NICELY DES THOMAS,2013-04-22 I grew up on a mining town in a very young British Colony There were no museums art galleries or even artists to influence my artistic outlook By the time I left junior school at age twelve I had had some small exposure to British artists such as Constable and Gainsborough Perhaps because of the lack of these artistic facilities my outlook and tastes are limited I still do not understand or appreciate the appeal of van Gogh Picasso or Jackson Pollack etc Since starting to paint professionally I have concluded that tonal values in a painting are as important if not more so than color Caravaggio and Rembrandt are two good examples of how few colors were needed to produce their masterpieces In order to interpret the three dimensional qualities and design in a picture I concentrate on light mid and dark tones by drawing tonal sketches before starting every painting I hope I have now developed my own style that can be recognized My greatest ambition is to keep improving and produce better and better pictures that will be appreciated by many people
