Philosophical Exploration S.F. Spicker, Y.M. Healey Jr., H. Tristram Engelhardt Jr., 2012-12-06 This volume is a contribution to the continuing interaction between law and medicine Problems arising from this interaction have been addressed in part by previous volumes in this series In fact one such problem constitutes the central focus of Volume 5 Mental Illness Law and Public Policy 1 The present volume joins other volumes in this series in offering an exploration and critical analysis of concepts and values underlying health care In this volume however we look as well at some of the general questions occasioned by the law's relation with medicine We do so out of a conviction that medicine and the law must be understood as the human creations they are reflecting important wide ranging but often unaddressed aspects of the nature of the human condition It is only by such philosophical analysis of the nature of the conceptual foundations of the health care professions and of the legal profession that we will be able to judge whether these professions do indeed serve our best interests Such philosophical explorations are required for the public policy decisions that will be pressed upon us through the increasing complexity of health care and of the law's response to new and changing circumstances As a consequence this volume attends as much to issues in public policy as in the law The law is after all the creature of human decisions concerning prudent public policy and basic human rights and goods

Postmodernity and the Fragmentation of Welfare John Carter, 2012-10-12 Postmodern ideas have been vastly influential in the social sciences and beyond However their impact on the study of social policy has been minimal Postmodernity and the Fragmentation of Welfare analyses the potential for a postmodern or cultural turn in welfare as it treats postmodernity as an evolving canon from the seminal works of Baudrillard Foucault and Lyotard through to recent theories of the risk society Already disorientated by globalisation new technologies and the years of new right ascendancy welfare faces a significant challenge in the postmodern It suggests that rather than universality and state provision the new social policy will be consumerised and fragmented a welfare state of ambivalence With contributions from authors coming from a variety of fields offering very different perspectives on postmodernity and welfare Postmodernity and the Fragmentation of Welfare also keeps social policy's intellectual inheritance in view By exploring ways in which theorisations of postmodernity might improve understanding of welfare issues in the 1990s and assessing the relevance of theories of diversity and difference to mainstream and critical social policy traditions this book will be an essential text for all students of social policy social administration social work and sociology

Exploration of Multifaceted Cooperation and Engagement Between Eritrea and China Fikresus Amahazion, 2025-03-12 Over the past several decades China's engagement with African countries has grown tremendously becoming one of the most momentous developments on the continent since the end of the Cold War China has emerged as Africa's single largest trading partner while Chinese investment in and lending to African countries have also expanded rapidly In Eritrea located in Northeast Africa Chinese involvement and cooperation have also considerably intensified in recent years However despite this growing bilateral relationship and even as there has been extensive study and wide coverage of China's ascendance across much of the rest of the continent there has been a dearth of attention devoted to China Eritrea engagement and relatively little is known or understood about their relationship Accordingly this book hopes to help fill the existing lacuna Based on field research and undergirded by extensive robust data it provides a clear eyed comprehensive and up to date examination of China Eritrea relations across a range of areas and sectors
