Enhancing Human Performance National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Techniques for the Enhancement of Human Performance, 1988-02-01 Is it possible for people to register and retain what is said in their presence while they sleep If it is possible is the learning that takes place during sleep efficient enough to be of practical as well as theoretical significance These are the questions of chief concern in this paper To address these issues the second section of the paper summarizes research dealing with a number of variables that may have an important influence on sleep learning In the third section some tentative conclusions concerning the possibility and practicality of learning during sleep are outlined

Enhancing Human Performance: Issues, Theories, and Techniques, 1988 At the requests of the U S Army Research Institute the National Research Council formed a committee to assess the field of techniques that are claimed to enhance human performance The Institute asked the Council to evaluate the claims made by proponents of selected existing techniques and to address two general additional questions 1 What are the appropriate criteria for evaluating claims for such techniques in the future 2 What research is needed to advance our understanding of performance enhancement in areas related to the proposed techniques The objectives of the committee s study are to provide an authoritative assessment of these questions for policy makers in research and development who are consumers of the techniques as well as to consider their possible applications to Army training Contents Psychological Techniques Learning Improving Motor Skills Altering Mental States Stress Management Social Processes Parapsychological Techniques Paranormal Phenomena SDW Enhancing Human Performance Daniel Druckman, John A. Swets, 1988 This report describes the activities findings and conclusions of a committee that examined the potential value of techniques proposed to enhance human performance Chapter 1 provides the context for the study and the Army's interest in enhancing performance characterizes particular techniques and introduces general issues in evaluating them Chapter 2 presents findings about the techniques examined and conclusions about appropriate evaluation procedures Chapter 3 treats the relevant evaluation issues more systematically and presents the committee's philosophy of evaluation Chapters 4-8 deal with particular techniques but are organized in terms of more general psychological processes Each chapter attempts to draw on a broader literature concerning the processes being influenced learning motor skills mental states stress and social interactions Chapter 9 considers parapsychological techniques The report concludes with six appendixes They 1 briefly summarize the key elements of each enhancement technique 2 list the 10 papers commissioned by the committee and their authors 3 list members and activities of the subcommittees and activities of the committee as a whole 4 list key terms used in the research on particular techniques 5 discuss application of scientific research by the military and 6 contain biographical sketches of committee members YLB Research for the Psychotherapist Jay L. Lebow, Paul H. Jenkins, 2018-05-04 While empirical scientific research has much to offer to the practice oriented therapist in training it is often difficult to effectively engage the trainee beginning practitioner or graduate student in the subject of research This fully revised and expanded edition of Research for the Psychotherapist is an engaging accessible guide that bridges the gap between gathering analyzing presenting and discussing research and incorporating that research into practice The authors present concise chapters that distill research findings and clearly apply them to practical issues while also helping readers progress as consumers of relevant research Alternative Medicine DIANE Publishing Company, 1995-07 Alternative Medicine, 1995 In the Mind's Eye National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Techniques for the Enhancement of Human Performance, 1992-02-01 The archer stands and pulls back the bow visualizing the path of the arrow to the target Does this mental exercise enhance performance Can we all use such techniques to improve performance in our daily lives In the Mind's Eye addresses these and other intriguing questions This volume considers basic issues of performance exploring how techniques for quick learning affect long term retention whether an expert's behavior can serve as a model for beginners if team performance is the sum of individual members performances and whether subliminal learning has a basis in science The book also considers meditation and some other pain control techniques Deceit and the ability to detect deception are
