Exploring NORDIC COOL in Literary

History Gunilla Hermansson, Jens Lohfert Jørgensen, 2020-11-15 How did Nordic culture become associated with the fuzzy brand cool as by default In Exploring NORDIC COOL in Literary History twenty one scholars in collaboration question the seemingly natural fit between Nordic and Cool by investigating its variegated trajectories through literary history from medieval legends to digital poetry At the same time the elasticity and polysemy of the word cool become a means to explore Nordic literary history afresh It opens up a rich diversity of theoretical and methodological approaches within a regional framework and reveals hitherto unseen links between familiar and less familiar tracks and sites Following diverse paths of Nordic cool in respect to among other things nature survival love whiteness style economics heroism and colonialism this book challenges all too recognisable narratives and underlines the sheer knowledge potential of literary historical research

Identity, Old(er) Age and Migrancy Laura Machat-From, 2017-05-16 Identity research in relation to ethnicity and migration has tended to focus on younger people whilst identity research in relation to ageing and old(er) age has not focused on migrants This inadvertent mutual neglect has led to a lack of identity research that examines the identity categories of old(er) age and migrancy together a lacuna that this dissertation aims to redress This dissertation departs from a social constructionist understanding of identity as situationally accomplished in the interplay between how one defines oneself internally and how others define one externally The questions raised by this perspective and addressed in this dissertation are When in what situations and in relation to whom do old(er) age and migrancy respectively seem to become meaningful for identification How do the identity categories of old(er) age and migrancy seem to be negotiated The empirical material consists of in depth interviews with 24 older migrants 13 men 11 women aged between 55 and 79 who have been living in Sweden for 18 to 61 years Interviewees come from 12 different countries that vary in perceived cultural distance from Sweden The findings suggest that identifications with old(er) age and migrancy seem to be dynamic and flexible rather than necessarily permanently meaningful thus gaining meaning in specific situations and in relation to particular Others External definitions furthermore do not always seem to match with internal ones Regardless of how old(er) age and migrancy are constructed they seem to be negotiable This dissertation thus contributes to identity research by studying old(er) age and migrancy together and furthermore sheds light onto how the social constructionist lens allows us to see variability where stability otherwise would be presumed Identitetsforskning rörande etnicitet och migration har huvudsakligen fokuserat på yngre medan identitetsforskning kring äldre och äldre inte har fokuserat på utrikesfödda Som en konsekvens därav har identitetsforskningen inte studerat hur äldre och invandrarskap tillsammans en lucka som denna avhandling avser att fylla Avhandlingen utgår ifrån en socialkonstruktivistisk förståelse av identitet som situationsbunden och formad genom samspelet mellan hur man definierar sig själv internt och hur andra definierar en externt För gorna som verkar genom detta perspektiv och som avhandlingen fokuserar på rör i vilka situationer och i förhållande till vem verkar äldre respektive invandrarskap bli betydelsefulla för identifikationer Hur verkar identitetskategorierna äldre och invandrarskap rhandlas Det empiriska materialet består av djupintervjuer med 24 utrikesfödda äldre 13 män 11 kvinnor i åldrarna mellan 55 och 79 som har bott i Sverige mellan 18 och 61 år Intervjupersonerna kommer från 12 olika länder med olika upplevt kulturellt avstånd från Sverige Resultaten tyder på att identifikationer med hemländer och invandrarskap är dynamiska och flexibla snarare än tydligtvis permanent meningsfulla och fördrömd betydelse i vissa situationer och i förhållande till särskilda andra Externa definitioner verkar inte alltid stämma överens med interna definitioner Oavsett hur hemländer och invandrarskap är konstruerade så framstår de som förhållingsbara Avhandlingen bidrar därför till identitetsforskningen genom att studera hemländer och invandrarskap tillsammans och belyser dessutom hur det socialkonstruktivistiska perspektivet tillåter oss att se variation och föränderlighet där stabilitet annars förutsätts

Exploring Social Geography (Routledge Revivals) Peter A. Jackson, Susan J. Smith, 2014-06-17 Exploring Social Geography first published in 1984 offers a challenging yet comprehensive introduction to the wealth of empirical research and theoretical debate that has developed in response to the advent of a social approach to the subject The argument emphasises the essentially spatial structure of social interaction and includes a succinct discussion of geographical research on segregation and interaction which has combined numerical analyses and qualitative ethnographic field research A distinctive view of social geography is adopted inspired by the Chicago school of North American pragmatism but also incorporating the formal sociological theories of Simmel and Weber Exploring Social Geography will be of value to students of urban geography in particular However it will also indicate a wide ranging and distinctive perspective for all students of the social sciences with a special interest in debates concerning urban ethnic racial anthropological and theoretical issues

Exploring the Production of Urban Space Leary-Owhin, Michael Edema, 2016-02-26 The ideas of Henri Lefebvre on the production of urban space have become increasingly useful for understanding worldwide post industrial city transformation This important book uses new international comparative research to engage critically with Lefebvre's spatial theories and challenge recent thinking about the nature of urban space Meticulous research in Vancouver Lowell MA and Manchester England explains how urban public spaces including differential space are contested and socially produced Spatial coalitions counter representations and counterprojects are seen as vital elements in such processes The book contributes critically to the post industrial city comparative analysis literature It provides an accessible guide for those who care about cities public space city planning and urban policy This interdisciplinary book will be of interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of urban geography planning policy politics regeneration and sociology It will also be relevant for politicians policy makers and urban activists

Vancouver's Chinatown Kay J. Anderson, 1991-11-04 Anderson charts the construction of Chinatown in the minds and streets of the white community of Vancouver over a hundred year period She shows that Chinatown from the negative stereotyping of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries to its current status as an ethnic neighbourhood has been stamped by changing European ideologies of race and the hegemonic policies those ideas have shaped The very existence of the district is the result of a regime of cultural domination that continues to exist today Anderson clearly rejects the concept of race as a means of distinguishing between groups of human beings She points out that because the implicit acceptance of public beliefs about race affects the types of questions asked by researchers the issue of the ontological status of race is as critical for commentators on society as it is for scientists studying human variation Anderson applies this fresh approach toward the concept of race to a critical examination of popular media and academic treatments of the Chinatown in Vancouver
