

Through Explorers' Eyes

Finding the Treasures Around Us

How it Works:

Explorers (aka kids) are very good at finding treasures in nature. Sometimes a simple prop like these simple frames can help all of us slow down and find even more!

1. Print out this sheet with the frame you like best.
2. Color and cut the frame out.
3. Cut out the inside of the frame.
4. Head outside and look through the frame to find beautiful landscapes, close ups and everything in between.
5. Share photos of your favorite "pictures" and tag @tinkergarten!
6. If you or your explorer prefer, open your ears and listen for the sound of treasure, instead!

Explorers Eye An Anthology In Words And Photographs:

The Explorer's Eye Annabel Merullo, Fergus Fleming, 2009-03-12 The golden moments of exploration and adventure glorious triumphant perilous and dramatic In the 18th century exploration entered a new dimension explorers were motivated by scientific inquiry rather than greed To this end they were expected to make a full record of everything they encountered and for the first time in history that record was to include pictures as well as words Combining gripping first hand accounts with original images THE EXPLORER S EYE gives an insight into who these people were and what they saw They were a mixed bunch but whatever their training or background they provided a vivid portrait of the unknown In the early days they drew their own pictures later they were equipped with draughtsmen later still they carried cameras and ultimately they were accompanied by film crews The power of their images is matched by that of their journals Here you have Alexander von Humboldt braving the electric eels of South America and Robert Peary explaining his relationships with Eskimos

Canadian Exploration Literature Germaine Warkentin, 2007-01-01 First published by Oxford University Press in 1993 Exploration Literature is a groundbreaking collection of early writing inspired by the opening of a continent With maps notes and thumbnail biographies of these early writers Exploration Literature is an entry point for both the casual reader and the student of Canadian literature into the beginnings of a literate response to the awe and wonder inspired by an unfolding geography and the literary fundamentals of new nationhood

The Explorer Cleveland Museum of Natural History, 1981

Exploring the Explorers Mercedes Maroto Camino, 2008 Exploring the Explorers is the first study of cross cultural engagements between the indigenous peoples of the Pacific and Spanish explorers during the early modern period Bridging disciplines the book sets out to analyze in detail eight voyages and their aims and outcomes looking at the different patterns of contact and the use of gift giving and bartering as social cement This fascinating and original study will broaden the investigation of world

exploration and Pacific ethnography as many of the sources from these voyages are scarcely known and have not been translated before It will also expand an understanding of Spanish and world exploration developing the history of the Spanish Pacific beyond the long standing colony of the Philippines The study will be of particular interest to scholars and students of Early Modern European history as well as anthropologists ethnographers and those interested in stories of exploration and discovery throughout history

Pindar's Eyes David Fearn, 2017-09-15 Pindar's Eyes is a ground breaking interdisciplinary exploration of the interactions between Greek lyric poetry and visual and material culture in the early fifth century BCE Its aim is to open up analysis of lyric to the wider theme of aesthetic experience in early classical Greece with particular focus on the poetic mechanisms through which Pindar's victory odes use visual and material culture to engage their audiences Complete readings of Nemean 5 Nemean 8 and Pythian 1 reveal the poet's deep interest in the relations between lyric poetry and commemorative and religious sculpture as well as other significant visual phenomena while literary studies of his evocation of cultural attitudes through elaborate use of the lyric first person are combined with art historical treatments of ecphrasis of image and text and of art's framing of ritual experience in ancient Greece This specific aesthetic approach is expanded through fresh treatments of Simonides and Bacchylides own engagements with material culture as well as an account of Pindaric themes in the Aeginetan logoi of Herodotus Histories These come together to offer not just a novel perspective on the relationship between art and text in Pindaric poetry but to give rise to new claims about the nature of classical Greek visuality and ritual subjectivity and to foster a richer understanding of the ways in which classical poetry and art shaped the lives and experiences of their consumers

The Niagara Companion Linda L. Revie, 2010-11-22 What is it about Niagara Falls that fascinates people What draws them to it Is it love obsession or fear In The Niagara Companion Linda Revie searches for an answer to these questions by examining the paintings and writings about the Falls from the late seventeenth century when the first Europeans discovered Niagara to the early twentieth century Linda Revie's study considers how three centuries of representations are shaped by the earliest encounters with the waterfall and notes shifts in the construction of landscape features and in human figures both Native and European in the long history of fine art depictions Travel narratives both literary and scientific also come under her scrutiny and reveal how these chronicles were influenced by previous pictures coming out of Niagara particularly some of the first from the seventeenth century In all of these portraits and texts she notes a common pattern of response from the observers moving from anticipation to disappointment to a kind of recovery But in the end there is fear Even long after Niagara had become a tourist mecca it was often drawn as a primordial wilderness a place where civilization vies with wildness artifice with nature fear with control the natural with the mastered Throughout this history of images and narratives as humans struggle to control nature the notion of wildness prevails Those who want a deeper understanding of why Niagara Falls continues to fascinate us even today will find Linda Revie's book an excellent companion

Looking Through Images Emmanuel Alloa, 2021-10-05 Images have always stirred ambivalent reactions Yet whether eliciting fascinated gazes or iconoclastic repulsion from their beholders they have hardly ever been seen as true sources of knowledge They were long viewed as mere appearances placeholders for the things themselves or deceptive illusions Today the traditional critique of the spectacle has given way to an unconditional embrace of the visual However we still lack a persuasive theoretical account of how images work Emmanuel Alloa retraces the history of Western attitudes toward the visual to propose a major rethinking of images as irreplaceable agents of our everyday engagement with the world He examines how ideas of images and their powers have been constructed in Western humanities art theory and philosophy developing a novel genealogy of both visual studies and the concept of the medium Alloa reconstructs the earliest Western media theory Aristotle s concept of the diaphanous milieu of vision and the significance of its subsequent erasure in the history of science Ultimately he argues for a historically informed phenomenology of images and visual media that explains why images are not simply referential depictions windows onto the world Instead images constantly reactivate the power of appearing As media of visualization they allow things to appear that could not be visible except in and through these very material devices
