Experimental Research On Teaching And Learning:

Experimental Research on Teaching and Learning Richard Olechowski, Gabriele Khan-Svik, 1995 For some time now some researchers in the field of the human sciences have taken to dissenting from the purely empirical quantitative position Since reality is no unidimensional phenomenon the main argument of some researchers it does not make sense to rely strictly on quantitative methods This other school advocates combining quantitative and qualitative methods But warning from the aspect of methodology it must be emphasized that reliability of the data is crucial Only if data gained by qualitative methods are sufficiently reliable the combination of qualitative and quantitative methods can be recommended This fundamental attitude toward applying quantitative in combination with qualitative methods is not only characteristic of this volume it served as the decisive criterion for the selection of the contributions included Experimental Studies of College Teaching Harold Ellis Jones, 1923 PREP Report, 1972 Experimental Research Methods in Language Learning Aek Phakiti, 2014-12-18 Language learning research aims to describe and fully explain how and why language learning takes place but can fall short of its stated purpose Systematic rigorous research is needed if the growing field of language learning is to progress methodically This book demonstrates and fully explains such a methodology Given that research in language acquisition yields practical pedagogical implications it is crucial that it is rigorous and accurate This book offers a quantitative research methodology that relies on statistical analysis in order to make inferences and conclusions about language learning Experimental research aims to understand differences between or within groups of learners under manipulated environments It requires strict control of conditions enabling interpretations with a low factor of error Aek Phakiti provides step by step guidelines and underlying principles epistemology and methodology in a book that is essential for advanced students of language acquisition and language and education OE [publication] , Educational Research R. Community-Based Ethnography Ernest T. Stringer, Mary Frances Agnello, Sheila Conant Baldwin, Lois McFayden Christensen, Deana Lee Philb Henry, 2014-02-25 Co written by a professor and 10 students this book explores their attempts to come to grips with fundamental issues related to writing narrative accounts purporting to represent aspects of people s lives The fundamental project around which their explorations in writing textual accounts turned derived from the editor s initial ethnographic question Tell me about the previous class we did together This proved to be a particularly rich exercise bringing into the arena all of the problems related to choice of data analysis of data the structure of the account the stance of the author tense and case the adequacy of the account and more As participants shared versions of their accounts and struggled to analyze the wealth of data they had accumulated in the previous classes the products of in class practice of observation and interview they became aware of the ephemeral nature of narrative accounts Reality as written in textual form cannot capture the immense depth breadth and complexity of an actual lived experience and can only be an incomplete representation that derives from the interpretive imagination of the author The final chapter results from a number of discussions during which each contributing author briefly revisited the text and through dialogue with others and or the editor identified the elements that would provide an overall framework that represents the big message of the book In this way the contributors attempted to provide a conceptual context that would indicate ways in which their private experiences could be seen to be relevant to the broader public arenas in which education and research is engaged In its entirety the book presents an interpretive study of teaching and learning It provides a multi voiced account that reveals how problematic turning point experiences in a university class are perceived organized constructed and given meaning by a group of interacting individuals
