European Discovery and Exploration of Australia Erwin Feeken,2019-06-21 The map of Australia abounds with fascinating geographical place names the origins of which have for long been hidden in the journals of our early explorers Now after nine years of research Erwin Feeken a highly qualified cartographer and his wife Gerda have finalised the first complete record of Australian geographical place names and the most comprehensive general reference work on Australian exploration ever published In European Discovery and Exploration of Australia there are twenty three beautifully drawn four colour maps plus index showing the routes of more than 120 explorers with the locality of their named features numbered to accord with a Key to the Maps The place names in the Key have been numbered approximately in chronological order of their naming though places found during a single expedition have been grouped together There is also a gazetteer containing over four thousand place names alphabetically arranged with notes on their origins The map reference numbers in brackets form a cross reference with the Key to the Maps The work is introduced by a foreword from Lord Casey and an essay on the nature of Australian exploration by Professor O H K Spate director of the Research School of Pacific Studies Australian National University The text comprising a survey of Australian exploration is arranged in the form of biographies of the explorers describing for the first time several almost unknown figures with emphasis on their expeditions and under the following headings The Approach to Australia Exploration before Settlement 1606 1788 From Botany Bay to the Blue Mountains 1788 1813 Land and Sea Expeditions 1813 1901 This section of the book is very fully illustrated with 18 full colour plates and some 150 black and white photographs mostly reproductions of early prints Concluding the book are bibliographies of sources and references a list of illustrations and an index of explorers and ships The comprehensive nature of this work will ensure that it becomes a valuable reference book for students while the text and illustrations will appeal to all who are interested in our history Collectors of Australiana will welcome this most attractive addition to the ever increasing number of available publications

Elliott, 1975-01-01 Geochemical Exploration 1974 Regolith Exploration Geochemistry in Tropical and Subtropical Terrains C.R.M. Butt, H. Zeegers, 2015-12-04 The use of exploration geochemistry has increased enormously in the last decade The present volume specifically addresses those geochemical exploration practices appropriate for tropical sub tropical and adjacent areas in environments ranging from rainforest to desert Practical recommendations are made for the optimization of sampling and analytical and interpretational procedures for exploration according to the particular nature of tropically weathered terrains The underlying theme is the recognition that regions between 35° N and 35° S in particular have a common history of deep chemical weathering and lateritization during the late Mesozoic and early Tertiary This has had a profound and lasting effect so that the surface geochemical expressions of mineralization throughout these regions have many similar features with local modification due to more recent weathering under changed climates The volume discusses the data derived from numerous research and case studies in terms of exploration and dispersion models based on the weathering and geomorphological history The models permit valid comparisons between equivalent terrains that may be geographically widely separated and situated in quite different climatic environments The basis of the volume is to view geochemical dispersion within the context of a genetic understanding of the evolution of landforms and the regolith i.e. landscape geochemistry and to develop exploration procedures based on this understanding This book should be of interest to exploration geochemists economic geologists soil scientists geomorphologists and environmental geochemists Gold metallogeny and exploration R. P. Foster, 2012-12-06 Within the last decade the high and continuing demand for gold has prompted a global gold rush on a scale never before seen not even in the heady days of Ballarat California and the Yukon Gold is being sought on every continent and with very few exceptions in every country around the world Such interest and fierce competition has demanded considerable innovation and improvement in exploration techniques paralleled by a rapid expansion of the geological database and consequent genetic modelling for the many different types of gold deposits now recognized This proliferation of data has swamped the literature and left explorationist and academic alike unable to sift more than a small proportion of the accumulating information This new book represents an attempt to address this major problem by providing succinct syntheses of all major aspects of gold metallogeny and exploration ranging from the chemical distribution of gold in the Earth's crust and the hydrothermal chemistry of gold to Archaean and Phanerozoic lode deposits epithermal environments chemical sediments and placer deposits and culminates in chapters devoted to geochemical and geophysical exploration and the economics of gold deposits Each chapter is written by geoscientists who are acknowledged internationally in their respective fields thus guaranteeing a broad yet up to date coverage In addition each chapter is accompanied by reference lists which provide readers with access to the most pertinent and useful publications
