

DECONSTRUCTION

- Invites us to “unravel” the constructs around us and to re-examine appearance and reality
- Seeks to show that a literary work is self-contradictory
- In high school we teach that meanings are “fixed” there is an “answer” or meaning behind works of art. So how does this explain that people have different interpretations of what art is?
- Most high school teachers would never teach this form of analysis

In the Borderlands of Teaching and Learning Bryant Griffith,2019-02-11 The craft of teaching and learning is like playing in a symphony orchestra every instrument has a voice and every voice is integral to the whole The arts history anthropology and philosophy and their forged discourses offer us a series of cautionary tales about the multiplicity of ways we can see and understand our world ways we often ignore in the classroom In the case of epistemology and pedagogy in particular we have hinged our understanding on a binary of opposites engaged in a dialectic dance and a type of discourse constructed to describe and explain it The art and act of teaching in this as if world necessitates teachers to be public intellectuals intellectual symbols who represent something more than just subject knowledge expertise but serve as conduits between the discourses of our world Established genres and discourses are exclusionary The vast migration of people and ideas is producing a new set of presuppositions The manner in which we decode other discourses and fuse them into meanings both personal and shared is the root of both teaching and learning giving us a window into the way that each form of thought is connected both historically and experientially Look around you your school is becoming the United Nations but it s not so united Don t aim for truth aim for understanding Today s students construct and deconstruct in a multitude of ways on an as needed just in time basis Since ideas of difference are often nudged but unacknowledged we are in danger of becoming pedagogical dinosaurs not heeding change until it is too late Teaching and learning are construction zones so get out your hard hat These constructions are possibilities that need to be discussed and negotiated allowing us to sidestep the traps of grand narratives and a hierarchy of disciplinarity and research methodology Our possibilities need to be forged on an anvil of diversity These are the spaces the interstices where our voices become innovative and our silence offers a safe harbor Spaces to listen collaborate and craft cautionary tales about our lives and the possibilities for a shared future

Deconstruction Gregory Jones-Katz,2021-09-03 The basic story of the rise reign and fall of deconstruction as a literary and philosophical groundswell is well known among scholars In this intellectual history Gregory Jones Katz aims to transform the broader understanding of a movement that has been frequently misunderstood mischaracterized and left for dead even as its principles and influence transformed literary studies and a host of other fields in the humanities Deconstruction begins well before Jacques Derrida's initial American presentation of his deconstructive work in a famed lecture at Johns Hopkins University in 1966 and continues through several decades of theoretic growth and tumult. While much of the subsequent story remains focused inevitably on Yale University and the personalities and curriculum that came to be lumped under the Yale school umbrella, Deconstruction makes clear how crucial feminism, queer theory, and gender studies also were to the lifeblood of this mode of thought. Ultimately, Jones Katz shows that deconstruction in the United States, so often caricatured as a French infection, was truly an American phenomenon rooted in our preexisting political and intellectual tensions that eventually came to influence unexpected corners of scholarship, politics, and culture.

Hermeneutics and Deconstruction Hugh J. Silverman, Don Ihde, 1985-01-01 Hermeneutics and Deconstruction provides an assessment of two dominant modes of thinking and writing in continental philosophy today. It addresses central issues in the theory of interpretation and in the strategies of textual reading. Placed in the context of contemporary philosophical practice, this volume raises the question of the end of philosophy and offers different ways of understanding how the question of closure in philosophy can itself open up a whole range of philosophical activities. Special attention is given to the practice of interpretation in the areas of science, perception, and literature, and to the dimensions of hermeneutic understanding with respect to being, life, and the world. An investigation of how history is interpreted and read as a text provides access to one of the significant differences between hermeneutic understanding and deconstructionist practice. A section is devoted to the controversy concerning the value and the achievement of deconstruction. The writings of Heidegger and Derrida are juxtaposed and examined. And the volume concludes with several indications of new directions in continental philosophy and various versions of what a post-Derridean reading might entail.

Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research Alecia Y. Jackson, Lisa A. Mazzei, 2022-07-29 Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research, Second Edition, demonstrates how to enact various philosophical concepts in practices of inquiry, effectively opening up the process of thought in qualitative studies. Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research functions as a refusal of pre-given method, intensifying creativity, experimentation, and newness. Readers are invited into the threshold of theory to traverse philosophers and their concepts, reorienting conventional approaches to inquiry. Each chapter presents a thinking with process as a way of reading intensively through plugging in performative accounts of two first-generation academic women to philosophical concepts from Derrida, Spivak, Foucault, Butler, Barad, and Deleuze and Guattari. This book is a deliberate attempt to unsettle what is expected to be represented or recognized in terms of both meaning and method in traditional practices of qualitative research, which become unproductive and untenable in this different image of thought. New to this edition: Fully revised and rewritten Chapter 1 that introduces the technique of plugging in as contingent strategic movements of thought. Also new to Chapter 1 is a shift in language away from traditional practices in qualitative research: data and analysis to performative accounts and becoming questions. Fully revised Thinking with Intra-action chapter, which focuses on Karen Barad's ontopoietic epistemological framework of agential realism and the concepts of posthumanist performativity and entangled agencies Fully revised and rewritten Chapter 8 that presents plugging in and thinking with as ontological Further development of and new material on the plugging in technique Schematic cues updated and extended for all of the Interludes In the ten years since the first edition was published Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research has become a vanguard text in the field of postfoundational inquiry for its accessible but thorough introductions to philosophically informed inquiry This book is for experienced and novice researchers and students in introductory general and advanced qualitative inquiry courses who may also be first time readers of philosophy This text will function as an entry into techniques of thinking with a new theoretical vocabulary lead to poor mental health and diminished well being among women The contributors explore the ways in which gender issues can be addressed through art therapy By being sensitive to the socio cultural dimensions of women s lives therapists can become more receptive to the needs of their female clients The case studies included here illustrate how issues of class ethnicity and gender introduce a social element into what is sometimes described as a purely personal cathartic process By discussing empowerment sexuality pregnancy and childbirth this volume provides a comprehensive survey of women s issues within art therapy and will prompt a reevaluation of current training and practice in the field
