Exploring the Ocean Worlds of Our Solar System Bernard Henin, 2024-08-22 In the past 25 years planetary science has undergone a revolution with the discovery of vast oceans of liquid water within the icy moons of our Solar System. These subsurface oceans are concealed beneath thick ice layers. We refer to these moons and similar ocean-bearing planetary objects as ocean worlds. In this 2nd edition, we delve into and compare the latest scientific discoveries on 22 confirmed or potential ocean worlds ranging from the giant asteroid Ceres and the icy moons Europa and Enceladus to the distant dwarf planets of the outer Solar System such as Pluto, Sedna, and Eris. Along the way, we explore the contributions of multiple spacecraft such as the Pioneers, the Voyagers, Galileo, Cassini, Huygens, and many others, which have provided much of our current knowledge about these worlds as well as the latest scientific research on this subject. This book also explores the potential for life on each of the confirmed ocean worlds, evaluating their habitability. Ultimately, these might hold the key to answering fundamental questions about life: How did life begin? Is there life beyond Earth? Where do we come from? With contributions from leading planetary scientists at NASA, ESA, and other institutions, this book aims to be the definitive reference for anyone interested in this captivating subject.

Exploring the Solar System and Beyond Ailynn Collins, 2022-01-08. People have long been curious about the solar system. Since the 1960s, several probes, orbiters, landers, and rovers have been sent out to explore and study the planets and their moons. What incredible discoveries were made during these daring missions? And what will be needed for humans to visit the planets in person? In this nonfiction graphic novel, Max Axiom and the Society of Super Scientists learn about various missions to other planets and the risks involved with sending people across the solar system and beyond.

Exploring the Trans-Neptunian Solar System National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Commission on Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Applications, Committee on Planetary and Lunar Exploration, 1998-05-29. In the last decade, our knowledge of the outer solar system has been transformed as a result of the Voyager 2 encounter with Neptune and its satellite Triton, and from Earth-based observations of the Pluto-Charon system. However, the planetary system does not simply end at the distance of Pluto and Neptune. In the past few years, dozens of bodies have been discovered in near-circular low inclination orbits near or beyond the orbit of Neptune These bodies are now believed to be directly related to each other and to Pluto Charon and Triton and as a class they define and occupy the inner boundary of a hitherto unexplored component of the solar system the trans neptunian region Exploring the Trans Neptunian Solar System reviews current understanding of the trans neptunian solar system and makes recommendations for the future exploration of this distant realm Exploring the Solar System
