Exploring Second-Language Varieties of English and Learner Englishes Joybrato Mukherjee, Marianne Hundt, 2011-05-25 The articles in this volume are intended to bridge what Sridhar and Sridhar 1986 have called the paradigm gap between traditional SLA research on the one hand and research into institutionalised second language varieties in former colonial territories on the other Since both learner Englishes and second language varieties are typically non native forms of English that emerge in language contact situations it is high time that they are described and compared on an empirical basis in order to draw conceptual and theoretical conclusions with regard to their form function and acquisition The present collection of articles places special emphasis on empirical evidence obtained from large scale analyses of computerised corpora of learner Englishes such as the International Corpus of Learner English and of second language varieties of English such as the International Corpus of English It addresses questions such as Are the phenomena we find in ESL and EFL varieties features or errors or How common and wide spread are features across contact varieties of English

Exploring Transculturalism Wolfgang Berg,Aoileann Ní

Éigearthaigh,2010-07-08 1 2 Culture and Identity in a Postmodern World Michel Foucault's statement that The present epoch will perhaps be above all the epoch of space We are in the epoch of simultaneity we are in the epoch of juxtaposition M Foucault 1986 22 heralded a new approach to identity in the contemporary world by suggesting that one's identity is formed not as a result of the cultural and national values and history one has inherited but rather as a result of the different spaces through which one travels In other words one's identity is no longer perceived as an inherited construct but rather as something flexible that changes as one moves through the more fluid spaces of the contemporary globalized world and internalizes a mixture of the different cultures and ideas that one encounters The idealized contemporary traveller will thus effortlessly cross national and cultural borders and negotiate a constantly changing and flexible identity for himself Andy Bennett argues that it is no longer even possible to conceive of identity as a static entity forged from a communal history and value system because all of the traditional certainties on which identity formation were based in the past have been fatally undermined by a postmodernist flux and fluidity Once clearly demarcated by relatively static and ethnically homogenous communities the spaces and places of everyday life are now highly pluralistic and contested and are constantly being defined and redefined through processes of relocation and cultural hybridisation A
