Geometry Of Groups Of Transformations:

Geometry of Groups of Transformations André Lichnerowicz, 1977-04-25 Transformation Groups in Differential Geometry Shoshichi Kobayashi, 2012-12-06 Given a mathematical structure one of the basic associated mathematical objects is its automorphism group The object of this book is to give a biased account of automorphism groups of differential geometric structures All geometric structures are not created equal some are creations of gods while others are products of lesser human minds Amongst the former Riemannian and complex structures stand out for their beauty and wealth A major portion of this book is therefore devoted to these two structures Chapter I describes a general theory of automorphisms of geometric structures with emphasis on the question of when the automorphism group can be given a Lie group structure Basic theorems in this regard are presented in 3 4 and 5 The concept of G structure or that of pseudo group structure enables us to treat most of the interesting geometric structures in a unified manner In 8 we sketch the relationship between the two concepts Chapter I is so arranged that the reader who is primarily interested in Riemannian complex conformal and projective structures can skip 5 6 7 and 8 This chapter is partly based on lectures I gave in Tokyo and Berkeley in 1965

Quantum Field Theory Conformal Group Theory Conformal Field Theory R. Mirman, 2005-02 The conformal group is the invariance group of geometry which is not understood the largest one Physical applications are implied as discussed including reasons for interactions The group structure as well as those of related groups are analyzed An inhomogeneous group is a subgroup of a homogeneous one because of nonlinearities of the realization Conservation of baryons protons can't decay is explained and proven Reasons for various realizations so matrix elements of the Lorentz group given The clearly relevant mass level formula is compared with experimental values Questions implications and possibilities including for differential equations are raised The American Mathematical Monthly, 1919 Includes section Recent publications

Subject Cataloging Division,1988 A Generative Theory of Shape Michael Leyton,2003-06-30 The purpose of this book is to develop a generative theory of shape that has two properties we regard as fundamental to intelligence 1 maximization of transfer whenever possible new structure should be described as the transfer of existing structure and 2 maximization of recoverability the generative operations in the theory must allow maximal inferentiability from data sets We shall show that if generativity satisfies these two basic criteria of intelligence then it has a powerful mathematical structure and considerable applicability to the computational disciplines The requirement of intelligence is particularly important in the generation of complex shape There are plenty of theories of shape that make the generation of complex shape unintelligible However our theory takes the opposite direction we are concerned with the conversion of complexity into understandability In this we will develop a mathematical theory of understandability The issue of understandability comes down to the two basic principles of intelligence maximization of transfer and maximization of recoverability We shall show how to formulate these conditions group theoretically 1 Maximization of transfer will be formulated in terms of wreath products Wreath products are groups in which there is an upper subgroup which we will call a control group that transfers a lower subgroup which we will call a fiber group onto copies of itself 2 maximization of recoverability is insured when the control group is symmetry breaking with respect to the fiber group Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress.
