Exploring the Links between Social Connections, Care and Integration Marcia Vera Espinoza, Arek Dakessian, Clayton Boeyink, 2024-10-18 Integration has in recent decades emerged as the primary policy tool through which the nations of the global north and increasingly the global south shepherd their immigrants to achieve the same social and economic outcomes as natives taking into account their characteristics OECD 2018 Despite scholarship on the importance of social connections to facilitate feelings of belonging and settlement lack of consensus around what integration means has led to bustling critique of the notion as prescribing processes through which migrant others must work their way into acceptance in the body social Moreover scholars recognise that discourses and practices of integration are often used as means to justify accompanying policies of disintegration and exclusion Put differently there is a humanitarian hand that cares and a hand that strikes Frameworks for understanding migration and integration traverse the realms of theory policy and practice and are usually intertwined with discourses and regimes of care and connectedness This Research Topic aims to further unsettle debates around integration and care through an engagement with the value commitments that underlie integration projects and that drive everyday practice and service provision drawing upon perspectives beyond the global north
