Explanatory Nonmonotonic Reasoning Advances In Logic Volume 4:

Explanatory Nonmonotonic Reasoning Alexander Bochman, 2005 Many approaches in the field of nonmonotonic and commonsense reasoning are actually different representations of the same basic ideas and constructions This book gives a logical formalization of the original explanatory approach to nonmonotonic reasoning It uses the basic formalism of biconsequence relations as well as derived systems of default autoepistemic and causal inference to cover in a single framework such diverse systems as default logic autoepistemic and modal nonmonotonic logics input output and causal logics argumentation theory and semantics of general logic programs with negation as failure This approach provides a clear separation between logical monotonic and nonmonotonic aspects of nonmonotonic reasoning The separation allows in particular to single out the logics underlying modern logic programming and restore thereby the connection between logic programming and logic

Computational Models of Argument F. Toni, S. Polberg, R. Booth, 2022-09-29 Argumentation has traditionally been studied across a number of fields notably philosophy cognitive science linguistics and jurisprudence The study of computational models of argumentation is a more recent endeavor bringing together researchers from traditional fields and computer science and engineering within a rich interdisciplinary matrix Computational models of argumentation have been identified and used since the 1980s and more recently an important role for argumentation in leading to principled decisions has emerged in several settings This book presents the proceedings of COMMA 2022 the 9th International Conference on Computational Models of Argument held in Cardiff Wales United Kingdom during 14-16 September 2022. The book contains 27 regular papers and 16 demo papers from a total of 75 submissions as well as 3 invited talks from Prof Paul Dunne (University of Liverpool), Prof Iryna Gurevych (TU Darmstadt) and Prof Antonis Kakas (University of Cyprus) which reflect the diverse nature of the field. Papers are a mix of theoretical and practical contributions: theoretical contributions include new formal models, the study of formal or computational properties of models, design for implemented systems and experimental research; practical papers include applications to law, machine learning and explainability. Abstract and structured accounts of argumentation are covered as are relations between different accounts. Many papers focus on the evaluation of arguments or their conclusions given a body of arguments with a continuation of a recent trend to study gradual or probabilistic notions of evaluation. The book offers an overview of recent and current research and will be of interest to all those working with computational models of argumentation.

Logic Programming and Nonmonotonic Reasoning Thomas Eiter, Wolfgang Faber, Miroslaw Truszczynski, 2003-08-06. This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Logic Programming and Nonmonotonic Reasoning (LPNMR 2001) held in Vienna, Austria, in September 2001. The 22 revised full papers and eleven system descriptions presented with five invited papers were carefully reviewed and rigorously selected. Among the topics addressed are computational logic, declarative information extraction, model checking, inductive logic programming, default theories, stable logic programming, program semantics, incomplete information processing, concept learning, declarative specification, Prolog programming, many-valued logics, etc.

Computational Logic in Multi-Agent Systems Michael Fisher, Leon van der Torre, Mehdi Dastani, Guido Governatori, 2012-08-13. This book constitutes the proceedings of the 13th International Workshop on Computational Logic in Multi-Agent Systems (CLIMA XIII) held in Montpellier, France, in August 2012. The 11 regular papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 27 submissions and presented with three invited papers. The purpose of the CLIMA workshops is to provide a forum for discussing techniques based on computational logic for representing programming and reasoning about agents and multi-agent systems in a formal way.

Logic Programming and Non-monotonic Reasoning, 2001 It's All About Coordination Frank de Boer, Marcello Bonsangue, Jan Rutten, 2018-05-25. This Festschrift volume has been published to celebrate the lifelong scientific achievements of Farhad Arbab on the occasion of his retirement from the Centre of Mathematics and Computer Science (CWI). Over the years, Farhad Arbab has successfully been engaged in scientific explorations in various directions: Software Composition, Service Oriented Computing, Component based Software Concurrency, Theory of Coordination Models and Languages, Parallel and Distributed Computing, Visual Programming Environments, Constraints Logic and Object Oriented Programming. Farhad Arbab has shaped the field of Coordination Models and Languages. His insight that it is all about exogenous coordination gave rise to the striking elegance and beauty of Reo, an exogenous coordination model based on a formal calculus of channel composition. Reo has been extremely successful and is having a great impact in many of the areas mentioned above The present volume collects a number of papers by several of Farhad's close collaborators over the years Intelligent Computers, Algorithms, and Applications Chunjie Luo, Weiping Li, 2025-05-22 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 4th BenchCouncil International Symposium on Intelligent Computers Algorithms and Applications IC 2024 held in Guangzhou China during December 4-6 2024 The 16 full papers included in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 31 submissions They were organized in topical sections as follows Algorithms Education Evaluation System Computational Models of Argument P. Baroni, T.F. Gordon, T. Scheffler, 2016-09-02 Research into computational models of argument is a rich interdisciplinary field involving the study of natural artificial and theoretical argumentation and requiring openness to interactions with a variety of disciplines ranging from philosophy and cognitive science to formal logic and graph theory The ultimate aim is to support the development of computer based systems able to engage in argumentation related activities either with human users or among themselves This book presents the proceedings of the sixth biennial International Conference on Computational Models of Argument COMMA 2016 held in Potsdam Germany on 12-16 September The aim of the COMMA conferences is to bring together researchers interested in computational models of argument and the representation of argumentation structures in natural language texts with special attention to contributions concerning emerging trends and the development of new connections with other areas The book contains the 25 full papers 17 short papers and 10 demonstration abstracts presented at the conference together with 3 invited talks Subjects covered include abstract bipolar and structured argumentation quantitative approaches and their connections with formalisms like Bayesian networks and fuzzy logic multi agent scenarios algorithms and solvers and mining arguments in text dialogue and social media The book provides an overview of current research and developments in the field of computational models of argument and will be essential reading for all those with an interest in the field

Learning from Our Mistakes William J. Talbott, 2021 In Learning from Our Mistakes Epistemology for the Real World William J Talbott provides a new framework for understanding the history of Western epistemology and uses it to propose a new way of understanding rational belief that can be applied to pressing social and political issues This framework is used to articulate a new theory of prejudice and a new diagnosis of the sources of inequity in the U S criminal justice system as well as insight into the proliferation of tribal and fascist epistemologies based on alt facts and alt truth Talbott's new model of rational belief is not a model of a theorem prover in mathematics It is a model of a good learner Being a good learner requires sensitivity to clues the imaginative ability to generate alternative explanatory narratives that fit the clues and the ability to select the most coherent explanatory narrative Sensitivity to clues requires sensitivity not only to evidence that supports one's own beliefs but also to evidence that casts doubt on them One of the most important characteristics of a good learner is the ability to correct mistakes From this model Talbott articulates nine principles that help to explain the difference between rational and irrational belief Talbott contrasts his approach with the approach of historically important philosophers including Socrates Plato Aristotle Hume Kant Wittgenstein and Kuhn as well as with a range of contemporary approaches including pragmatism Bayesianism and naturalism Learning from Our Mistakes offers a new lens through which to interpret the history of Western epistemology and analyze the complicated social and political phenomena facing us today
