Facilitating Innovation For Development A Raaks Resource Box:

The Social Organization of Innovation Paul G. H. Engel, Monique L. Salomon, 2003-02-01 RAAKS Rapid Rural Appraisal of Agricultural Knowledge Systems is a participatory method that facilitates networking and communication processes. It can be used to improve the generation and use of knowledge and innovation. The set includes a CD ROM which contains a guide to the RAAKS method plus windows specific ways to gain a new perspective on the situation and tools to be used in practice. The book can be purchased without the CD ROM under the title The Social Organization of Innovation

Facilitating pro-poor market chain innovation: An assessment of the participatory market chain approach in Uganda Douglas

Horton., 2008 Innovation for development Devaux, A., Ordinola, M., Horton, D., 2011-11-30 Innovation for inclusive

value-chain development Devaux, André, Torero, Maximo, Donovan, Jason, Horton, Douglas E., 2016-10-21 Governments nongovernmental organizations donors and the private sector have increasingly embraced value chain development VCD for stimulating economic growth and combating rural poverty. Innovation for Inclusive Value Chain Development Successes and Challenges helps to fill the current gap in systematic knowledge about how well VCD has performed, related trade offs or undesired effects, and which combinations of VCD elements are most likely to reduce poverty and deliver on overall development goals. This book uses case studies to examine a range of VCD experiences. Approaching the subject from various angles, it looks at new linkages to markets and the role of farmer organizations and contract farming in raising productivity and access to markets, the minimum assets requirement to participate in VCD, the role of multi stakeholder platforms in VCD, and how to measure and identify successful VCD interventions. The book also explores the challenges livestock dependent people face, how urbanization and advancing technologies affect linkages, ways to increase gender inclusion and economic growth, and the different roles various types of platforms play in VCD

Facilitating Innovation for Development , Innovation Systems, Economic Development and Public Policy Swati Mehta, Baldev Singh Shergill, 2022-12-28 This book looks at the policy challenges confronting India and other developing countries in creating a robust sustainable and industrialized economy. It investigates different facets of the nature, structure, growth, and impact of innovation in industries, education, and within institutions to foster greater productivity and growth. The volume examines systems adopted to boost innovation and diffusion of technology in different economies while also mapping their success and failures. It offers suggestions for the future for long term growth, sustainability, and inclusiveness amidst dynamic, fast changing technological frontiers using examples and case studies from India, Sri Lanka, and Malaysia among others. The chapters in the book, written to honour the academic work of Professor Lakhwinder Singh in the field of development economics and innovation economics, highlight the importance of adopting and adapting new technologies and development models to local contexts and small industries. An important contribution to research on innovation economics, this interdisciplinary book will be of interest to students, researchers, practitioners, and policy makers working in industrial economics, international economics, political economy innovation economics institutional economics industrial organization and international trade Communication for Rural Innovation Cees Leeuwis, 2013-04-30 This important book is the re titled third edition of the extremely well received and widely used Agricultural Extension van den Ban Hawkins 1988 1996 Building on the previous editions Communication for Rural Innovation maintains and adapts the insights and conceptual models of value today while reflecting many new ideas angles and modes of thinking concerning how agricultural extension is taught and carried through today Since the previous edition of the book the number and type of organisations that apply communicative strategies to foster change and development in agriculture and resource management has become much more varied and this book is aimed at those who use communication to facilitate change in agriculture and resource management Communication for Rural Innovation is essential reading for process facilitators communication division personnel knowledge managers training officers consultants policy makers extension specialists and managers of agricultural extension or research organisations The book can also be used as an advanced introduction into issues of communicative intervention at BSc or MSc level

Agricultural Innovation Systems The World Bank, 2012-02-21 Managing the ability of agriculture to meet rising global demand and to respond to the changes and opportunities will require good policy sustained investments and innovation not business as usual Investments in public Research and Development extension education and their links with one another have elicited high returns and pro poor growth but these investments alone will not elicit innovation at the pace or on the scale required by the intensifying and proliferating challenges confronting agriculture Experience indicates that aside from a strong capacity in Research and Development the ability to innovate is often related to collective action coordination the exchange of knowledge among diverse actors the incentives and resources available to form partnerships and develop businesses and conditions that make it possible for farmers or entrepreneurs to use the innovations While consensus is developing about what is meant by innovation and innovation system no detailed blueprint exists for making agricultural innovation happen at a given time in a given place for a given result The AIS approach that looks at these multiple conditions and relationships that promote innovation in agriculture has however moved from a concept to a sub discipline with principles of analysis and action AIS investments must be specific to the context responding to the stage of development in a particular country and agricultural sector especially the AIS This sourcebook contributes to identifying designing and implementing the investments approaches and complementary interventions that appear most likely to strengthen AIS and to promote agricultural innovation and equitable growth It emphasizes the lessons learned benefits and impacts implementation issues and prospects for replicating or expanding successful practices The information in this sourcebook derives from approaches that have been tested at different scales in different contexts It reflects the experiences and evolving understanding of numerous individuals and organizations concerned with agricultural innovation including the World Bank This information is targeted to the key operational staff in international and regional development agencies and national governments who design and implement lending projects and to the practitioners who design thematic programs and technical assistance packages The sourcebook can also be an important resource for the research community and nongovernmental organizations NGOs Innovation Africa Pascal Sanginga, Ann Waters-Bayer, Susan Kaaria, Jemimah Njuki, Chesha Wettasinha, 2012-05-04 Innovation by with and for farmers in Africa is one of the major contemporary challenges of development This book will be essential reading for anyone interested in these issues Professor Ian Scoones Institute of Development Studies at the University of Sussex UK This book takes the theme of innovation and its mainstreaming in research and extension a major step forward I am impressed by the wide range of subjects and the diversity of authors Chris Reij Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam The Netherlands Agricultural research extension and education can contribute greatly to enhancing agricul Multi-Stakeholder Platforms for Integrated Water Management Jeroen Warner, 2016-09-17 As they provide a negotiating space for a diversity of interests Multi Stakeholder Platforms MSPs are an increasingly popular mode of involving civil society in resource management decisions This book focuses on water management to take a positive if critical look at this phenomenon Illustrated by a wide geographical range of case studies from both developed and developing worlds it recognizes that MSPs will neither automatically break down divides nor bring actors to the table on an equal footing and argues that MSPs may in some cases do more harm than good The volume then examines how MSPs can make a difference and how they might successfully co opt the public private and civil society sectors The book highlights the particular difficulties of MSPs when dealing with integrated water management programmes explaining how MSPs are most successful at a less complex and more local level It finally questions whether MSPs are or can be sustainable and puts forward suggestions for improving their durability Concepts and Practices in Agricultural Extension in Developing Countries ,2008-01-01 Learning to Adapt: Managing Forests Together in Indonesia Trikurnianti Kusumanto, Elizabeth Linda Yuliani, Phil Macoun, Yayan Indriatmoko, Hasantoha Adnan, 2005-01-01 Learning to Adapt looks at a learning based approach to collaboration known as Adaptive Collaborative Management ACM implemented by CIFOR in Sumatra and Kalimantan This is a particularly useful reference for community workers NGO field staff government extension workers and anyone wanting to learn more about facilitating local action and learning based approaches to forest management Capacity Building for Agricultural Research for Development Adiel N. Mbabu, Andy Hall (Researcher in agriculture and economics), 2012 The Ecosystem Approach David Waltner-Toews, James J. Kay, Nina-Marie E. Lister, 2008-08-11 Is sustainable development a workable solution for today s environmental problems Is it scientifically defensible Best known for applying ecological theory to the engineering problems of everyday life the late scholar James J Kay was a leader in the study of social and ecological complexity and the thermodynamics of ecosystems Drawing from his immensely important work as well as the research of his students and colleagues The Ecosystem Approach is a guide to the aspects of complex systems theories relevant to social ecological management Advancing a methodology that is rooted in good theory and practice this book features case studies conducted in the Arctic and Africa in Canada and Kathmandu and in the Peruvian Amazon Chesapeake Bay and Chennai India Applying a systems approach to concrete environmental issues this volume is geared toward scientists engineers and sustainable development scholars and practitioners who are attuned to the ideas of the Resilience Alliance an international group of scientists who take a more holistic view of ecology and environmental problem solving Chapters cover the origins and rebirth of the ecosystem approach in ecology the bridging of science and values the challenge of governance in complex systems systemic and participatory approaches to management and the place for cultural diversity in the quest for global sustainability

Enhancing Agricultural Innovation World Bank, 2006-11-03 An innovation system can be defined as a network of organizations enterprises and individuals demanding and supplying knowledge and bringing it into a social and economic use This book's primary aim therefore is to focus on the largely unexplored operational aspects of the innovation systems concept and to explore its potential for agriculture Enhancing Agricultural Innovation evaluates real world innovation systems and assesses the usefulness of the concept in guiding investments to support knowledge intensive sustainable agricultural development A typology of innovation systems is developed strategies to guide investments for strengthening innovation capacity are drawn up and concrete interventions options defined In its conclusions the book emphasizes the importance of mechanisms for collaboration and interaction Intermediary organizations innovation councils farmer organizations and other means to strengthen collaboration are central to creating the exchange of knowledge and perspectives that will convert knowledge into valuable new social and economic products and services Development Sociology Norman Long, 2003-09-02 This work covers a variety of key development issues such as commoditisation small scale enterprise and social capital knowledge interfaces networks and power globalisation and localisation

The Potato Crop Hugo Campos, Oscar Ortiz, 2019-12-03 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This book provides a fresh updated and science based perspective on the current status and prospects of the diverse array of topics related to the potato and was written by distinguished scientists with hands on global experience in research aspects related to potato The potato is the third most important global food crop in terms of consumption Being the only vegetatively propagated species among the world's main five staple crops creates both issues and opportunities for the potato on the one hand this constrains the speed of its geographic expansion and its options for international commercialization and distribution when compared with commodity crops such as maize wheat or rice On the other it provides an effective insulation against speculation and unforeseen spikes in commodity prices since the potato does not represent a good traded on global markets These two factors highlight the underappreciated and underrated role of the potato as a dependable nutrition security crop one that can mitigate turmoil in world food supply and demand and political instability in some developing countries Increasingly the global role of the potato has expanded from a profitable crop in developing countries to a crop providing income and nutrition security in developing ones This book will appeal to academics and students of crop sciences but also policy makers and other stakeholders involved in the potato and its contribution to humankind s food security

The Equitable Forest
Carol J. Pierce Colfer, 2010-09-30 While there continues to be refinement in defining and assessing sustainable management there remains the urgent need for policies that create the conditions that support sustainability and can halt or slow destructive practices already underway Carol Colfer and her contributors maintain that standardized solutions to forest problems from afar have failed to address both human and environmental needs Such approaches they argue often neglect the knowledge that local stakeholders have accumulated over generations as forest managers and do not address issues involving the diversity and well being of groups within communities The contributors note that these problems persist despite clear evidence that equity and social relationships including gender roles are important factors in the ways that communities adapt to change and manage forest resources overall The Equitable Forest offers an alternative to traditional externally organized strategies for forest management Termed adaptive collaborative management ACM the approach tries to better acknowledge the diversity complexity and unpredictability of human and natural systems ACM works to strengthen local institutions and use the knowledge and capacity of groups in local communities to enhance the health and well being of both forests and the people who live in and around them The Equitable Forest provides a detailed explanation of the descriptive analytical and methodological tools of ACM along with accounts of early stages of its implementation in tropical regions of Asia Africa and Latin America Although the contributors make it clear that it is too soon to evaluate the efficacy of ACM their work is supported by evidence that rural communities do make important contributions when involved in formal forest management that management strategies are most effective when flexible and tailored to local contexts and that efforts by outside governmental and nongovernmental organizations to support local management are feasible from the policymaking perspective and desirable for their impact on human economic and environmental well being
