Explorations In Ethnoarchaeology

John Peter White

Explorations In Ethnoarchaeology:

Explorations in Ethnoarchaeology Richard A. Gould, 1978      Explorations in Behavioral Archaeology William H. Walker, James M. Skibo, 2015 Discusses the impact and contributions of behavioral archaeology to archaeology at large

Review of Explorations in Ethnoarchaeology John Peter White, 1978      Review of Explorations in Ethnoarchaeology James Francis O'Connell, 1979      Contesting Ethnoarchaeologies Arkadiusz Marciniak, Nurcan Yalman, 2013-11-30 Contesting Ethnoarchaeologies provides a systematic overview of major non American traditions of ethnoarchaeology with a particular focus on Europe and Asia It explores all stages of their research agenda These ethnoarchaeologies were embedded in theoretical traditions of local archaeologies Moreover ethnoarchaeological studies carried out in these different settings targeted a wide range of different issues and addressed numerous questions of covering all sorts of different issues Consequently achieved results and data have been largely idiosyncratic and hardly compatible Hence this volume aims not only to conceptualize characteristics of these diverse ethnoarchaeologies but more importantly put them in a broader context of the development of archaeology in different parts of Europe and Asia The contributors to the volume express their own diverse views on the cognitive and interpretative value of ethnoarchaeology for studying prehistoric past based on particular cases of experience and research As such the volume is not only a valuable overview of numerous ethnoarchaeological practices in different parts of the region but also a significant contribution to the history of archaeological thought This perspective shall make the book of wider applicability and make possible to put up ethnoarchaeology as an immanent and important element of archaeological theory      Method and Theory for Activity Area Research Susan Kent, 1987      Retrospektive Manfred K. H. Eggert, 2011      Advances in Archaeological Method and Theory Michael B Schiffer, 2014-06-30 Advances in Archaeological Method and Theory Volume 4 presents the progressive explorations in methods and theory in archeology This book discusses the increasing application of surface collection in cultural resource management Organized into eight chapters this volume begins with an overview of the fundamental aspects of archeoastronomy and explains what kinds of testable hypotheses that archeoastronomy generates This text then examines the general implications for the study of cultural complexity Other chapters consider the use of surface artifacts by archeologists to locate sites establish regional culture histories and to know where to excavate within sites This book discusses as well the interpretative interfaces between archeology on the one hand and ethnohistory and ethnology on the other that is based on a theoretical stance advocating a fundamental holistic approach to anthropology The final chapter deals with understanding the ecology of ancient organisms This book is a valuable resource for archeologists and anthropologists      Handbook of Material Culture Christopher Y. Tilley, 2006-01-26 Provides a critical survey of the theories concepts intellectual debates substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things This handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes a fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human     Archaeological Method and Theory Linda Ellis, 2003-12-16 This Encyclopedia brings together the most recent scientific information on a collection of subjects that are too often and inconveniently treated in separate publications It provides a survey of archaeological method and theory as well as the application of physical and biological sciences in archaeological research Every aspect of archaeological work is represented from the discovery process to the ultimate disposition of materials Thus the reader will find entries on subject matter covering disciplinary theory legislation affecting the work of archaeologists pre excavation surveying excavation methodology on site conservation techniques post excavation analysis The rapid evolution of analytical technology is often superficially treated or not covered at all in textbooks or other commonly available sources Here the latest refinements in techniques such as radiometric dating stable isotopic analysis and the PCR technique of DNA analysis are presented clearly and authoritatively The discussion of these techniques is amplified by including results of the work of professionals conducting interdisciplinary research and by covering the methodological enhancements provided by the physical and natural sciences Cultural property legislation regardless of its country of origin has affected how archaeologists conduct their work This encyclopedia covers all major U S legislation developed for the protection of cultural property including the recent Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act and offers a substantial article on worldwide legislation concerning the reburial of human remains and its effects on the present and future practice of archaeology Without some sort of conservation program at the point of excavation valuable materials may be inadvertently contaminated or destroyed Many simple and low cost techniques to promote both sample integrity and long term preservation for major classes of materials are described in this volume Traditional treatments of method and theory usually focus on prehistoric periods and are limited in their geographic range This volume includes discussions based on various historical periods on different continents as reflected in entries such as Historical Archaeology Industrial Archaeology Medieval Archaeology and Classical Archaeology     From Primitives to Primates David Van Reybrouck, 2012 Where do our images about early hominids come from In this fascinating in depth study David Van Reybrouck demonstrates how input from ethnography and primatology has deeply influenced our visions about the past from the 19th century to this day often far beyond the available evidence Victorian scholars were keen to look at contemporary Australian and Tasmanian aboriginals to understand the enigmatic Neanderthal fossils Likewise today s primatologists debate to what extent bonobos baboons or chimps may be regarded as stand ins for early human ancestors The belief that the contemporary world provides living links still goes strong Such primate models Van Reybrouck argues continue the highly problematic comparative method of the Victorian times He goes on to show how the field of ethnoarchaeology has succeeded in circumventing the major pitfalls of such analogical reasoning A truly interdisciplinary study this work shows how scholars working in different fields can effectively improve their methods for interpreting the deep past by understanding the historical challenges of adjacent disciplines Overviewing two centuries of intellectual debate in fields as diverse as archaeology ethnography and primatology Van Reybrouck's book is one long plea for trying to understand the past on its own terms rather than as facile projections from the present David Van Reybrouck Bruges 1971 was trained as an archaeologist at the universities of Leuven Cambridge and Leiden Before becoming a highly successful literary author The Plague Mission Congo he worked as a historian of ideas For more than twelve years he was co editor of Archaeological Dialogues In 2011-12 he held the prestigious Cleveringa Chair at the University of Leiden

Interpretive Archaeology Julian Thomas, 2001-01-01 New forms of archaeology are emerging which position the discipline firmly within the social and cultural sciences These approaches have been described as post processual or interpretive archaeology and draw on a range of traditions of enquiry in the humanities from Marxism and critical theory to hermeneutics feminism queer theory phenomenology and post colonial thinking This volume gathers together a series of the canonical statements which have defined an interpretive archaeology Many of these have been unavailable for some while and others are drawn from inaccessible publications In addition a number of key articles are included which are drawn from other disciplines but which have been influential and widely cited within archaeology The collection is put into context by an editorial introduction and thematic notes for each section

The Present Past Ian Hodder, 2012-11-05 This updated edition of Professor Ian Hodder's original and classic work on the role which anthropology must play in the interpretation of the archaeological record There has long been a need for archaeologists and anthropologists to correlate their ideas and methods for interpreting the material culture of past civilisations Archaeological interpretation of the past is inevitably based on the ideas and experiences of the present and the use of such ethnographic analogy has been widely adapted and criticised not least in Britain In this challenging study Ian Hodder questions the assumptions values and methods which have been too readily accepted At the same time he shows how anthropology can be applied to archaeology He examines the criteria for the proper use of analogy and in particular emphasises the need to consider the meaning and interpretation of material cultures within the total social and cultural contexts He discusses anthropological models of refuse deposits technology and production subsistence settlement burial trade exchange art form and ritual he then considers their application to comparable archaeological data Throughout Professor Hodder emphasises the need for a truly scientific approach and a critical self awareness by archaeologists who should be prepared to study their own social and cultural context not least their own attitudes to the present day material world

Lahav II: Households and the Use of Domestic Space at Iron II Tell Halif James W. Hardin, 2010-06-30 This volume focuses on the reconstruction of household organization during the Iron II period at Tell Halif It centers in particular on one four room pillared type building located in Area F7 of Field IV and on its remains which were sealed in a massive destruction that eclipsed the site in the late eighth century B C E This study was first prepared as a Ph D dissertation for the Department of Near Eastern Studies at the University of Arizona Hardin 2001 and has since been amplified and embellished by further research Published here are the results of research deliberately designed by the author to provide for more complete recovery and detailed recording in the field of all artifacts and other remains within a special refined three dimensional grid matrix These data in turn established a framework for studying the formation processes active on the materials and for conducting a spatial analysis of the assemblages in the building Along with developing ethnographic and ethnoarchaeological inferences these techniques are used to identify activities activity areas and social organization related to the building ultimately defining an archaeological household consisting of the pillared dwelling and its occupants Finally these conclusions are also related to reconstructions of the Iron II period household suggested by Hebrew Bible sources

Feminism in Twentieth-Century Science, Technology, and Medicine Angela N. H. Creager,Elizabeth Lunbeck,Londa Schiebinger,2001-11

What useful changes has feminism brought to science Feminists have enjoyed success in their efforts to open many fields to women as participants But the effects of feminism have not been restricted to altering employment and professional opportunities for women The essays in this volume explore how feminist theory has had a direct impact on research in the biological and social sciences in medicine and in technology often providing the impetus for fundamentally changing the theoretical underpinnings and practices of such research In archaeology evidence of women s hunting activities suggested by spears found in women s graves is no longer dismissed computer scientists have used feminist epistemologies for rethinking the human interface problems of our growing reliance on computers Attention to women s movements often tends to reinforce a presumption that feminism changes institutions through critique from without This volume reveals the potent but not always visible transformations feminism has brought to science technology and medicine from within Contributors Ruth Schwartz Cowan Linda Marie Fedigan Scott Gilbert Evelyn M Hammonds Evelyn Fox Keller Pamela E Mack Michael S Mahoney Emily Martin Ruth Oldenziel Nelly Oudshoorn Carroll Pursell Karen Rader Alison Wylie

Making Senses of the Past Jo Day,2013-03-19

Since the nineteenth century museums have kept their artifacts in glass cases to better preserve them and drawings and photographs have become standard ways of presenting the past These practices have led to an archaeology dominated by visual description even though human interaction with the surrounding world involves the whole body and all of its senses In the past few years sensory archaeology has become more prominent and Making Senses of the Past is one of the first collected volumes on this subject This book presents cutting edge research on new theoretical issues The essays presented here take readers on a multisensory journey around the world and across time In ancient Peru a site provides sensory surprises as voices resound beneath the ground and hidden carvings slowly reveal their secrets In Canada and New Zealand the flicker of reflected light from a lake dances on the faces of painted rocks and may have influenced when and why the pigment was applied In Mesopotamia vessels for foodstuffs build a picture of a past cuisine that encompasses taste and social activity in the building of communities While perfume and flowers are examined in various cultures in the chamber tombs of ancient Roman Palestine we are reminded that not all smells are pleasant Making Senses of the Past explores alternative ways to perceive past societies and offers a new way of wiring archaeology that incorporates the senses The Rise and Decline of Ancient Civilizations Eka Avaliani,2025-07-02 This book concerns the formation of ancient civilizations in the Near East and the central Mediterranean world It examines five civilization models Model of Egyptian Civilization Model of Mesopotamian Civilization Model of Anatolian Civilization Model of Central Mediterranean Aegean Civilization Model of Eastern Mediterranean Culture Phoenicia Syria Palestine and the dynamics of their development Its theoretical part discusses the structure and analysis of civilizations stages of development of civilization the specifics of artistic thinking and touches on topics such as the phenomenon of cultural transformation in space and time The book is intended for readers who are interested in the development of ancient civilizations and the specifics of their artistic thinking In the process of systematizing and classifying these cultures civilizations we specifically highlight three parameters a geographical regional b ethnic and c the individual spiritual phenomenon of the culture In the course of our research it became evident that each model encompassed a specific historical geographical space and at various stages of development was tied to certain historical chronological periods Imagining Babylon Mario Liverani,2016-07-11 Ever since the archaeological rediscovery of the Ancient Near East generations of scholars have attempted to reconstruct the real Babylon known to us before from the evocative biblical account of the Tower of Babel After two centuries of excavations and scholarship Mario Liverani provides an insightful overview of modern Western approaches theories and accounts of the ancient Near Eastern city
