Social Research and Disability Ciaran Burke, Bronagh Byrne, 2020-12-29 Social Research and Disability argues that the contemporary rules of sociological methods outlined in numerous research methods texts make a number of assumptions concerning the researcher including ambivalence sight hearing and speech In short the disabled researcher is not considered when outlining the requirements of particular methods Drawing upon these considerations the volume emphasizes how disabled researchers negotiate the empirical process in light of disability whilst retaining the scientific rigour of the method It also considers the negative consequences arising from disabled researchers' attempts at passing and the benefits that can emerge from a reflexive approach to method This innovative and original text will for the first time bring together research active academics who identify as being disabled to consider experiences of being disabled within a largely ableist academy as well as strategies employed and issues faced when conducting empirical research The driving force of this volume is to provide the blueprints for bringing how we conduct social research to the same standards and vision as how the social world is understood multi-faceted and intersectional To this end this edited collection advocates for a sociological future that values the presence of disabled researchers and normalises research methods that are inclusive and accessible The interdisciplinary focus of Social Research and Disability offers a uniquely broad primary market This volume will be of interest not only to the student market but also to established academics within the social sciences

Institutions Unbound David Brunsma, Keri Iyall Smith, Brian Gran, 2016-03-02 Institutions like education family medicine culture and law are powerful social structures shaping how we live together As members of society we daily express our adherence to norms and values of institutions as we consciously and unconsciously reject and challenge them Our everyday experiences with institutions not only shape our connections with one another they can reinforce our binding to the status quo as we struggle to produce social change Institutions can help us do human rights Institutions that bridge nation states can offer resources including norms to advance human rights These institutions can serve as touch stones to changing minds and confronting human rights violations Institutions can also prevent us from doing human rights We create institutions but institutions can be difficult to change Institutions can weaken if not outright prevent human rights establishment and implementation To release human rights from their institutional bindings sociologists must solve riddles of how institutions work and determine social life This book is a step forward in identifying means by which we can loosen human rights from institutional constraints Assistive Technology from Adapted Equipment to Inclusive Environments Pier Luigi Emiliani, L. Burzagli, 2009 The concept of assistive technology is moving away from adopting the most appropriate devices to overcome the limitations of users to the designing and setting up of total environments in which people can live supported by suitable services and additional support devices integrated within the environment These two perspectives are deeply intertwined both from technological and social points of view and the relationship between them currently represent the primary challenge for the field of assistive technology This publication covers the proceedings of the 10th European Conference of the Association for the Advancement of Assistive Technology in Europe AAATE the organization which stimulates the advancement of assistive technology for the benefit of people with disabilities including elderly people This conference seeks to bridge the gap between these two complementary approaches providing an opportunity to clarify differences and common points and to better define future direction This publication is a significant contribution to the advancement of inclusion for people living with a disability everywhere
