Explorers Daughter:

The Explorer's Daughter Kari Herbert, 2004 For the first two years of her life Kari Herbert lived with her mother and father the explorer Sir Wally Herbert among the Inuit people in the vast snowy wastes of the High Arctic Her first words were Inuktitut her first friends the children of hunters and the pull of the place and its people lured the family back several times during her childhood Then in 2002 she returned to the Arctic alone She met her childhood friends again remembered the exhilaration of sledging with dogs across the ice and remembered the language and faces of her early years She also encountered alarming changes the uneasy coexistence of modern life and ancient traditions and of the hopes and tragedy at the heart of this extraordinary and yet deeply familiar community place of family memories and of savage beauty where her friends still hunt and eat whale meat and where she rediscovers a compelling world where light and darkness dominate life

Polar Wives Kari Herbert, 2012-03-09 The lives and adventures of seven intrepid women are revealed in this gem of a book as captivating as the northern landscape itself Portland Book Review Polar explorers were the superstars of the heroic age of exploration a period spanning the Victorian and Edwardian eras In Polar Wives Kari Herbert reveals the unpredictable often heartbreaking lives of seven remarkable women whose husbands became world famous for their Arctic and Antarctic expeditions As the daughter of a polar explorer Herbert brings a unique and intimate perspective to these stories In her portraits of the gifted sculptor Kathleen Scott eccentric traveler Jane Franklin spirited poet Eleanor Anne Franklin Jo Peary the first white woman to travel and give birth in the High Arctic talented and determined Emily Shackleton Norwegian singer Eva Nansen and her own mother writer and pioneer Marie Herbert Kari Herbert blends deeply personal accounts of longing betrayal and hope with stories of peril and adventure Previously consigned to historical footnotes these pioneering women played vital roles in their husbands expeditions Their stories many drawn from previously unpublished journals and letters take us not only to the polar wastelands but also through war torn Macedonia the lawless outback of Australia and the plague riddled ancient cities of the Holy Land Encountering Material Culture Through Archaeological Fiction Kerry

Dodd, 2024-12-12 Investigating the representation of artefacts objects and things in a range of predominantly Western archaeological fiction from the late Victorian period to the modern day this book examines the narratives through which humanity represents its own material heritage in relation to notions of enchantment exhibition estrangement adventure tourism and waste Kerry Dodd asserts that comprehending the structures through which material culture is presented within archaeological media reveals the structures that transform an object from rubbish to relic Calling upon such indicative literature films TV series and video games as Tomb Raider Indiana Jones Uncharted and Relic Hunter this book explores the depiction of material culture through three principal areas relics exhibition and adventure Outlining a critical framework of artefact representation Dodd argues that such iconic moments as Howard Carter's remark that he saw wonderful things when he broke into the antechamber of Tutankhamun's tomb remain recognisable through the evocation of a spectacular visual despite little concrete definition of the objects witnessed This book offers a unique exploration of how such figures as Indiana Jones Lara Croft and Carter have cemented a cultural recognition of what an artefact constitutes as being dependent on how an object is encountered It is through the very wonder of things that Dodd breaks down the boundaries between popular and professional archaeology by pushing forward critical considerations of material culture
