Building with Light in the Pacific Northwest Erika Rosenfeld, 2007 Light may be both particles and waves but rarely is it considered a material for building it is the essence of insubstantiality too inconstant to be relied upon a desirable after thought in much 20th and 21st century architecture For architect Thomas L Bosworth however it is the primum mobile and his extraordinary almost praeternatural understanding of light as a living thing informs his sight his vision and his work In a career that began in 1960 in the office of Eero Saarinen and continues with new projects on the boards today he has consistently used natural light to inform his architecture to give it both shape and meaning Building With Light in the Pacific Northwest The Houses of Thomas Bosworth Architect is a review of some of Bosworth's most exceptional houses Organized by plan type they reveal on the one hand the consistency of his principles landscape natural light handcraft symmetry axiality and memory and on the other his near infinite capacity to conceive something entirely new and fresh with each house A teacher and scholar as well as practicing architect Bosworth is a classicist strongly influenced by Greek and Roman architecture and especially powerfully by the work and writings of Palladio His work is equally motivated by land and landscape architecture follows site literally and aesthetically and every house sits on and in its particular location with a perfect sense of rightness and inevitability ILLUSTRATIONS 243 colour 17 b w photographs 130 illustrations Public Works for Water and Power Development and Energy Research Appropriation Bill, 1978 United States. Curriculum Philosophy and Theory for Music Education Praxis Thomas A. Regelski, 2021-09-17 Curriculum decisions are the foundation of education They determine the knowledge understandings skills attitudes and values deemed necessary for today's students Beyond musical competencies a curriculum is therefore the most important responsibility facing music educators one that goes well beyond the skills of simply delivering an individual lesson and accounts for beneficial outcomes for individual students graduates and ultimately the world of musicing Oddly however curriculum theory and design for music education have been left to the sidelines in undergraduate music education And it is usually no more on the radar of in service teachers despite the fact that the U S politics governing school curriculum are constantly in public view e g U S No child left behind Common Core Curriculum Philosophy and Theory for Music Education Praxis remedies this with a practical overview of curriculum basics and their implications for music education Mindful of traditional philosophical roots of curriculum foundations that still impact contemporary strategy author Thomas A Regelski offers a model curriculum based on recent praxis theory in which musical and educational benefits are evident to students administrators and taxpayers who ultimately fund music programs
