Steinman,1990-06-18 Frank O Connor was a most painstaking writer sometimes taking up to ten years to revise and polish a story This book attempts to examine the process and tries to reveal something about O Connor s perception of his craft and the environment from which his art emerged When Memory Speaks Jill Ker Conway,2011-06-08 J ill Ker Conway one of our most admired autobiographers author of The Road from Coorain and True North looks astutely and with feeling into the modern memoir the forms and styles it assumes and the strikingly different ways in which men and women respectively tend to understand and present their lives In a narrative rich with evocations of memoirists over the centuries from Jean Jacques Rousseau and George Sand to W E B Du Bois Virginia Woolf Frank McCourt and Katharine Graham the author suggests why it is that we are so drawn to the reading of autobiography and she illuminates the cultural assumptions behind the ways in which we talk about ourselves Conway traces the narrative patterns typically found in autobiographies by men to the tale of the classical Greek hero and his epic journey of adventure She shows how this configuration evolved in memoirs into the passionate romantic struggling against the conventions of society into the frontier hero battling the wilderness into self made men overcoming economic obstacles to create an invention or a fortune or more recently into a quest for meaning for an understandable past for an ethnic identity In contrast she sees the designs that women commonly employ for their memoirs as evolving from the writings of the mystics such as Dame Julian of Norwich or St Teresa of Avila about their relationship with an all powerful God As against the male autobiographer s expectation of power over his fate we see the woman memoirist again and again believing that she lacks command of her destiny and tending to censor her own story Throughout Conway underlines the memoir s magic quality of allowing us to enter another human being s life and mind and how this experience enlarges and instructs our own lives
