Export-oriented Industrialization in Developing Countries Pitou van Dijck, Hans Linnemann, Harmen Verbruggen, 1987
This study describes and analyses in depth the transformation taking place in world manufacturing industry and its impact on the economies of newly industrialising countries In Part One the causes and characteristics of export oriented industrialisation are studied often using world wide cross country analyses Trade policies and export strategies underlying such industrialisation processes get much attention Part Two mainly deals with the domestic preconditions for and consequences of export oriented manufacturing production on the basis of detailed case studies of seven East and South East Asian countries Gains from Export Oriented Industrialization in Developing Countries Harmen Verbruggen, 1985

Causes and Characteristics of Export-oriented Industrialization in Developing Countries Pierre Fernand François Marie Van Dijck, Pitou van Dijck, Fernand François Pierre, 1986 Inward-looking and Export-oriented Industrialization in Developing Countries Henry Spetter, 1970 Study of the role of foreign trade in economic growth with particular reference to the export orientation of manufacturing industries as an integral part of industrialization strategy for developing countries discusses relevant economic theory References Export-oriented Development Strategies Vittorio Corbo, 2019-03-08 This book originated with a conference that we held at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile in late 1981 When we organized the conference our focus was to provide policymakers and entrepreneurs with a summary of the experiences and lessons of countries that have pursued policies geared to export led growth After the conference we decided that the papers would be useful to a much wider audience and should be prepared for publication The revised papers are contained in this volume Promotion of export-oriented industries (Industrialization of developing countries: problems and prospects). United Nations Industrial Development Organization, 1969 Developing Countries in the World Trading System Ramesh Adhikari, Premachandra Athukoralge, 2002-01-01 Experience suggests that trade liberalization has contributed substantially to the remarkable growth of industrialized countries However for various reasons many developing countries have not yet been able to integrate successfully into global markets and reap the growth inducing and poverty reducing benefits of trade This book argues that while developing countries are heavily represented in the WTO accounting for about four fifths of its membership there is still plenty of scope for the world trading system to work more effectively in their interests Industrialization of Developing Countries United Nations Industrial Development Organization, 1969

Asian Development William E. James, Seiji Naya, Gerald M. Meier, 1989 While the world's attention has been focused on the spectacular economic success of Japan and Korea the less developed countries of Asia have often been neglected Asian Development closes the gap In nontechnical style and with minimal mathematics it presents an in depth perspective on the economic development of fourteen countries in East Southeast and South Asia Asian Development is mainly a story of success Though some problems remain Asian countries have shown remarkable resilience in responding to sharp changes in the international economy oil shocks world recession and inflation exchange rate and interest rate fluctuations and rapid technological change The authors conclude that their ability to adjust to changing external conditions is closely related to intelligent governmental policies Looking back they comment In the past growth of the United States and Japan pulled up the growth rates of the smaller economies in the region Looking forward they predict In the future increasingly it will be the growth of the Asian developing countries that acts as a catalyst to growth in the more advanced economies

Economic and Business issues in Retrospect and prospect Kerem Gökten, Ahmet Arif Eren, 2019-03-10 There is a strong view that economics is the academic discipline that best represents the claim of positive science among social sciences Economics has undergone significant transformations after its emergence as a science Despite all these transformations the feature containing positive and normative elements has not changed While economists from the political economy tradition focus on qualitative studies that relate to other social sciences especially political science and history a group of economists adopt the qualitative methods of natural sciences to analyze economic problems There is a debate among economists on how to understand social reality and what kind of science the economy should be Business is a discipline that has declared its relative independence from economics over time Business is a research field that encompasses a wide range of areas ranging from organizational behavior of individuals to the firm's production and marketing strategies This book contains articles on essential topics related to these disciplines which have an inseparable relationship between them Academicians contributing to the book have produced works on current topics of discussion as well as key subjects that remain important in economics and management

the 1980s to the BRICs entering this century General economics cannot clarify the internal mechanism of the changing of newly industrialized economies led by Asia This book clarifies such regional development structure by focusing on the direct investments of multinational firms and the importance of gradual changes of specific policies adopted by newly industrialized economies Moreover the book concretely deals with the US China trade war and China s Belt and Road Initiative BRI as a problem of Asian economies In so doing the book not only perceives the structural change of the global economy as a structural change from a US centric global economy of the twentieth century to a China centric one but also focuses on the birthing of a new growth frontier in the world economy under a crisis brought about by a war for hegemony between the US and China The investment initiative through China s BRI has prompted the investment competition between Japan and the US which has made even stronger the possibility of giving birth to a new economic frontier in Afro Eurasia Another feature is the consideration of various issues that confront Asian countries in their search for economic development using the Philippines as a case study The analysis of the study points to the importance of a shared growth perspective which is based on an Asian development model and discusses the challenge of overcoming the issues of the economic development model within the region At the same time this book studies the significance and new issues as a region of the economy and overseas policies of attention drawer China
