoe, 2014-09-26 The rapid social and economic changes together with the growing diversity and complexity of family life make it imperative for professionals to redefine the conceptual framework for understanding contemporary families towards more holistic approaches The present volume brings together the contributions of different academics and practitioners working in various fields of activity psychology psychotherapy sociology social work theology education medicine and other related disciplines The deliberate goal of this interdisciplinary dialogue is a shift in the focus of the discourse regarding families from the all too common tendency of viewing them in terms of dysfunctions and pathological symptoms towards exploring and celebrating family strengths resilience hope and transformation

Information Technology, Organizations and People Jeff Watkins, 2002-09-11 This wide ranging volume presents in depth research into the effect of new information technologies on organizational structure assesses their progress towards transformation and describes the changes they are making to long established business process roles cultures and working practices The book is based upon a series of rolling surveys carried out between 1989 and the present day and funded by leading organizations such as IBM and KPMG It provides a detailed picture of a sector in transition during a period of anxiety and doubt dominated by restructuring downsizing and experimentation with re engineering As the lean and mean emerge they must now ask themselves if their competencies will enable them to survive into the next decade as competitors such as Sainsburys Virgin Microsoft and Ford position themselves to become major players in the sector This book is a major contribution to the debate on the growth of knowledge work the need for core organizational competencies in the information age and the need for evolutionary or radical change

Gender and Groupwork Marcia Cohen, Audrey Mullender, 2003-09-02 Thinking about gender can enrich the work of all groupwork practitioners and can make a real difference in people s lives Based on practice experience in both the UK and the USA Gender and Groupwork brings together the best of groupwork knowledge skills and values in a true transatlantic partnership The book summarises the history of gender based groups for both women and men and outlines a wide range of exciting and challenging examples of groups in different contexts Often moving and always engrossing these accounts encompass groups for older women and women facing inequalities in health care Innovative work with homeless people with caregivers and lesbian and gay youth is described in detail and there is a particular focus on domestic violence where groups can often the intervention of choice Gender and Groupwork demonstrates that despite the challenges of post structuralism and postmodernism the practice of groupwork is alive and well It provides new ideas and new models to help move practice forward making it a welcome addition to the groupwork literature

The Australian Welfare State John Wilson, Jane Thomson, Anthony McMahon, 1996 Textbook for tertiary students which provides documentary sources as well as commentaries from academics in the field to outline the historical development of the Australian welfare state Suitable for introductory courses in social welfare politics sociology and public policy The material is presented in five parts including policies for the employed in the last century the struggle of Australian women to receive employment and child related benefits from the state the development of policies relating to indigenous and immigrant Australians and how the welfare state has dealt with the aged and refugees The final part considers documents in Australian history that contrast discordant understandings of the purposes of the welfare state Includes a table of contents an index and list of references Also available in hardback Understanding Trauma and Resilience Louise Harms,2015-05-18 This book addresses the multifaceted nature of trauma by bringing together the many theoretical perspectives that explain how people cope with traumatic life experiences Practitioners working across the people professions frequently find themselves working with service users patients and clients who are survivors of trauma Ranging between attachment person centred and anti oppressive approaches this text will help students and practitioners widen their approaches to such clients experiences Whether you are a student or practitioner of counselling social work or mental health this book provides the foundations for understanding people s responses and resilience against traumatic life experiences

Critical Social Work June Allan,Linda Briskman,2020-07-16 Another important contribution to the growing literature on critical social work It is on the cutting edge of thinking about social work and its goal of social change Kate van Heugten Social Work Review Critical Social Work starts from the premise that a central goal of social work practice is social change to redress social inequality Taking a critical theoretical approach the authors explore the links between personal and social change They confront the challenges for critical social work in the context of pressures to separate the personal from the political and in responding to the impact of changes in the socio political statutory and global contexts of practice Critical Social Work has been thoroughly revised to take into account recent social economic and political developments Coverage of theoretical frameworks has been substantially expanded and reflects current concerns such as evidence based practice and human rights The causes of people s marginalisation and oppression are examined in relation to class race ethnicity gender and other forms of social inequality Case study chapters in the earlier edition on working with immigrants Indigenous people women men families people with psychiatric disabilities and those experiencing loss and grief have been updated and revised The second edition includes new case study chapters on disability older people children rurality and violence and abuse Critical Social Work is an essential resource to inform progressive social work practice Social Welfare and Social Value Richard Hugman,1998-07-31 Changes in ideas about social welfare have required caring professions to adapt their practices in ways which have challenged their underlying values and their relationships with service users Focusing on nursing remedial therapy and social work this book examines core social values expressed through policy The implications of these ideas for the caring professions in social welfare are explored as are important questions about the use of industrial and commercial metaphors in health and human services Taking Care of Men Anthony McMahon,1999-08-13 The idea of the sensitive post feminist new man has received great attention This book sets out to determine how much of the hype is based on fact and why such images have proliferated in the media McMahon focuses on the pivotal issue of men s relationship to the vital daily work of caring for people both physically and emotionally revealing much confusion about the extent and the interpretation of change Using statistical data as well as interview transcripts and media analysis McMahon draws insightful distinctions between pleasure and performance assistance and responsibility gendered personality and gendered jobs and underlying all between consumption and production Incorporating social theory psychology and popular culture this book argues that recent social conversation about men largely avoids the important political point that men s material interests provide a major motivation for resistance to pro equity change

Women, Work and Care of the Elderly Elizabeth A. Watson, Jane Mears, 2019-06-04 First published in 1999 this book is based on social policy research taking a particular view of the nature of social policy one that focuses on the direct impact of all public policies on the welfare of citizens and which defines policy as inclusive of all areas of policy development and implementation The view of policy which clients and customers provide is thus a significant dimension of social policy The research is one of the few studies which focuses specifically on carers who are also in the paid work force and want to remain in paid work and to fulfil their caring responsibilities An overriding concern of the research is how workplaces government policy and community attitudes can be changed to foster a better and more supportive environment for workers who are caring The research points to the need to change workplace policies and organisational cultures to confer legitimacy on the felt obligation and responsibility to care for older relatives The responsibility of employers are explored and the knowledge competencies and time management skills demonstrated in unpaid caring work are found to match the skill set generally required of a modern manager thereby offering important lessons for employer and employee alike

The Black Grapevine Linda Briskman, 2003 The Black Grapevine tells the extraordinary story of Indigenous efforts to stop children becoming part of the stolen generations and to end the government policies and practices which destroyed their families Linda Briskman uses the story of the Secretariat of National Aboriginal and Island Child Care SNAICC to centre her book Indigenous people involved tell how they came together to form a national organisation for child care how they found similar experiences from one end of Australia to the other how they pooled experience and emotion to provide support for one another how they lobbied for a national inquiry And they campaigned Indigenous activists fought with astonishing resilience for recognition of past and present practices for the right to have Indigenous viewpoints to the forefront and for resources Briskman s story goes beyond the contest with the state to give a convincing portrait of the ways in which Indigenous groups worked There are connections with international action educational and fund raising projects and the much vaunted annual Aboriginal and Islander Children s Day She concludes by reflecting on the successes of campaigns and actions to date and the extent of unfinished business Her strong academic background combines with the oral testimony of the activists to produce a fast moving book that is both entertaining and rigorous

Longevity and Social Change in Australia Allan Borowski, Sol Encel, Elizabeth Ozanne, 2007 Covers a wide range of issues including health retirement incomes aged care family relations employment housing and town planning special attention is given to the particular structural disadvantages affecting women Aboriginal Australians and ethnic minorities

Organisations and Management in Social Work Mark Hughes, Michael

Wearing,2021-11-03 As a social worker you could work in a variety of different organisations each with their own purpose culture and structure Understanding and examining the complex issues involved in the management and organisational context of social work practice is crucial for practitioners and managers This book helps you to develop strategies for ethical reflective and relational practice covers key themes including leadership supervision risk and decision making and emphasises the importance of active participation for positive change Thoroughly updated and with new Practice Examples demonstrating the relationship between theory and practice this is essential reading for both undergraduate and postgraduate students of social work as well as practising social workers      Indigenous Social Work around the World John Coates,2016-05-23 How can mainstream Western social work learn from and in turn help advance indigenous practice This volume brings together prominent international scholars involved in both Western and indigenous social work across the globe including James Midgley Linda Briskman Alean Al Krenawi and John R Graham to discuss some of the most significant global trends and issues relating to indigenous and cross cultural social work The contributors identify ways in which indigenization is shaping professional social work practice and education and examine how social work can better address diversity in international exchanges and cross cultural issues within and between countries Key theoretical methodological and service issues and challenges in the indigenization of social work are reviewed including the way in which adaptation can lead to more effective practices within indigenous communities and emerging economies and how adaptation can provide greater insight into cross cultural understanding and practice      Working with Anger Peter Cummins,2006-06-14 Client anger is a perennial problem for a range of professionals working in clinical settings Working with Anger presents an alternative strategy to the most common approach cognitive behavioural therapy CBT exploring instead how anger can be tackled from a personal constructivist perspective It provides a conceptual framework and practical advice on the clinical issues of working with anger including case study examples service user perspective a philosophical and developmental underpinning and suggested ways of preventing anger development Ways of working with anger are illustrated including Group based treatments Individual treatment Working with adults Working with children and adolescents Working with families Gender and anger Methods of evaluating anger programmes This practical volume will enable clinicians to set up run and evaluate their own anger programmes using the constructivist approach It will therefore be a valuable resource for professionals such as clinical and forensic psychologists psychiatrists psychotherapists nurses and social workers      The Good Mother Susan Goodwin,Kate Huppatz,2010-09-21 Although the ideals of the good mother change with time fashion and context they persist in public policy the media popular culture and workplaces placing pressure on women to conform to particular standards against which they are judged and judge themselves The Good Mother demonstrates that prevailing ideas about mothers and motherhood continue to influence the way types of women are represented and the way that all mothers think act and present themselves
